IN FOREIGN FIELDS.

Cause of Admiral Kirkland's Recall.

HIS LETTER TO PRESIDENT FAURE

Reprimanded for Congratulating the French President.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A Washington special says: Rear-Admiral Kirkland's troubles arose from congratulating President Faure, of France, on his election, which Secretary Herbert thought improper, and for making uncomplimentary remarks about American missionaries in Syria and Armenia. Also for an insult to the naval chaplain at the Kiel ceremonies, and for commenting on persons and affairs. Admiral Kirkland has sailed from Gibraltar for Algiers in his flagship, the San Francisco.

The announcement that he had been detached created a sensation in naval circles. It is expected he will apply to be placed on the retired list. For some time past it has been rumored that Secretary Herbert was not pleased with the conduct of the admiral. Secretary Herbert construed Admiral Kirkland's letter of congratulation to President Faure, of France, as entirely wrong, believing that the official position of the admiral representing the dignity of the United States navy in European waters precluded him from making any comment whatever with reference to French politics, and sent a letter of reprimand. The admiral appealed to the president to over-rule Secretary Herbert's strictures on his conduct, claiming that he had known Faure personally, and he had congratulated him in the capacity of an individual, not as an officer of the United States navy. The action of the president is not known, but the detachment of the admiral indicates that Mr. Cleveland sustained the secretary's ruling.

Admiral Kirkland next came into public notice through a newspaper interview in which he made somewhat insulting comments on the character of American missionaries in Syria, to whom he had been sent to give protection during the Armenian troubles. A protest from religious organizations was sent to the navy department. Following this second cause of dissatisfaction came a complaint from a chaplain in the navy that the admiral had insulted him during the festivities at the opening of the Kiel canal, where Admiral Kirkland commanded the United States fleet. The chaplain claimed that while with Admiral Kirkland and a group of officers on the deck of the flagship San Francisco, the commandant turned to the chaplain and ordered him below, in a brusque if not insulting manner, as he was not attired in full dress uniform. The chaplain in his letter to the navy department represented that the chaplains have only one regulation uniform, which serves for all occasions, and he therefore, believed himself very badly used. It is said that Secretary Herbert sided with the chaplain in his complaint, but it is not known whether he took official action upon it.

Other reports reached the navy department of a more personal nature, and after making a thorough inquiry and consulting the president, Admiral Kirkland was relieved. He will probably receive the news by cable at Algiers. While the recall is, of course, uncomplimentary to the admiral, there is not disposition at the department to belittle his record as a sailor. Admiral Kirkland had not long to serve on the active list, but it is believed he will apply for retirement without delay.

THE WOMAN REPORTER

Is Again Recalled in the Durrant Trial.

SHE SECURED SOME INFORMATION

That All the Other Reporters Were Unable to Get.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—In the Durrant trial this morning Miss Carrie Cunningham, a newspaper reporter, was called. She testified that August 18 Durrant told her that while he was repairing the suburners he looked through a crack in the wall and saw Blanche Lamont on the second landing of the belfry. Dr. Mays was called to rebut the testimony of the preceding witnesses on hallucinations of women and effects of gas.

ANOTHER WITNESS.

E. A. Glaser, a student of the medical college, testified that on the afternoon of April 10, Durrant asked him to read aloud his notes of Dr. Cheney's lecture. Glaser said he read his notes to Durrant who devoted an hour, to writing in his own notebook. Defense tried to show that it was customary for students to compare notes, but Glaser said that Durrant read nothing that purported to be his own notes.

Thomas Price, a chemist, was called to give testimony on two or three points at issue. He was asked practically in what condition a man would be who had breathed illuminating gas for the length of time Durrant said he was working over the sun burner. To illustrate the question, which was hypothetical in form, a blackboard drawing, made by Durrant himself, was used, in which Durrant was shown lying at full length on a plank, with his head over a sunburner comprising 24 ordinary gas jets, through which gas was flowing under half force. The witness said a man would be unconscious in five minutes—the length of time Durrant said he was engaged as work over the burner. Professor Price was also asked about the dark stain on the sole of Rev. Gittson's shoe, which he found in the pastor's study at the church. The defense made a fight against the question but the court overruled the objection.

From the present outlook, the case will go to the jury not later than the close of next week. District Attorney Barnes says all of the rebuttal testimony will be introduced tomorrow, and as the defense has no more witnesses, the arguments will begin Thursday. It is expected that Assistant District Attorney Peixoto will open for the prosecution, and will be followed by General Dickinson or Judge Thompson for the defense. It is now believed that Attorney Deuprey will not again appear in the case, as his physicians give little hope of his speedy recovery.

Charles Morrison and James Cooper, newspaper men, told of an interview they had with Durrant in the city prison the night of his arrest. Both witnesses testified that Durrant said he arrived at the church, April 3, between 4 and 4:30 in the afternoon. This testimony conflicts with the statement Durrant now makes, to the effect that he did not arrive at the church until 5 o'clock. Morrison and Cooper, who were present at the interview between Reporter Marshall and Detective Gibson, also testified that it was untrue, as alleged by Marshall, that Gibson said he saw the print of a No. 8, or No. 9 shoe in the belfry near where Blanche Lamont's body was found.

