Tenting

on the old camp ground or on a new camp ground isn't much fun if you have a leaky old tent that keeps everything wet all the time. We've just opened a lot of 35 and 37-inch drills, 27 and 40-inch wagon ducks in several grades, striped tent and awning ducks, and fancy awning ticks which we'd be glad to show you. You can make a tent for a low price now. These goods never were as cheap.

OUR WATER WORKS.

Improvements at the Reservoir—Better Water and Better Service.
The Salem Water Co., is at present making some substantial improvements. Chief Engineer Brown and crew, are busy placing a gate and "I" into the reservoir main. This is to enable the water company to draw all the water out of the reservoir once a week during the warm weather, without bringing it into the service pipes. In order to keep up its present high pressure of eighty pounds, it is necessary to keep a surplus in the reservoir all the time, and it is to prevent this from getting stale that the "blow-off" is being put in. A wooden sluice-way will be run down the hill to carry waste water to the slough.
President Wallace proposes to improve the company's plant at every possible point, and contemplates dispensing with the transmission cables at the works. This will require the building of a 800-foot flume, when the water wheel can be set at the works. Plans are now being prepared for this work, and when it is completed will involve an expense of about $5000. Without a doubt Salem has the best water service of any city on the coast today. The fire pressure is superb, and is the means of making the property much safer from fire than any other concern.

GRADUATING EXERCISES.—Superintendent E. H. Anderson goes to Dallas Friday afternoon where he will address the graduating class of the public schools of that city in the evening. Returning to Salem Saturday morning Superintendent Anderson will go to Eugene where he will read a paper on the subject, "What Can the Normal School Do for a Country Teacher," before a convention of teachers in that city.

KELLER & SONS

VISITED OREGON CITY.—Tuesday, Zedac Riggs, Roy Miller and Chester Murphy, students of the Willamette University went to Oregon City on their wheels. The return trip a distance of 42 miles was made in four hours and forty minutes and the boys were not running against time either.

CAUSED BY A WRECK.—The north bound overland due to Salem at 5:30 a. m. did not arrive until after 12 o'clock noon. This delay was caused by the wrecking of a train load of ties in the vicinity of Drain last night, in which the engine and a number of cars left the track.

ENJOYED BY ALL.—Smokers enjoy a good cigar after eating a meal. If they would smoke the best 10 cent cigar in the market they would choose the La Corona.

OREGON MUTE SCHOOL.

Successful Closing Exercises for the Year's Work.
Prof. Jos. B. Early and Matron Mrs. Early and all the teachers, were warmly congratulated upon the successful closing of their year's work at the state institute for the deaf mutes.

Prof. Carter and Mrs. Carter, the new superintendent and matron of the combined institution, were present.

The exercises at the deaf mute school, Wednesday at 2 p. m. were quite interesting. The program was witnessed by a large audience in the chapel hall of the building in this city used by both the state blind school and deaf mute school. The trustees of the deaf mute school are Governor Lord, Secretary of State Kincaid and State Superintendent Irwin. A great many of the prominent people of Salem were present as well as some of the clergymen and officials of the state. All were quite pleased at the good work done by the teachers.

The class work done by Mr. and Mrs. Litherland, Miss Parmenter and Miss Bockee was very interesting throughout. The pupils are a fine looking lot of young men and women. They seem well taught, well cared for, well trained and well disciplined. The inability of the children to speak with their lips makes all their expressions three-fold more expressive. Superintendent Early throws a great deal of spirit into all the work of the school. The lip reading with semi-mutes was very interesting. They readily read ordinary sentences from the ordinary movement of the mouth in speaking. They seemed to enjoy answering very much, although they did not hear a word that was said. The exercises grew in interest as they proceeded and were explained by the teachers in charge.

"PLAYING SCHOOL"
was acted out by six little tots and a severe and determined looking pedagogue of ten years. The trustees appeared quite dignified future state officials of twelve years and acted out their parts very well.

The children won a hearty round of applause for their life-like presentation "THE RED, WHITE AND BLUE" was accompanied in silent gestures by three young ladies dressed in the national colors and the classic of American patriotism sung by Supt. Early. It was an inspiring sight and the class entered it with great spirit.

"America" was presented by a young man in the uniform of the national guard, a young lady with a shield representing "union forever", and three girls with emblems as Faith, Hope and Charity. It was rewarded with a handsome applause and was really a beautiful tableau.

A young man now recited the alphabet and counted 50 in about one-fourth the time anybody could. He also represented, in natural signs, the deer hunter after game, portraying it so naturally that you could, in your mind, see the deer, hear the gun go off, see him flay it, quarter it, carry it home, cook it, and it is certain it tasted like venison.

The good-bye drill was done by 6 boys and 6 girls, who, after reciting verses in pairs and symbolic marching and play, were dismissed in pairs. The children smiled brightly and looked the picture of happiness for little ones that cannot talk, chatter, shout or laugh. Their lives are infinitely brightened by the work of the school.

The program closed with a class recitation, "God Be With You."
There was a liberal display of needlework and fancy-work made by the children during the winter that attracted not a little attention from the visitors, showing that the practical work of life is not overlooked in the education of these children.

