

What is the lesson of all this? The significant events in the history of our state politics, as it will be one day written, are the appointment of Mr. McGinn to a judgeship and the setting up in the boss business by a Mr. Gullixson. One of the most unpleasant duties of a newspaper is the holding up of unsavory characters in our public life as object lessons. With the silence and treachery of the Portland press, the 400,000 people of Oregon are practically left to the country press for what little protection they get from the publication of the seamy sides of these characters. No one doubts that Mr. McGinn is popular with the legal profession. That was a great card in his favor. He will, as judge, allow almost any fee in a case that a lawyer has the cheek to ask for in his pleadings. The corporation lawyers and looters, in case of a receivership, will be protected in taking the entire bakery. As Mr. McGinn was seldom known to oppose anything from the standpoint of moral principle, he is a handy man to have on the bench to give sanction to the demands so frequently sanctioned in the name of law. The lawyers at Portland are noted for their disposition to fleece the public, and when politics and the administration of justice are as closely allied as they are in nearly all large cities at present, Mr. McGinn's appointment lay very close to their hearts. Not a newspaper or advocate has claimed any merit for Mr. McGinn as a legislator, except that he made the greatest effort of his life to pass the $60,000 special military appropriation over Governor Penney's veto, and succeeded. He is a legislator off the same piece as Mr. Gullixson, who conducted the Dolph campaign last winter alongside of Mr. Steel. Mr. Gullixson was in the legislature but one term. But in that short time he evinced remarkable talents. He helped organize the Eastern Oregon asylum deal, the jute mill deal, the $100,000 for the state militia and beyond giving a few civilians places on the state payrolls what is there to the state militia today—in short Mr. Gullixson, but recently from California, cost the people of Oregon a full half million at least. By his skill at logrolling he helped pass a lot of obnoxious game laws and endeared himself to the people who manage the corporations that he has been the special guest of the railroad commission on several of its junketing tours. It is to the shame of our political system that such men can do such things, and shows that instead of the people governing, they are ruled by any petty creature who may be picked up by the bosses and who stand back and direct them in their raids on the public. No wonder Mr. Gullixson was given $5 a day all last winter of the farmers' hard earned taxes and rode about on free passes, while the poorer and more honest class of people have to pay for his rides and their own, too, when they can afford to take one. It is the duty of the press to show up these most glaring instances of fraud in our public life, regardless of who it may hit. The Republican party has no interest in silence about them. If party machinery is to be used in forcing such men to be rewarded for their disregard of the public interest, and in depriving the people of the services of men who will not condone them, then the sooner such party machinery is got rid of the better for the people.

Ex-Gov. Fletcher and Frank Toews, of the Daily Post and Independent, are Republicans and repel the inference that they publish a Populist paper. We were under the impression that the Weekly Independent was the organ of the Populist party; but such is not the case, they tell us.

German readers of THE JOURNAL please take notice that we are prepared to club the Weekly Staats Zeitung with this paper at $1 a year.

THE JOURNAL did the gentlemen who publish the Evening Post an injustice in leaving the impression that they publish a populist paper. The Daily Post is a purely independent paper, and the Weekly Independent uses from its columns only such matter as suits it. Neither is the Weekly Independent the organ of the Populist party.

Senator McBride favors the election of a United States senator by a direct vote of the people. Perhaps our senator fears for his own chances next time and rather prefers to be in the hands and at the disposition of the people than the combination which works affairs for the benefit of a few. Whatever might be the senator's motive, his idea is a wise and most timely one.—Astoria News.

There is no new development in the railroad situation. The contracts have not been let and will not be until the people of Astoria keep their promise with Mr. Hammond on the depot site. They promised to give him a depot site, but have failed to do so. Some of them are trying to "job" Hammond, as they did Reid and Goss, but their work is too coarse.—Astoria Herald.

The declaration of Judge Payne that "the man who is guilty shall be punished, whether he is too poor to hire a lawyer or rich enough to buy the bar," was created a sensation in Chicago. It is another part of the country it is acceptable as a fundamental doctrine of American law.

The census department has shown that the real estate mortgage indebtedness of the country amounts to $4,500,000,000, or $75 per capita, which is $375 a family. The speculation in grain and railroad stocks are incalculable. But the mortgage indebtedness has followed from real estate speculation.

The Eugene register a Republican gold-bug Dolph paper, copies on article from the Democratic gold-bug Roseburg Review signed "Republican," which attacks Binger Hermann for being a free silver man. This mixes a man up so that he don't know where he is at.

Old soldiers of the Mexican and Union armies and Indian war veterans, come to Salem Wednesday, this week and meet Senators Mitchell and McBride. They are true friends of the old boys in blue and it will do you good to come in and meet them.

Cleveland, the bankers, the foreign bond holders, the corporations, and the creditor class want the single gold standard. The rest of the people want both silver and paper made legal tender money in addition to gold. It is not a party question.

Citizens, come to Salem Wednesday and meet your senators. They are free from corporation, capitalistic and ring control as two men can be and any man can meet them and talk with them.

The Sunday morning Eugene Register appeared as a double number, devoted to a write-up of the State University—a very creditable illustrated edition and a credit to that city.

Judge Hoar's toast to the bar of Massachusetts, "First we get on; then we get honor; then we get honest," may have some application to Mr. McGinn, of Oregon.

One by one the Lord's anointed are gathered in. Banker Cooper was at Salem last winter lobbying for Dolph, and his brother is appointed farmer at the state prison.

Nervous
Sleepless, no appetite and very much run down, was the condition of my husband. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla he has wonderfully improved, and he now eats and sleeps well; in fact, he is all right.

There are 17775 miles of railroad in the United States. There are 66,835,880 rails used to cover this ground.

There are 533,295,000 ties used to bind the hearts of the traveling public to the fact that the Wisconsin Central lines furnish superior facilities on all their trains between St. Paul and Chicago which form close connections with all lines to the east and south.
