

LATE NEWS ITEMS.

One hundred new desks were placed in the public schools at The Dalles during the holiday season.

The new 600 horse power dynamo for the general electric company of Oregon City has been shipped from the east.

John Robin, of Castle Rock, Wn., cut 20,198,000 shingles with his one single-hand machine during the year 1894.

George and James Curry, of Echebre creek, Curry county, have killed seven bears and have saved twenty gallons of fine oil.

The sheds built over the capitol buildings at Olympia were wrecked by the weight of the snow of the recent storm.

General E. G. Applegate, an old resident and pioneer of Jackson county, has a cancer on his right hand and will have to have his hand amputated to save his life.

An extension of the Rogue river railroad is to be surveyed next week to run from Jacksonville to Sam's Valley, for the purpose of tapping the newly discovered coal fields.

J. W. Tillman and family, who left this place about one year ago and went to Tennessee, have returned. Six families were desirous of accompanying them, but were unable to dispose of their possessions.—Brownsville Times.

Rol F.isher, of Sodaville, shot Mr. West, of that place with an air gun which the lad had received as a Christmas present. The gun was supposed not to be loaded. The shot penetrated Mr. West's cheek, making a painful wound.

Milton Young, of Woodburn, produced four tons of White Belgium carrots from seventeen rows 340 feet long each. How is this for Oregon soil, reader? Figure on this, and then you can realize the value of the soil you have so often trodden underfoot.

James D. Fay had the misfortune to run his right hand between the cylinder of the new printing press at the Jacksonville Times office Tuesday night, and as a result of his indiscretion he has a badly lacerated hand which he now carries in a sling.

Harold Kane, of Forest Grove, while riding along the roadside north of the city was thrown from his horse by running into a wire stretched across to keep horsemen off from the foot path. The wire caught him under the chin and the fall rendered him insensible for a time.

Henry Robins, of Boulevard, near Seattle, known among the sports as "Skiagit," has been at Tacoma and arranged with Frank Schmidt to fight his bull dog Snowball against Schmidt's Grip. There will be a cooking main in connection with the dog fight. The event will come off in the near future.

Several weeks ago a young woman about 20 years of age got off the train at Cottage Grove and went to the Sherwood house, and in a few hours she gave birth to a child. The county judge was informed of the matter and as the woman had no means the county bore the expense of her keeping. The judge, a few days ago, learned that she was up and around and so he cut her off from county aid. Now it is learned that a couple of days ago she left town on the quiet, leaving her child, a plump boy, behind, to be cared for by some humane persons than his mother.

The papers are full of items about how Mr. Tongue, sr., Fulton and other senatorial aspirants stand on the silver question. No doubt the silver question had importance to the people of this coast and it is proper to require of candidates an expression on the subject, but in the opinion of a great majority of the people of Oregon the railroad influence over prospective senatorial timber is of vastly greater concern to them. Mr. Daph's action in reporting ad-versely on the Northern Pacific for failure till last week indicates that the bill was either a very unjust measure or that he cannot stand up when that company's interests are in jeopardy. Fifty one million acres of land was involved in the filibuster. The bill had passed the house and was referred to the senate committee on railroads of which Mr. Daph was a member. The people of Oregon want to know all about their senatoriate and they do not want a man who is either in the employ of or under the influence of those great corporations, whose interests are then conflict with theirs. In the matter of the mineral lands embraced in the railway grant to Southern Oregon, we have an example. It is even said that no man can be elected who has the interests of the railroad or of those of any class of an election, a candidate must have the approval of one or the other. If this is true then the condition of the Republican party in Oregon indeed and its leaders may look toward California's late election as an example of its future in this state. No party, not any candidate of a party can carry this land and survive for many years.—Grand's Weekly.
