UNDER SEALED ORDERS

The British Ships Depart From Shanghai.

LI HUNG CHANG'S ARMY FEARED.

John Bull Wants a Hand in the Settlement.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A dispatch from Shanghai says: "Great excitement prevails in naval circles there, in consequence of the departure of British ships from that port under sealed orders. The presence of three British cruisers in the opposite estuary of Bien Tang Kiang, is considered to show Great Britain a decided forestall of her rivals in the east and will obtain a voice in the settlement between Japan and China. The dispatch adds, that fears are increasing that Hung Chang will place himself at the head of an army which he has created for his own purposes. Troops are reported to be arriving from different parts of the country to serve under Li Haog Chang."

TERMS OF PEACE.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette, from Chee Foo, says: "Terms of peace between China and Japan have been almost arranged, though the intervention of the United States. It has added a feeling of security, now so strong that foreign ladies are returning to Peking."

China Wants Peace.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—China has succumbed to the inevitable and has sued for peace. And her proposal will be presented to Japan through the United States ministers at Peking and Tokio, thus promising a termination of the war as a result, in part at least, of the exercise of the good offices of the United States. It is the terms of China's proposition, as handed to Minister Denby, but it is probable it provides for but two concessions, a money indemnity and the relinquishment of the suzerainty over Corea.

England Has Settled.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—It is reported the Bluefield matter has been settled, Great Britain having, upon the representations of the United States, admitted that Mr. Gosling, British minister, exceeded his authority. The affair may lead to his recall.

International Tournament.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The third day of the international bicycle tournament proved to be the most interesting thus far. A fair attendance greeted the novice races in the morning, still more viewing the afternoon events, and an immense crowd waxed enthusiastic over the evening's performances. The principal interest of the afternoon centered in the class B and the professional events. Charlie Murphy and Nat Butler divided the honors for the professionals, while little Tom Butler took everything in sight for the pure amateurs. There was a surprise in one of the professional trials, when Colombo, the Italian champion, beat the great Zimmerman out for qualification, and there was excitement to spare in the two-mile professional event, when Verheyen, the German, beat Harry Wheeler, Edwards and Colombo, by the use of suspicious tactics against which he had been previously cautioned. Referee E. P. Prial rightly disqualified Verheyen, but a great tumult of disapproval arose from the crowd. No explanation would silence the loud protest of the multitude and the remainder of the afternoon races were run to an accompaniment of cries and cat-calls Verheyen's number, 47, and Referee Prial's name being coupled in disparaging comparison. Prial resigned before the evening was over and Theodore C. Marsels officiated as the evening referee. Verheyen was given first money by Wheeler's consent. In the class B, two-mile scratch, Charlie Murphy lowered the two-mile indoor record from 5:57 to 4:58 4-5.

What Stepanik Says of the Czar.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Stepnik, the Russian nihilist, in an interview today in regard to the czar's popularity, said: "Of course the czar knows he is perfectly safe in going about unattended. I know a strong feeling in favor of reconciliation prevails among Russian revolutionists. The czar has wonderfully good cards in his hands, and if he is not quite a fool, he can make concessions which will reconcile everybody and make him the most popular czar Russia has ever known. His manifesto does not indicate whether he will follow a liberal or conservative policy. The praise bestowed on him by the general press as being liberal, is perfectly gratuitous. There is nothing in the manifesto, however, which can be blamed. It opens the way to both courses. Beyond this, there is nothing to it. We must wait and see what he will do with political offenders. This is the chief point, in my mind."

Refused to Go in Irons.

PORTLAND, Nov. 30.—John Hawthorn, who was to have been taken yesterday to The Dalles as a witness against Savage, Gibbons and Kiele, the express robbers, refused to go in irons, and, as Detective Simmons, who was to accompany him, declined to go with him in any other way, they did not go at all. While Hawthorn is in jail awaiting trial for the murder of Carpole, an Indian policeman, his connection with The Dalles robbery is only that of an important witness and as such the law does not provide for his going with an officer ironed, like a felon. Not in view of the crime with which Hawthorn is charged it might not be wise for an officer to travel with him without manacles. As a matter of fact, Hawthorn could have been ironed and taken by force. In this case, however, he might once more defeat the officers, as he would refuse to say anything and would walk and get away. Up to date Hawthorn is "boss of the road."

