

A JAPANESE WOMAN

Has Her Life Let Out by a Murderer.

KILLED IN HER ROOM FRIDAY NIGHT

For Jealousy or Her Money—The Cut-Throat Escapes.

A most cruel and bloodthirsty murder was committed Friday night about 8 o'clock, in one of the little Chinese tenements on Liberty street, between Court and State. The murdered woman is Maggie Tojo, a Japanese aged 21, who has lived in Salem for several years among the Chinese, and her slayer is probably a Chinaman.

When first found she was lying on the floor and weltering in a pool of blood in the little front room behind the store, when Chief of Police Dilley and Patrolman Bert Savage burst into the room. They raised her up and tried to get her to tell who her assailant was, but she was unable to do more than nod her head in assent when asked if it were a Chinaman. She had wrapped a cloth around her throat and clutched her neck with her hands, but the blood was spurting in all directions. She had a small sack of money clenched in one hand. The other was badly cut from her efforts to grasp the assassin's knife. On the left side of her neck was a long slash from behind her ear to the front of her neck, and another on the right side of the neck that cut the jugular vein and windpipe. Death was inevitable and ensued in a very short time.

THE MURDERED WOMAN.

The Jap woman was quite a character in her way. She was called Maggie Tojo among her class. She has been at Salem about three years, and has never been in the police courts as a defendant. On Monday she was intending to move to better quarters, expecting to be confined in a month or six weeks. She had evidently been sitting at a table writing, when the assassin came up from behind and pulled her over backwards. She wrote a fair hand, and was addressing cards. As a very pretty Jap girl she had attracted the attention of several Chinamen, and probably the one who has killed her out of jealousy. There was no evidence that her person had been outraged.

THE ASSASSIN ESCAPED.

A hatless Chinaman fleeing in great haste was seen on the alley on Court street by Schuyler Kightlinger, also by David Scott, Jr., hostler in the Boney stables, and later by two persons in North Salem. Scott attempted to stop the man but he drew a weapon and Scott did not relish attacking an armed man in the dark. Chief Dilley and Patrolman Latourette went out in pursuit and traced what they believed was the fugitive, to a house on the Fletcher place. When aroused a man came to the door made a break and dashed into the brush. Several shots were fired after him but he flew as on wings, and for the time escaped our vigilant police.

ANOTHER SEARCHING PARTY.

At 3:30 a. m. Policeman Latourette, Bert Savage and Jas. Culver, went out to the Fletcher place on the Silverton road about five miles from Salem for the purpose of continuing the search. They found the house vacant where Chief of Police Dilley first flushed the supposed murderer. In a house 50 yards west of the house first searched they found two Chinamen, the only Chinamen in that part of the country. They were brought in and will be held to appear at the preliminary trial. One of the Chinamen arrested had a bandage over his head, but it proved to be from a cut received about a month ago. These Chinamen are not believed to be connected with the murder but are held as witnesses to prove the identity of the other Chinamen on the Fletcher place in the hope of getting an accurate description of the man who did the killing and resisted the police there.

A BAD MISTAKE.

A JOURNAL reporter who went over the grounds today on the Fletcher place and it seems the police made a bad mistake in attempting to arrest a white man, whose house they had mistaken for a china shack, and who in turn mistook them for burglars.

The police came to the Fletcher place between eleven and twelve o'clock and got one J. A. Herndon, a renter on the Fletcher place, out of bed. He came to the door, and seeing three men two of them armed, he started back, thinking them burglars. As he went to close the door one of the police stepped up and he pushed him back when the other policeman hit him on the head with a revolver, cutting a gash over his skull, leaving it open about an inch, which bled profusely. At this Herndon took fright and ran out the back way, hiding in the brush, and finally escaping to Curtright's house near by, where he was cleaned up and remained over night. He had only his pants and hat on, and the police evidently mistook him for a Chinaman and had a struggle with him, and fired three shots at him. Jack Herndon has lived there since March, has a wife and two children, who are away on a visit. The China shack the police were looking for is between Curtright's and Herndon's, and three Chinamen live there, Hong, Sam and Jo. Hong is the man who was cut in a fight there about a month ago by another Chinaman. Hong and Sam are the men now under arrest. Sam and Hong are partners in Fletcher's chop yards.