MISSISSIPPI SENATORSHIP.

Four Silver Men Claim the Lead in the Race.

JACKSON, MISS., Oct. 23.—Col. H. D. Money, candidate for United States Senator, said yesterday that he had seen no evidence of the silver craze dying out, and that no advocate of the free coinage of silver had changed his stand in the past few months, so far as he was able to discover. Col. Money thinks his chances for the Senate good, and his friends aver that he has more instructed vote than the other candidates.

Col. Lowrey, Private John Allen and Col. Hooker, all claim the lead. Gov. Stone, the only "sound money" candidate in the race, is without hope, and will not receive six votes in the caucus.

THE GRACIOUS GROVER

ON THE ATLANTA EXPOSITION.

The Man Who Is Wiping Out Sectional Issues.

ATLANTA, Oct. 23.—At 11 o'clock the president was driven to the exposition grounds, where he reviewed the military, delivered a brief address, held a public reception, and made a tour of the buildings. Tonight he will be tendered a reception at the Capital City Club, and at midnight will leave for Washington.

This is President's day at the great cotton exposition. The city is crowded with visitors. The presidential party was driven to the exposition grounds without any parade whatever. Inside gates the troops were reviewed by the president from a stand in front of the government building. After the review the president was introduced by President Collier of the exposition company, who referred to him as the man entrusted with the duty of wiping out sectional issues and lines. The president's appearance at the front of the stand was a signal for an outburst of applause from the multitude.

HOW HE FEELS.

Mr. Cleveland was in evident good humor and bowed responses to the continuous ovation he received all the way to his hotel. Secretary Carlisle, who, with Mrs. Carlisle, rode in the second carriage, was cheered frequently, and Mr. Smith, who found himself on his native heath, was given a hearty reception. At the Aragon, the party was made comfortable until 8 p. m.

At that hour the ladies were escorted to the Grand opera-house, where they were the guests of Mrs. Hoke Smith at a box party to see Rice's "1492." Their presence and the array of cabinet representatives caused the house to be packed. At 9 p. m. the president and his cabinet officers sat down in the Aragon banquet hall to a dinner tendered in their honor by Hon. Porter King, mayor of Atlanta. Covers were laid for 80, including the exposition officials, the city council, the visiting governors and other distinguished citizens. The city is congested with visitors tonight, and the superb weather that has prevailed so far insures an attendance of 100,000 visitors tomorrow.

CLEVELAND SPEAKS.

Mr. Cleveland said what he was about him was the outgrowth of another exposition, inaugurated on American soil more than a century ago, when a new nation was exhibited to the world. He dwelt upon the importance of united co-operation in support and protection of our government. In conclusion he suggested as the most important lesson taught by this occasion the absolute necessity to our national health and welfare, and consequently to our individual happiness as citizens, of careful discrimination in our support of the policies and in our advocacy of the political doctrines between those which prompt the promotion of the public welfare and those which simply seem to serve selfish or sectional interests.

Hung and Labelled.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23.—A special to the Starr from Oklahoma, says: Two members of Wyatt's band of desperadoes, Jim Umbra and Mexican John, stole fifty cattle from B. H. Chapman. The cowboys closed in on the desperadoes fifteen miles from Cantonment and after a fusillade with bullets, the bandits surrendered. The cowboys hung the two men to the first tree. A label was attached to their clothing, warning other members of the band to quit this work or suffer the same penalty.

Law and Order Sustained.

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 23.—The supreme court today rendered a decision in the Corbett case. Judge Leathman's decision was reversed and the prize fight law sustained. Corbett was remanded back to the custody of the sheriff of Garland county. Chief Justice Gunn, in delivering his opinion, severely criticized Chancellor Leathman, saying he had no authority for his action in the habeas corpus case.

Jack Dempsey Dying.

PORTLAND, Oct. 23.—Jack Dempsey, the Nonpareil, from whom Fitzsimmons won his title to the middle-weight championship of the world, is dying of consumption at his home in this city, 380 Grand avenue. The dread disease fastened itself upon him during his last Eastern tour, which commenced about 18 months ago, and when he returned home last July his physician, Dr. Harry Lane, pronounced his case hopeless. Other physicians of note were consulted, but all agreed with Dr. Lane that the noted ring general might live a few months, but his case must terminate fatally.

Bayard Denies.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The United States embassy this afternoon issued a statement regarding the dispatches from New York published by the London Times, saying that United States Ambassador Bayard had had an interview of an unpleasant nature with the Marquis of Salisbury on the Venezuela question. The embassy asserts that Bayard had no communication, written or verbal, from the British foreign office, or from the Marquis of Salisbury, which could be classed as unpleasant, or in any way justifying the statements contained in the dispatch referred to.