How Our Citizens Abroad Honored Thanksgiving Day.

RUNYON'S SPEECHES IN BERLIN.

The Americans United in Patriotic Greeting to Cleveland.

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—The annual Thanksgiving banquet of the American colony in Berlin was held in the Kaiserhof last evening. The guests, about 250 in number, including many Americans well known at home and abroad, were seated at 6:30 p. m. United States Ambassador Theodore Runyon, presided, and in course of the evening made two brief speeches. Mr. Runyon said: "We are separated by a vast expanse of sea and land from the country we are proud to claim as ours, but we are just as proud of the land of our birthright and are as thankful for national and individual blessings, as if we were on the shores of our beloved America. We are thankful that, although far away from that bright land of ours, we live in so pleasant a place as historic Germany, eminent in its splendid literature, its advanced art, and sciences and its military renown. Although we are remote from our kindred, we are yet among those whom we are happy to call our friends, and who treat us with the kindness which is characteristic of German people. Whatever may be the cause of our being here—business, pleasure or instruction—we all now receive a hearty German welcome. We are glad at all times to acknowledge these obligations and it gives us special pleasure to do so each year upon Thanksgiving day. Therefore I propose to you the health of his majesty, William II, emperor of Germany."

In a later speech, Ambassador Runyon said:

"We are gathered here this evening, remote from our fellow-citizens, to rejoice with them in our country's unequalled moral progress; to rejoice with them in its vast territory; in its fearless enterprise; in its spreading education, and its civil and religious liberty, which are the priceless heritage of Americans. Our popular government is a government of a powerful and responsible executive chosen by the people. During the term of office, this executive distinctly represents the majesty of the people and the principles of constitutional liberty upon which the government is founded. We are always ready to honor the eminent citizen, who is at the head of our government, especially upon occasions like the present. We meet tonight as citizens of a great republic, without regard to differences of politics. From the high patriotic plane of national glory and welfare, I now propose to you the health of Grover Cleveland, president of the United States."

Mr. Runyon's proposal to send a Thanksgiving message to President Cleveland was received with much cheering and the following was cried to the white house:

"Two hundred and fifty Americans, at the Thanksgiving dinner at Berlin, send patriotic greetings!"

Congressman Charles DeKey made a forcible speech with some politics in it. He said:

"Americans have reason to be thankful that a rebuke has been administered recently to those world politicians who put their own pockets before the welfare of the country. They should rejoice also in Mr. Cleveland's praiseworthy record of wisdom, propriety and self-sacrifice."

The evening meal lasted the city of Berlin, Germany, and the German voters who aided the reformers in New York. A dance followed the dinner. All arrangements were perfect and the dinner and dance were as enjoyable as usual.

The Lick Monument.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The James Lick monument was unveiled yesterday morning in the city hall square with appropriate ceremonies. The cost of the monument, which is one of the finest, both as regards design and workmanship, in the United States, has been $100,000. The main material is granite, which serves to support massive bronze figures of heroic proportions, and also bronze panels, all of which are historical in design, and together, illustrate the growth of California from her early history to the present day. The principal statue is "Eureka," and is typical of California. A group of miners is the representative of "the discovery of gold." Another, emblematic of "early days," is composed of an Indian, a Spaniard and a Franciscan friar, and there are figures representing "Commerce" and "Agriculture." The oration this morning was delivered by William B. Farwell, orator of the Society of California Pioneers. George S. Schoenwald, president of the Lick trust, formally presented the monument to the city authorities, and Mayor Eilert made an address of acceptance.

A Landslide.