MORE EVIDENCE.

Frank Moores, one of Salem's wheel men, while on his way home last night, found the scabbard to be a six-inch dirk, the discovery of which will lend valuable assistance to the police officers in ferreting out the guilty party of last night's dastardly work. While walking along the south side of Court street he noticed something lying on the crossing of the alley between Liberty and High street. Wishing to know what it was he picked it up and took it home with him. This morning, when he heard of last night's murder Moores at once came down town and Short, Sharp Justice.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 5.—Neal Smith, a negro who committed rape and probably murder upon the person of Maggie Henderson, at Cole City, was taken from jail last night by about 150 men, and riddled with bullets.

HORRIBLE BRUTALITIES.

Smith confessed and was mutilated in a fearful manner by the girl's father, Wreem Henderson, who subsequently cut off the negro's ears. He was seized and held while one of the crowd pounded his fingers off joint by joint, one finger at a time, until his hand was a shapeless mass of bloody jelly. This was done because he in the struggle to subdue Miss Henderson he had bitten off one of one of her fingers. Each man took a turn at shooting at him until when he died he must have had four or five pounds of lead in him. He was literally shot to pieces and the bloody pulp, which only an hour before had been smit, was put into a hastily prepared pie of brushwood and burned until not a scrap of bone remained.

Missionaries Safe.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—United States Minister Terrill has cabled Secretary of the Navy Herbert as follows: "There has been tranquillity at least forty-eight hours. Kiamie Pasha was appointed grand vizier. Dreading the influence in distant provinces of recent events, I have renewed my demand for effective protection of missionaries."

A Bad Fire.

FORT COLLINS, Col., Oct. 5.—The Colorado Milling & Elevator Company's flour mills and elevator burned early today. The loss is estimated at $125,000, partly insured. The fire is a heavy blow to one of the town's leading interests.

THE N. P. RECEIVERSHIPS.

There are indications of a crisis in the Northern Pacific receivership affairs. The jurisdiction of Judge Jenkins of the Milwaukee federal court having been successfully assailed, and his receivers, Oakes, Payne and Rouse having been called to render an account of their transactions. Judge Hanford, of Seattle, surprised the whole fraternity of corporation looters by refusing to receive their resignations and summarily removed them from office. Judge Hanford had ordered them to make their final report to him October 2. As they had never complied even with the formality of making monthly reports to Jenkins's court, they supposed that Judge Hanford's order was a mere formality and paid no attention to his order to appear and file their accounts. He has removed them and summoned them on a charge of contempt. Their attorney, one C. W. Bunn, came across the continent in a special train to appear and tender their resignations of the great trust they have betrayed in the most insolent manner since nearly two years ago, and he had the temerity to appear before Judge Hanford and say that it was not the intention of the old receivers to file a report on the day set. The question is, are our federal courts mere dummies for corporation swindlers to operate behind?