Police Court.
William Hepburn, who has been so infatuated with a Japanese courtesan of this city for some time, gaining thereby a great deal of notoriety, was arrested last Wednesday evening by Police Officers Lumbard and Lathrop, on a charge of larceny by litem, preferred against him by the woman. After some resistance the officers mounted their man, whom they found in the courtesan's room on Liberty street, on Lewis Street and Court, and took him to the city jail. Upon searching Hepburn, an emerald and diamond stud ring was found upon his person, one of the articles the woman claims to have been stolen from her. The two watches included in the complaint have not yet been recovered.

Young Hepburn was released from the city jail this morning having furnished a bond of $500 for his appearance at 10 a. m. Friday. His mother Mrs. W. W. Hepburn and G. A. Bennett are his bondsmen.

Charles Bennett will be tried at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the larceny of a sword and an ax.

MARRIAGE IN ASTORIA.—The regular meetings conducted by Evangelist and Mrs. Bryan in the Evangelical church in Room 1025 will be continued over next Sabbath. A great deal of interest is being manifested and those who have not heard the Evangelist should not fail to do so on Sabbath morning.

THE WILLAMETTE SURVEY.

Engineer Cunningham on the Salem Harbor.

A JOURNAL representative had an extended interview with Capt. Cunningham, of the U. S. engineers, on the danger of washing through a new channel on the west side opposite Salem.
The boat containing the party of U. S. engineers surveying the Willamette river has been lying at the foot of State street all day. Mr. Rigdon, of the Salem city council, placed before J. H. Cunningham, the engineer in charge of this river survey, under Major Post of Portland, the statistics of Salem commerce for the year 1894.

WHAT THE WORK IS.
The work of this board of engineers on the river survey has consisted of making a complete map of the river, including shore lines, islands, bars, and the depth of water, including flood lands. There is only $6,000 appropriated for the survey from Eugene down. Mr. Cunningham thinks he can get to Portland at least with that. The work is done with transits and levels, and then maps are made showing the meanderings of the stream. No chain measuring is done. Two extra hairs in the transit instrument are set so as to cut exactly a foot on a vernier rod at a distance of 100 feet, the system being called the stadia, or measurement of space by vertical distance. The work is tested every night by a steel tape.

The Willamette is a wonderful stream in Capt. Cunningham's eyes. It is powerful and the soil is less friable and less erosive than eastern or southern streams. The heavy timber holds the soil together and protects the shore lines.

WHAT HE SAYS.
"Without a doubt the river is favorable to improvement clear to Eugene. It would not take much money to make the river navigable the year around. It is an easy stream to improve compared to such streams as the Missouri and other rivers."

A few piling driven here and there to force the water into one channel would make it easily navigable the year round. That is what is principally needed. There is enough water to navigate the year round from Portland to Eugene, if it can be kept in one channel.

I have examined the west bank opposite Salem. It is not cutting away as much or as fast as at Corvallis and a number of other places. It is not in a bad condition. I am making a map of the whole bounds of the river. The bar at the end of Minto's island is undoubtedly encroaching on the present Salem landing. The west bank washing away will cause slack water where the bar is now forming at the point of Minto's island.

The revetment of the west bank is necessary to keep the channel from going west, and I shall recommend the dredging of the bar, which is supplied from washing of the bank about a mile above.
The people of W. Salem are needlessly alarmed about the river breaking through their town. There is a possibility of a small chute going through and leaving the west end of the bridge standing on an island.

I went over the west banks with Mr. Gibson and others, and have not yet fully made up my mind what to do about my recommendations on the west bank.
The Salem harbor is in danger of the Minto bar encroaching this way.

HOW PRISONERS LIVE.

A Convict Compares Prison Management—the Causes of Idleness.

E. L. Mabaffey, of Union county, was released from the state prison May 15. His parents live in Union county and he will start for there as soon as he gets means, for which he has telegraphed. He was in 18 months under Supt. Downing and 3 months and 18 days under Supt. Gilbert. He rather likes Downing the better of the two. Mr. Gilbert he says is "not as liberal and sociable with the boys." There is no change in the discipline or food under the two men. The sanitary arrangements of the prison are not good. The sewerage is very bad and the ventilation is not good. The men who do not work are kept in their cells 22 hours out of the 24. One hour each half day is given for exercise by walking in the prison yard in a circle of about 200 yards. The smells in the prison are caused by sewage gas. During the night the corridors are filled with it.

Mr. Mabaffey is about as intelligent a young man as generally gets into prison. He was in for forgery. He called on the governor's private secretary this morning expecting to get his transportation home and the customary five dollars. He had not heard from any official source that this custom was no longer in vogue, but finds himself strapped and 350 miles from home. There is no opportunity to earn anything or to learn anything, except by study in the cell. He says about nineteen out of twenty men could be put to work at something or other and be made self-supporting. The present system of idleness is positively harmful and the worst system that could be adopted by the state. THE JOURNAL advised him to go home and go to work on a farm if he had to work for his board.

THE SALVATIONISTS.—The Congregational church was filled Wednesday evening with an appreciative audience who had congregated to witness the organization of a corps of the Salvation Army. Ten new recruits were sworn in; Major P. Morton, Captain Milne and Lieutenant Conlin, of the Seattle division of the Northwest Army corps, conducting the exercises in an impressive manner.

TO THE REFORM SCHOOL.—Clyde Stanley, aged 13 years, was received at the state reform school Wednesday, from Lake county. He is committed for incorrigibility, and increases the number of boys in that institution to 121.