TACOMA, Nov. 30.—The other night 45 feet off the south end of the Puget sound warehouse of the Northern Pacific railroad, on the water front, including the office of the road, cattle-sheds, pumphouse for the hydraulic work of filling in the tide lands, sank into the bay. Just what caused the disaster is a mystery which no one has yet explained. John Hansen, a watchman, was in the pumphouse, and has not been seen since. He is believed to have drowned. Close by, to the south, was the boathouse of H. H. Alger, built partly on the made land and partly on piles. This turned over completely. A family of several persons were asleep in the house at the time. All of them were rescued by the steamer Blue Star, except a 15-year-old girl, named Emma who is missing.

Railroad Calamity.

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 30.—This place was the scene of an awful calamity yesterday, resulting in the death of three men, fatally injuring one and seriously injuring twelve others. The Southbridge football eleven was scheduled to play a game with the eleven of the Worcester Polytechnic institute here and was crossing the New York and New England railroad track in a large wagon, when it was struck by a passenger engine. The wagon was completely demolished and its occupants scattered in every direction. Three members of the eleven were killed outright. Some were thrown into the air a distance of a dozen feet away, while others went under the wheels and were ground into a mangled mass of flesh, with but a slight semblance of human form. The dead are Charles Gauthier, Victor Nelson, Joseph Cook.

No Brutality Will Be Allowed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Police Superintendent Byrnes announced today that no exhibition of brutality will be permitted at the Yale-Princeton football game tomorrow.

In Honor of Whitman.

WALLA WALLA, Nov. 30.—The forty-seventh anniversary of the massacre of the martyr Whitman, Whitman, was observed here yesterday.

Accidentally Discharged.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 30.—Two men were probably fatally injured at the shoot of the Rod and Gun Club today. Henry McAuley, a member while loading a double-barreled shot gun, stood about 25 feet from the range where was assembled a large crowd of spectators. The gun, in some way exploded, the two charges going into the crowd. Three of them were hit, of which two are expected to die. William Griggs, aged 23, received part of the charge of shot in the right side of his head. He was picked up unconscious and is expected to die. George Hillworth also received shots in the right side of the forehead. He cannot recover. William Hooker was the third man injured. He was hit in the forehead and will lose the sight of his right eye.

Reply of the Hovas.

PORT LOUIS, Island of Mauritius, Nov. 30.—The reply of the Hova government to the French ultimatum has been published. Madagascar agreed the French resident-general shall act as an intermediary between the Hova government and the foreign powers. France is to carry out such public works as the Madagascar judges deem necessary. They propose that all disputes between France and themselves be settled by a mixed court. Lastly, the Hovas demand the delimitation of French territory around Diego Suarez and the right to import munitions.

Struck by a Car.

OREGON CITY, Nov. 30.—At 4 o'clock this morning, C. Gallogly, night foreman at the new electric power-house, was seriously, perhaps fatally, injured by a sand car, with a load weighing fully a ton, falling upon him. The breaking of a pin in the hoisting gear caused the car to fall back, and Gallogly freely admits that he was where he ought not to have been when the descending car caught him. No bones were broken, but there was concussion of the spine and serious internal injury. The injured man has a wife and three children.

The Dallas Fire.

DALLAS, Ore., Nov. 30.—Fire broke out in the residence of Hon. J. J. Daly, at Tuesday morning. The house was one of the best in Dallas. The fire had gained headway before the engine reached the scene, but the boys worked with a will, and only the upper part of the building was destroyed. All the furniture in that part of the house was burned and Mr. and Mrs. Daly were left with no change of clothing. There was a partial insurance on the building and furniture. The loss is about $1800.

Cashier Sandbagged.

BRYAN, O., Nov. 30.—W. C. Gregory, assistant cashier of Gregory & Sons, bankers, was found unconscious in the vault of the bank yesterday. He had been sandbagged and the vault robbed. It is said the thieves secured several thousand dollars. He was performing his duties before 6 o'clock, when confronted by two men who forced him at the point of revolvers to open the safe.

Two More Dead.

SOUTH BRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 30.—Two more of the foot ball players that were injured in yesterday's accident are dead, making four. They are John Street, 25 years old, the half-back of Williams' team, eleven, Victor Nelson, aged 23. There is little hope for the recovery of Andrew Taylor, 21, and E. Hughes and Charles Simmons.
