The Fight at Eugene.

There was much strife and contention, and a great deal of bitter feeling was manifested. Mr. Dorris made a bitter fight against the A. P. A. and brought to task sharply by his opponents, who seemed as fertile as he in resources. Circulars were distributed on the streets denouncing the old school board, Professor Reid and the so-called "school machine;" also,

IN PORTLAND.-The school election at Portland excites much comment at Salem. It is understood here to mean the defeat of Joseph Simon in local politics. It probably means that votes have been counted and that Mr. Hume and his friends and the anti-Dolph Republicans are in the majority. It means the downfall of the Simon-Dolph machine.
