

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of COUNTY ASSESSOR subject to the will of the county Republican convention.

J. A. VAN EATON.

HIGH SCHOOL APPROPRIATIONS.

The Roseburg Plaiddealer is firmly opposed to the legislature appropriating a dollar to aid high schools. But if the appropriation be made, every normal school should be treated alike. If Monmouth and Weston be aided Drain and Ashland should get an equal share, according to the population of the county in which the school is situated. We object to aiding these schools for the reason that, practically, the few are benefited at the expense of the many. That is an injustice, and no species of argument can be made to justify it. If the thousands of dollars which have been recklessly squandered on the Monmouth and Weston normals, the state university and the agricultural college, had been made to the irreducible school fund it would have benefited every boy and girl of school age in the state, in the way of popular education; whereas the money given those institutions has been for the benefit mostly of the sons and daughters of men who are abundantly able to educate them themselves. Take up the catalogue of any of those institutions and examine it and you will find not less than 60 per cent of the students are residents of the county in which the school is situated.

And, further, you will not find more than 5 per cent are residents of counties remote from the school. And yet every taxpayer in the state pays an equal per centum to aid those schools.

Still further, those who attend those schools from a distance are of well-to-do parents who can afford to incur the incidental expenses of those excellent schools which the poorer and less fortunate neighbors help support. We claim still further that the state has no constitutional right to aid a boy or girl beyond that provided for in the public school. If anyone desires a higher education, which is commendable in any young person, let him get it at his own expense. He gets its full benefits. Let him pay for it, and not tax his neighbor to aid him.

GIVE US MORE BARKLEY'S.

Gone to seed! Well we should say it had. When party spirit in the Portland Oregonian must slur a man like Elder Barkley, who was quietly and peaceably attending the Republican club convention, it is getting down too low to be respected. Elder Barkley was a member of the last legislature. He is a clean-handed, incorruptible Christian gentleman, who made a splendid record there.

If Oregon had more men in the legislature and in public office like Barkley we would have better laws and better government. It is time Republican papers quit bounding decent men because they will not worship a dirty machine. They have no man to cope with Barkley for a minute. He led the canvass in Marion county two years ago and led the ticket in popular vote. Give us more men like Barkley.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gauder, man of Dinon, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at River Junction she was brought down with pneumonia, succumbing to La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little intermission and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in result." Trial bottles free at Fred A. Lyon's Drug Store. Regular size 50 cents, and $1.00.

MEN of ALL AGES

Quickly, thoroughly, forever cured. Four out of five who suffer from nervous, mental, or physical ailments, are but paying the penalty of early exposure. Victims, reclaim your manhood, regain your vigor. Don't despair. Send for book with explanation and proofs. Mailed (sealed) free.

SENATOR CLARK TALKS.

Gives a Little History on the Money Question.

Sir, in discussing the policy of this government on the subject of silver, and the competency and incompetency of parties and persons as manifested in legislation, the celebrated and very illomened Sherman Act arises to our view at every step. I speak with habitual respect of the senator from Ohio, but never before in the history of the world did a member of parliamentary body find himself compelled to turn, as he did, on his offspring and assist in putting it to death. It stood openly confessed as an unnatural monster by the very author of its being. It was neither a friend to silver nor to any other form of sound money, and did not even pretend to be. It was a disturber of the financial peace of the country and a standing menace to permanent business prosperity.

I do not cite this act now, however, for the purpose of dwelling upon it at any length, nor to hold it up as an evidence of the wisdom or the unwisdom, the competency or the incompetency, of the senator from Ohio, or of his superior qualifications to sit as a censor on the mental capacity of other people in matters of financial legislation. I allude to this most discreditable act in our legislative history for the purpose of showing the clear, explicit, and unequivocal position which this government assumed in regard to the coinage and use of gold and silver both, as standard money, only a little more than two years ago. The act repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman Act is composed of only three sentences, and two of them read as follows:

And it is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States to continue the use of both gold and silver as standard money, and to coin both gold and silver into money of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, such equality to be secured through international agreement, or by such safeguards of legislation as will insure the maintenance of the parity in value of the coins of the two metals, and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts. And it is hereby further declared that the efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of such a safe system of bimetallicism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States in the markets and in the payment of debts.

How like the bugle notes of the constitution and the laws as enacted and interpreted by the fathers of the republic these utterances salute our ears! The policy here declared received the sanction of both houses of congress, and was approved by the executive on the 1st day of November, 1893. There it stands, and there it will stand forever. The doctrines therein contained have been indorsed and upheld by all the great names in American history from George Washington to Abraham Lincoln. Illustrations of the policy have differed on all things else; but on the one great cardinal question of the coinage and use of both the precious metals as standard money no differences have ever existed until since the creation of a vast national debt and the hungry, insatiable demands of a powerful creditor class. Jackson, Clay, Adams and Crawford were all in the field as rivals for the presidency in 1834, and antagonized each other on every other issue except the greatest of them all—the bimetallic specie basis for all our currency.

