After the Highwayman.

ROSEBURG, Or., Aug. 20.—Sheriff G. F. Catheart is making an energetic effort to capture the Cass Bay stage robber, and, with Deputy E. E. Hodgson, has spent several days near the scene of the hold-up and has succeeded in finding some clues which point to the robber's identity. A young man named Wood, who spent some time in Roseburg, and finally moved with some friends to Ollala to engage in placer mining, is suspected of being the lone highwayman. He was the possessor of a Colt's revolver, and it is now known that he recently purchased a bulldog pistol from W. R. Wells, of Ollala, accounting for the two revolvers carried by the robber. Wood disappeared the Sunday previous to the first hold-up. His friends claim he went to California. The suspicion seems well founded by the fact that the officers found planned to a tree on an old road leading down Rice creek, near the scene of the hold-up, the following note scrawled on a leaf from a memorandum book: "Catch old Wood, if you can, you—." (Signed) The Mail Robber." Below this was written: "George Lainger, I'll see you again." This might have been written to throw the officers off the trail, but those who claim to know Wood's handwriting believe it to be genuine. It is believed by those working on the case that more robberies are contemplated.

IMPORTANT FROM CHINA.

Conclusions of the American Canadian Delegates.

TACOMA Aug. 20.—The Ledger has received by mail from Shanghai, the first copy to reach this country of the report of the Rev. Dr. J. Endicott, D. D., who was delegated by the American and Canadian missionaries to investigate and report upon the Ku Chen riots in the Se Chuen province. The report is lengthy and gives a detailed account of the troubles.

Dr. Endicott went to China from Winnipeg two years ago, being sent by the Canadian American missionary society.

May 27, the day before the outbreak in Ku Cheng, he, together with his wife, Dr. Hart and Dr. Hare, left Ku Cheng for Kia Tung, 120 miles away. They did not learn of the trouble until June 1, when several boatloads of the Ku Cheng mob went to Kia Tung and began to incite trouble. As the officials refused to afford any protection, the party went down the river with numerous other missionaries to Shanghai, where Dr. Endicott's report was finished three weeks ago.

Dr. Endicott's conclusions are briefly as follows:

"The history of the past riots does not encourage us to hope for much in the way of discovering the real origin of these, but the conclusion is forced upon us that the highest officials were desirous a riot should take place. The officials had ample power in their hands to quell the riot at its very beginning, for there was an abundance of soldiers, arms and ammunition at Ku Cheng. Had the officials been friendly some of these forces would quickly utilized to quell the disturbances.

"The acting of Cheo, the infamous chief of police, in declaring by proclamation that the officials knew the missionaries were guilty of stealing and killing children is another evidence of the animosity of the officials. Again and again during the progress of the riots, yamen soldiers were seen taking an active part in the work of destruction, a thing they would not have dared to do without the consent of their masters.

"The viceroy is directly responsible for the riots. He is known to be anti-foreign since only last February he opposed by proclamation the Berthemy convention, by which privileges were secured by foreigners in the matter of purchasing property."

The report states that a crisis has been reached in missionary operations. That foreign nations should change their policy and give the mandarins to understand that they must treat American, British and other foreign subjects with respect and afford them with protection; that unless this is done the future outlook before the missionaries who labor in the interior of China will be dark indeed. He concludes, "A money compensation for the loss of property is not sufficient to meet the demands of the case. The condemnation of the viceroy is worth infinitely more at this juncture than millions of money.

The Shanghai correspondent of the London Times telegraphs: The consular expedition to Ku Cheng will probably prove futile. China's attitude in trifling with this serious question is likely to lead to further trouble."

THE OHIO DEMOCRACY

Being Molded Into Form by Senator Brice.

THE BOSS RAILROAD WRECKER

Has a Majority of Delegates for Him.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 20.—The district and other preliminary meetings of the Democratic state convention were held here today preparatory to assembling in convention tomorrow. Senator Brice is making the fight of his life for a platform in harmony with the views of President Cleveland. He is believed to have a majority of the 808 delegates, but free silver men pledged Senator Brice that they had no fight on him but they wanted this plank.

Just before Senator Brice arrived in the city it was flooded with doggers bearing the following resolution adopted at a meeting of silver delegates:

"We favor immediate restoration of the law providing for free coinage of both gold and silver coins and their use without discrimination as provided for in the constitution."

Among the towns so far heard from which probably send teams of one kind or another, are as follows: Portland, 2 teams; Oregon City, 2; The Dalles, 2; Hillsboro, 1; Albany, 1; Corvallis, 1; Eugene, 1; Astoria, 1; Lebanon, 1; Salem, 1; Pendleton, 1. With the two teams from this city this will make 15 which are expected to enter the list.

Bloomers Denounced.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 20.—Professor Shorey, of Portland, delivered a lecture on the "New Women" at the Congregational church Sunday night. The audience listened attentively, and a number of the ladies who advocate the new idea were present. While the professor favored the advancement of women intellectually, and asserted that she should be the equal of man in the professions and in places of trust, he seriously denounced the practice of women wearing bloomers while riding bicycles, or on any other occasion. He claimed that this practice of women trying to unsex themselves, tended to lower them in the estimation of the male sex, and was a custom borrowed from the barbarous ages and from foreign countries; that it was only a fad, which would be forgotten in a few years.

PRINCE EDWARD A YEAR OLD.

The Infant Candidate For the Throne of Great Britain and Ireland.

Prince Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David, only son of the Duke and Duchess of York and possible future ruler of Great Britain and Ireland.

PRINCE EDWARD ON HIS FIRST BIRTHDAY.

and emperor of India, was a year old June 23 and seems to be a sturdy, healthy, intelligent little fellow, despite the weighty assortment of names he has been carrying around during his brief career. It is difficult to picture such an infant as the ruler of one of the most powerful and progressive nations of the earth, but Prince Edward Albert is not so far removed from the throne as would seem at first thought.

Queen Victoria's oldest son, Albert Edward, the prince of Wales, would succeed her, but he is now 24 years of age and has led a life, it is said, that is not conducive to longevity.

With King Albert Edward out of the way the young Duke of York would be crowned as King George V, and but one life would then remain between the throne and Edward Albert, the infant prince. The most interesting thing that has been printed about this royal babe of late is the report that he is deaf and dumb. The rumor is discredited, however, and thus far the Duke and Duchess of York have declined to pay any attention to it. In all probability Edward hears as well and makes as hard work of talking as any other baby in the United Kingdom.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

Bell of An Iron Furnace Blown Off in Pittsburg.

SIX KILLED AND MANY HURT.

Other Fires and Accidents of the Day.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 20.—An explosion at furnace "H" of the Carnegie Steel company, at Braddock, this morning killed six men, fatally injured three, seriously burned 15 and destroyed $30,000 worth of property. Five of the injured men will die. All the killed and injured were Hungarians, except James Harrison, the foreman. The explosion was due to a 'hang' in the furnace which suddenly was loosened and dropped into the molten metal below, generating immense quantities of gas and so suddenly that it could not escape by ordinary means. A few minutes before the explosion one of the top fillers dumped a barrow of material into the bell of the furnace which he had forgotten to raise. This clogged the top of the furnace and prevented the gas escaping. A gang of fifteen men in charge of James Harrison were sent at once to the top of the furnace to remove the obstruction. All were closely crowded round the bell of the furnace removing the material when there was a terrific explosion and the men, barrows, tools and material were hurled in all directions.

Two of the injured died in the hospital, making the number of the dead eight. They were burned so badly as to be beyond recognition.
