J. L. MITCHELL ARRESTED.

Charged With Embezzlement From a Railroad Company.

A warrant was issued out of Justice H. A. Johnson's court Wednesday evening for the arrest of J. L. Mitchell, charging him with the larceny of $200, the property of a transcontinental railroad company, for whom Mr. Mitchell has acted as agent in this city. An officer last evening went out to the residence of Mr. Mitchell, on Court street near Eighteenth to carry into execution the warrant for his arrest but was prevented from doing so on the plea that Mr. Mitchell's physicians had forbidden anyone to see him. The officers then returned and after consulting the physicians who are attending Mr. Mitchell, decided to await until this morning before placing him under arrest. Justice H. A. Johnson and Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Condit proceeded to the home of Mr. Mitchell and after a consultation with the defendant set his preliminary examination for Wednesday, May 8 at 10:30 a. m. Mr. Mitchell is held in the sum of $500 and is endeavoring to secure bondmen this afternoon.

Mr. Mitchell has not been at his place of business since last Friday, owing to nervous prostration, and at times his family is greatly alarmed at his condition.

From Maclay.

The funeral of Mrs. John Craig was the largest ever held in Maclay, and was notable for the exceptional manner in which it was conducted. Rev. J. B. Early preached an impressive funeral discourse, and good singing was had. The pall bearers were Harvey Taylor, Daniel Early, Clarence Simeral, Adam Burns, Wm. Taylor, and Daniel Humphrey; W. T. Rigdon, conductor. The funeral procession numbered over 60 teams, and nearly 500 people were in attendance, to pay their last respects to one of the most honored pioneer mothers of this entire neighborhood. The grave was literally covered with floral tributes, which literally hid the earth from view, showing the high esteem in which this grand old lady was held by her hundreds of warm-hearted friends.

Of the twelve children who accompanied the father and mother from the east eleven were present, and many grand children were also present to see their dearest mother laid to her last resting place. Grandma Craig, as she was familiarly known, was the general favorite of all—high and low, rich and poor—none but honored and loved her. Her death is the heaviest loss our community has sustained in many a day.

FROM HOOPERDOM.—The other day H. H. Ragan received a mysterious looking box, which upon opening was found to contain 8 one-gallon cans of pure maple syrup, right from the old homestead in Putnam County, Ind.

It was a gift from his aged mother, who, though 83 years old, still delights in superintending the large "sugar bush," and every year turns out barrels of the pure article. The boy here in Salem enjoyed the gift more than had each can been a shining coin—and not a few of his friends have enjoyed it too, including ye scribe.

TEA DAY.—Saturday will be special tea sale day at the Blue Front. On that one day only they will sell all grades of tea at greatly reduced prices. Last Saturday was the Blue Front's special sale day when they gave 23lbs of granulated sugar for $1.00—an unheard of record in Salem. On that day there was a perfect rush for sugar all day at the Blue Front.

DEDICATION.—The new hall of West Salem will be dedicated on Wednesday evening, May 8. The meeting to open at 8 sharp. Governor W. P. Lord and Mayor Gatch will be present and deliver short addresses. Some of Salem's best musical talent has been secured. A collection will be taken. Everybody welcome. Fernie Bentley, secretary.

A MAIN BROKEN.—While blowing out hydrant this morning, a sudden turning off of one of them broke a connecting pipe, flooding the cistern on Court street and causing the Water Co. considerable trouble and expense. THE JOURNAL is delayed in its evening issue by absence of printer.

SOME FISH.—Big fish, little fish, every kind but the poor kind, at all prices but high prices. Come and see them—or, better still, buy some. Doty & Bennett, Court street.

ARE SALMON BEING TAKEN?

Friends of Salmon Should Organize to Protect Spawning Grounds.

NIAGARA, April 30, 1895. ED. JOURNAL:—I noticed in the issue of April 23d, in an article headed "Notes by the Rambler," an explanation of the novel methods we have of catching salmon here at the falls.

It was stated that "John Patton and Chris Leabe had a kind of patent sack ten feet long, attached to a wire and hung under the falls, and when a salmon attempted to jump the falls he would be swept by alighting in the sack, which could be pulled in by means of a wire, and the fish taken out, consequently flopping right onto the fisherman's table."