It is a fact worth noting that nearly all the United States senators from Washington, Montana, as well as ex-senators and congressmen were present as counsel for the rotten receivers of the bankrupt corporation, and the judge seems to be the only man who represented the people. The judge had to say to one of them: "I will direct the clerk myself in the preparation of that order." The lawyers and stockholders who have been at work for a long time to bring the rotten receiverships of the Oakes, Payne, Rouse outfit to justice are delighted over the manly stand of Judge Hanford. At last they have found a federal judge who will not be bulldozed. Payne was nothing but a tool of Villard. He was a Milwaukee ward politician, then postmaster, then in control of the Great Northern Pacific railroad through Judge Jenkins, who bears all the marks of being a pliable and corrupt politician in the hands of the corporation wreckers. Brayton Ives shows that there was collusion from the beginning in the appointment of the receivers just removed, and Judge Jenkins was probably a political creature of the same powers that make a dictator out of such men as Payne. If Judge Hanford does his duty he will give Payne, Rouse and Oakes each a term in the penitentiary for the way they have conducted the receivership of this great property that the government and the people of the United States have such an enormous interest in. Ives show that last year $299,000 was paid out in attorney fees alone on the Northern Pacific, and no one knows how many hundred thousand to the receivers, their strikers and corruptionists. A full showing of what is done with the millions of dollars received and disbursed by such a railroad would open the eyes of the people to the iniquities practised in the name of justice in the federal courts. It would be seen that instead of their affording protection to the people to pay the fares and freights, these courts are largely the creatures of the politician lawyers who made the judges and who in turn are rewarded with enormous fees. In one instance where a law firm were attorneys for three railroads, one became congressman. He got a new United States district court created, one partner became judge, the other became clerk and the congressman represented all three corporations at Washington.

All Oregon people remember the frantic efforts a few years ago made by Senator Duff to have his brother made federal judge to succeed the late Judge Deady, although the man proposed to fill that great jurist's seat on the bench was about a third-rate lawyer. A fight was made on him by a small newspaper and he was defeated. Then the political boss of Oregon was proposed and a general protest went up from the people and President Harrison appointed Judge Gilbert, of Portland. There has never been any direct evidence that Judge Gilbert or Hanford were mere dummy judges stuck up to deceive the public and for corporation wreckers to shield themselves behind. If Judge Hanford will now compel Payne et al to make a showing to the public of the receipts and disbursements at their hands as receivers, and make Receiver Burleigh show every month how much money is taken in and how much is paid out, he will render a great public service.

Damon and Pythias.

This great historical drama to be given under the auspices of Central Lodge No. 18 Knights of Pythias and directorship of Prof. Wm. Rasmus in honor of the grand lodge meeting to be held in this city on the evenings of the 9th and 10th inst. is the finest of historical dramas. The Spokane Chronicle speaking of Prof. Rasmus delineation of the character of Damon in comparison with Ward, James, O'Neil and other actors of national reputation says: "His conception of the part is of the very best, his acting in the senate scene of the second act being especially fine. Not indulging in the slightest degree of ranting but perfectly natural yet extremely dramatic. The Calanthe of Mrs. Wm. Rasmus is one that cannot but win the heartiest words of praise. The balance of the cast is made up of the very best local talent, and the Knights of Pythias assure the public a rare dramatic treat."

A CHURCH DEDICATION.

Sunday Salem Baptists dedicates a new and enlarged house of worship. There is hardly a three-month passes by that this city of churches does not open a new or improved house of religious worship. This speaks well for our city, and is a just cause of pride to any community. THE JOURNAL believes in churches and schools. This is a trite saying, but in the case of a newspaper it is almost a matter of business to say so, and to back up the saying with a contribution. So not a church goes up that THE JOURNAL as an intelligent newspaper does not cheerfully give to the extent it is able. From $5.00 to $25.00 has gone into every new church erected in the county and we believe it to be a good business investment. Churches mean homes and families. The church is supported by them. It may get support from population other than households, but we may say churches are composed of families, and families are the backbone, the substance of the community. Families read newspapers and Christian families are the bone and new of society and the state.

An established church with an established pastor, is entitled to the support of all intelligent business and professional men, as a matter of conservative business judgment. The pastor should be a resident, a citizen, whose life and incomes and outgoings are part of the life of the community. He should be a man of some means and above small impecuniosities, able to put his services and his opinions above the reach of pecuniary bias, even of his supporters. He should be an independent man and a business man. We do not mean that he should put his services on a business footing or that he should put business before principles of religion—he should not—but he should pay his bills, avoid jehing or deadbeating because he is a minister. Such a man, performing all his duties as a citizen,
