POLITICIANS SCARED

May Be an Extra Session of the Legislature

TO CUT APPROPRIATIONS

And to Reduce State and County Salaries.

Senator Bancroft, of Portland, arrived in the city Saturday with Senator Patterson and Governor Lord. His mission was to talk up an extra session of the legislature.

From conversations he had with leading Republicans in this city it is evident that the Portland politicians are getting scared and want to reduce appropriations and pass salary reform bills to cut down state and county officials, as was promised in the last state and county platforms, and to enable the state and county boards to levy lower rates of taxes.

The ground that was lost by the bad record of the last legislature they think could be recovered in a short extra session where the main measures of heroic reform only would be considered.

Senator Bancroft is the trusted representative of the old Portland machine. He was a member of the appropriation committee last winter, and wanted them to cut off the normal schools, orphans' homes and homes for fallen women. But on other subjects of retrenchment like the railroad commission, state boards, and commissions generally the senate generally was indifferent.

Senator Patterson nor Governor Lord made the visiting senators any promises to favor a special session.

GOVERNOR LORD is opposed to, and reluctant about calling an extra session of the legislature, but admits that a number of large tax payers have spoken to him in favor of a session to emphasize the needs of greater economy in the state government. Bancroft made quite an impression on the governor, as he has known him for a long time and is on the warmest terms of friendship with him.

APPROPRIATION BILLS. Bills for the appropriation of the public moneys ought to be submitted to you early in the session so as to afford opportunity for the members to carefully examine and pass upon them, and not be left to the hurried consideration that marks the closing scenes.

The U. S. Gov't Reports show Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

upon its own merits; there will be afforded the executive an opportunity to interpose any objection that he may have to the appropriation without delaying the passage of appropriations that are unobjectionable or meritorious, and thus put in practice that wise principle incorporated in the constitutions of some states, which allows the executive to veto single items or appropriations in a general appropriation bill.

SENATOR PATTERSON in reply to the question of holding a special session said there was a demand for a reduction in public expenditures all around to the same scale, to which people were reduced in their private affairs. If there was any way in which a special session could bring about such reductions, he believed the people would justify calling one.

SPEAKER MOORES was seen and said he did not see how the legislature could guarantee to the people that it would not pass any new appropriations. If a majority of the members would give a pledge to that effect a special session might accomplish some good.

A PROMINENT TAXPAYER was seen to get his views. He said: "The principal advantage of a special session would be to call attention to the condition of things in the country and to impress upon all the demand for a reduction. The same men would assemble who were here last winter, and not much could be expected of them."

Democrat State Convention. Mr. David W. Sears, chairman, and Napoleon Davis, secretary, of the democratic state central committee, have issued the following call for the next democratic state convention:

"The democratic state central committee, at its meeting held at Portland, Or., January 7, 1896, determined upon the representation of the democratic state convention, to be held at the city of Portland on Thursday, April 9, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., should be as follows: One delegate at large from each county, and one delegate for each 100 votes and each fraction of 50 votes or over cast for Hon. A. S. Bennett for supreme judge at the last regular election, which appointment would be as follows:

"The state convention will nominate one candidate for the office of supreme judge, one candidate for congress from each congressional district and candidates for such other state and district offices as may be required under the law; will select eight delegates and eight alternates to the national Democrat convention and nominate four candidates for presidential electors.

All persons interested in a united and vigorous effort to reduce extravagant public expenditures in every department of city, county and state government are earnestly invited to co-operate with the Democratic party. It is apparent to every fair-minded citizen that the great demand of the times is immediate and radical reduction of such public expenditures, the election of practical men of affairs to public office and to the end that this reform shall be effective and efficient a legislature must be chosen that will repeal obnoxious laws and that will not repeat the extravagant appropriations of the last two legislatures of this state."

SECESSION IN HAWAII

Island of Hawaii Wants to Set Up for Herself.

THE DOLE GOVERNMENT.

Queen Lil Backed by England—Wants to Be Restored.

SAN FRANCISCO JAN. 13.—Special correspondence of the Associated Press from Honolulu by steamer Australia, dated Jan. 6th, states that the Island of Hawaii is meditating secession from the Hawaiian government and the formation of its own government.

When the legislature meets next month the secession movement will be brought up. If Hawaii should decide to form their own government nothing but outside interference could prevent.

The Dole government would be powerless, as Hawaii is more thickly populated than any other island of the group. Friends of the ex-queen are anxious for war between England and the United States, believing that in the event of such hostilities England would seize the Hawaiian Islands and restore Queen Lilioukalani.