I want to state that I have not had a sack or basket of any kind in the river for the past four years. I have caught but three salmon this year. They were blind in one eye and could not see out of the other. I waited until they came up in a little creek, then slipped up on the blind side of them and caught them with a spear.

The "Rambler" seems to think it is an outrage the way fish are slaughtered here. But we do not get enough to supply the home demand. He also states that "they spread net just above falls at Oregon City," and also calls that an outrage. Well, I agree with him there. For all the fish that come up this season are "bottled" and cannot jump like they use to do, making the "patent sack" arrangement a failure. I suppose they lost their tails getting through the locks at Oregon City.

I think the "Rambler" had better ramble up in this part of the country and try the "sack arrangement" himself. I don't think he would find it quite as productive as it might be. As to trout, they are in abundance and can be caught most all times of the year, and will afford excellent amusement for anyone fond of such sport.

Respectfully,
JOHN PATTON.

THE POTATO KING.—Walter L. Tison is entitled to be called the potato king of French Prairie. He has shipped from Woodburn and vicinity, this season, 10 carloads of potatoes to all points in California and to several points in Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. He also shipped five carloads to Chicago, being the first shipped out of the valley, or at least from Marion county, to Eastern ports.

Two bits will be a good outfit at the Union Bargain store, 142 State street. 5-1 2d 1w

CHARGED WITH INCEST.

Reuben M. Harris Arrested Near Colville.

COLVILLE, Wash., May 1.—The train from Spokane brought Sheriff Plummer, of Polk county, Oregon, with requisition papers and a warrant for the arrest of Reuben M. Harris, charged by the Polk county grand jury with incest upon two daughters aged 12 and 14. Harris made no resistance when put under arrest, and came peacefully to this city where he was put in jail. Yesterday he left with Sheriff Plummer for his former home, near Dallas, where he will face his accusers. He declares he will establish his innocence.

The particulars of the alleged crime, as related by the sheriff, are as follows: Harris lived for many years in Polk county, where he was a successful farmer. He had a wife and seven children, two of whom were boys. Harris is an industrious and intelligent man. Notwithstanding that he is frail of strength, he has taken a homestead in a timbered locality, and has been diligently applying his energies in reclaiming a home from the forest.

Mrs. Harris and the three youngest children, girls ranging from 4 to 9 years, are on the farm near Colville. Mrs. Harris, after the departure of her husband from Oregon, drove overland with a wagon team from Dallas to Stevens and were compelled to solicit assistance along the way.

When the two sheriffs drove out to the quiet home of Harris to make the arrest, they felt that but for their duty as officers of the law, they would turn back and leave him and his wife and three children to continue in peace, where they were. The officers found Harris in the woods by following the sound of an axe and saw. When they came in sight of Harris he was hurling a crosscut saw, his wife helping at the other end. When they were accosted the saw ceased, and the two forms at the same time unbent to greet their visitors. Mrs. Harris presented a handsome face and excused herself for being in the woods instead of the house. The three little girls came along after the officers were at their parents' side.

When Sheriff Plummer announced the purpose of his visit, the woman burst into sobs of deep anguish, but declared the innocence of her husband. The little children clung to their father and cried as if their little hearts would break. Mr. Harris said he would have to go, and expressed the deepest regret that he would leave his family penniless, whereupon Sheriff Plummer gave the woman a $5 bill. A hasty goodbye ended the sad scene.

FAMOUS EXILES.

The Earl of Clarendon wrote his famous historical works while in exile. All the princes of the Bourbon family have for a long time lived in exile from France.

Buchanan, the Scottish poet, while in exile and prison wrote the famous "Paraphrase of the Psalms."

It is said that at this time there are 33 ex-sovereigns residing in different parts of Europe, none of them in the countries they once ruled.

A great many of the popes have been forced into exile, generally by enemies among the turbulent Roman populace. A few were restored, but most of them died in exile.

The Emperor Charles V lived in voluntary exile during the last years of his life. His chief occupation in his retirement was devising new viands to tempt his gluttonous appetite.

Ex-Empress Eugenie lives in England as the guest of Queen Victoria, who is her warm personal friend. She often goes to the continent and is said on one or two occasions to have visited Paris incognito.

After the downfall of Napoleon, his mother, Mme. Bonaparte, went to Dijon and thence to Rome. She returned to France during the hundred days, and after Waterloo went back to Rome, where she died in 1880.