On this question no sound of disagreement was heard between them. General Harrison, with the battlefields of Tippecanoe and the Thamus behind him, defeated Martin Van Buren in 1840 on a cry of hard times and disordered finances, but there was no note of discord between parties then as to the soundness or unsoundness of either silver or gold. Lincoln and Douglas in their well-known contests debated almost every proposition that could arise under our constitution, but they never found any disagreement on the subject of the two metals. Webster and Calhoun strained the very existence of the government itself by their discussions in this body, but they stood united at every step in support of the policy of the United States to continue the coinage and use of both silver and gold as standard money. The glaof other days were all one way on this question, irrespective of party politics, just as the people, the great body of the laboring and business masses, are today, if a fair and direct chance were given them to settle it. Not a single citizen of the United States, of any party, creed, or persuasion can ever be benefited by the banishment of silver, its degradation and destruction, unless he is the owner and holder of idle money which he desires to invest in cheap labor or property at half its value, or loan at usurious rates of interest.

Sir, there is one other point in the record of parties on this subject which I can not pass over in silence. In the great and successful campaign of 1892 the Democratic party went before the country on a plain and explicit platform of principles. The Chicago convention which nominated the present very able and patriotic Executive, and the American people, who supported and elected him, stood on the following declaration of perfect faith in both the precious metals:

We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against either metal, or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage for both metals must be of equal intrinsic or exchangeable value, be adjusted through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the market and in the payment of debts; and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for the protection of the farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and a fluctuating currency.

Who sir on this side of the chamber dissents now from this great landmark of financial truth? I know of no one. From the days of my youth I have marched and fought with the Democratic party, and I expect to do so to the end. I found no difficulty in standing on the national platform of my party in 1892, and find none now. We need no further for harmony, union and strength than its re-adoption in 1896. It is broad and explicit enough to insure the coinage and use of both metals as standard money, and on equal terms, while every possible guaranty is given for their parity and for their equal power in the payment of debts. The spirit of concession and compromise also presides over every relation of society and every function of government. It was present every moment during the construction of the constitution, and has guided the wisest counsels of paries and of the government ever since. I invoke its benignant presence at this time whenever discord prevails.

Dr. PIERCE'S Golden Medical DISCOVERY

Cures Ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of Consumption, in all its Earlier Stages.

Although by many believed to be incurable, there is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its earlier stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent. are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness. Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpassed in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsions" and mixtures had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in vain. The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering cough, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 160 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. Address: For Book, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

GLANCE AT THIS MAP.

Of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway and notes its connection with all transcontinental lines at St. Paul and Omaha, and remember when going east that the trains are lighted with electricity and heated by steam. Its equipment is superb. Elegant Buffet, library, smoking and sleeping cars, with first class electric reading lamp, and its dining cars are the best in the world. Other lines are longer than this, but none are shorter, and no other offers the above various accommodations. These are sufficient reasons for the popularity of "The Milwaukee." ## GODEY'S MAGAZINE.

(ESTABLISHED 1830)

Volume CXXXII begins January, 1896. During 1896 Godey's Magazine will contain:

TALKS WITH SUCCESSFUL WOMEN.

Valuable hints about various branches of industry which are open to women, by women who have succeeded in them.
MUSIC IN AMERICA.
Discussions of musical subjects or people. Illustrated each month with portrait, vignettes, and one or more pages of music. This music alone will make a valuable collection. This series is a unique feature among monthly magazines. The papers are interesting to all readers, and are of positive value to those who play or sing.

THE STAGE.
Illustrated articles upon the best and newest plays and the foremost actors, particularly the best American productions. These are much more than gossip of players. They are entertaining discussions of the drama that are talked about. Such treatment is not found in any other magazine.

ILLUSTRATION.
The Magazine will be well and thoroughly illustrated from cover to cover. Competent artists and novelists are employed in making and printing the plates will be employed.

THE COVERS.
The covers are different every month. They are designed by popular artists, and the cover for a year will be valuable as an art collection in themselves.

THE FASHION DEPARTMENT. which for years has given the latest fads and fashions, is of particular interest to women.
A HOME MAGAZINE.
Godey's is a magazine of this country and of to-day. It is a family magazine, with a larger scope than it had as the "Lady's Book." It is monthly feast of wholesome, interesting reading, fit for every member of the household.

In addition to the features mentioned above each number will contain a liberal amount of fiction, by the best writers, articles on subjects of general interest, book reviews, etc., etc.

Subscriptions, $1.00 a year.

Send ten cent for a sample copy. None free.

To Our Subscribers.

A SPECIAL OFFER.

We take subscriptions, at a club rate, to all the Magazines in the country, in connection with the Capital Journal.
Among the highest priced and well edited publications is the New England Magazine, which, with all the features of general interest of the other great illustrated monthlies, has, besides, its own specialty in which it is unrivalled. As its name implies, this is the history and literature of New England. To those of New England birth or origin, therefore, it is especially welcome, and a year's subscription makes a perfect present. What ever else you yourself take, you want the New England Magazine. $3 per year. Clubbed with this paper, $2.50. Sample free.
