

THE BEST PIPE TOBACCO.

THE GREAT HUDSONY. Over 2,000 private endorsements.

Advertisement for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, featuring a bottle illustration.

Advertisement for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, featuring a bottle illustration.

Advertisement for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, featuring a bottle illustration.

Advertisement for 'The Queen of Fashion' magazine, featuring a woman in a dress.

Advertisement for 'Manly Vigor' medicine, featuring a man in a suit.

THE CHEMAWA SCHOOL. Additional Information Concerning That Institution and Its Management.

SALEM INDIAN SCHOOL, CHEMAWA, Or., Nov. 1, 1895. Hon. Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Hunter (farmer) says: I began farming when 7 years old, about, and worked on the farm until I went into the army at the age of 15 years.

Question—Did you do any work after that? Answer—After the war I worked my father's farm one year. Later I worked for Mr. Gilman, of Nebraska City, a friend of Mr. Rakestraw's about a year.

Question—Have you ever done any farming west of the Cascade mountains? Answer—None but what I have done since coming here.

SALEM INDIAN SCHOOL, CHEMAWA, Or., March 8, 1895. Hon. D. M. Browning, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Washington, D. C.

Advertisement for 'Manly Vigor' medicine, featuring a man in a suit.

position of farmer. The seasons west of the Cascade mountains, and the crops raised, are as different from those in the East, and it takes a year or two of experience for a farmer who is not familiar with them, to become proficient and successful in farming.

From the appended statements, it seems that another reason for shortage in the food and clothing supply is Mr. Rakestraw's economical management, by which he was enabled to build the new barn, of which he boasted to the reporter on the occasion of the second visit to Chemawa.

During the time Supervisor Rakestraw had charge of the Indian school at Chemawa, after Mr. Parker was removed, and prior to Mr. Chalcraft being placed in charge, the school barn was burned. Upon the testimony of two tramps who happened to be passing, he represented to the department that it caught fire by a passing engine, which owing to the distance of the barn from the railroad, is impossible.

Mr. Rakestraw's economy seems to be at the expense of the children's comfort and health. By denying and depriving them of necessary articles, he is enabled to make a fine showing as a superior manager of such institutions, and glories in his prestige a such, while the children suffer the consequences.

Hood's is Wonderful. No less than two hundred are the cures accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparil and physicians' prescriptions have failed.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. The delightful Chicago children's magazine, just the thing to read to the little ones of the home-circle.

Advertisement for 'Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria' featuring a child and a bottle.

CHANGING PIANISTS. An Incident Performance That Proved Interesting. "As interesting as anything I've seen in this town," said a visitor to the play, "was a change of pianists that I saw in a variety theater. There was a man on the stage playing a piano, and the pianist was playing the wrong instrument. He played the piano, and I looked in that direction myself and saw coming down the aisle a man that I judged must be the relief pianist, and he came on. I thought that he would sit down for a moment and wait, but, dear me, I was very slow.

Some Differences. Mr. Skidmore (severely)—John, Mr. Jones tells me you thrashed his son shamefully today—is that true? John—No, sir. Mr. Skidmore—Then what did Jones mean by telling me that? "He just made a mistake. I didn't thrash Jim Jones shamefully. I walked him beautifully."—Harper's Bazar.

Harmony at Any Cost. If the convicts at Sing Sing were permitted to welcome the new arrivals, and if they desired to continue the harmony suggested by the name of the famous penal institution, their words of greeting would probably take a form similar to these: "Let us learn to respect each other's convictions."—New York Herald.

Will Not Perform Miracles But It Will Cure. DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE cures nervous prostration. Not miraculously, but scientifically, by first removing the germs of disease, and then supplying healthy nerve food, increasing the appetite, helping digestion and strengthening the entire system.

Advertisement for 'Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine' featuring a portrait of a man.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. The best 16-page illustrated fashion magazine of New York free for one year.

Advertisement for 'The Child Garden' magazine featuring a child and a bottle.

Advertisement for 'Castoria' for infants and children, listing various ailments it treats.

Advertisement for 'Five Prizes' from 'The Farm News' magazine, featuring a hand pointing to a list of prizes.

Advertisement for 'The Toledo Blade' newspaper, highlighting its national reach.

Advertisement for 'Queen of Fashions' magazine, offering sample copies.

Advertisement for 'The Child Garden' magazine, offering sample copies.

Advertisement for 'The Toledo Blade' newspaper, highlighting its national reach.

Advertisement for 'The Toledo Blade' newspaper, highlighting its national reach.

Advertisement for 'Through Tickets EAST!' via the Union Pacific System, listing routes to Chicago, Boise & Barker, and Northern Pacific R.R.

Advertisement for 'Through Tickets' to the East, listing routes to Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and other eastern cities.

Advertisement for 'Through Tickets' to the East, listing routes to Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and other eastern cities.

Advertisement for 'O. R. & N. Co.' featuring 'The Farm News' magazine.

Advertisement for 'The Toledo Blade' newspaper, highlighting its national reach.

Advertisement for 'The Toledo Blade' newspaper, highlighting its national reach.

Advertisement for 'The Toledo Blade' newspaper, highlighting its national reach.