TALK ON THE TARIFF.

The Liberal party has just carried the day in Canada for freer trade relations with the United States.

We copy the following from the Schuyler, Neb., Quill, an independent paper. It seems to tell some truth:

"The Quill claims that a tariff on wheat does no good and was only put on to 'fool the farmer.' If the Quill thinks it doesn't do any good let him ask one who has lived in any of those states along the Canadian border, where there are vast fields of wheat, and he will find out that every farmer there knows that a tariff is an advantage by keeping out the Canadian wheat, with which he would otherwise have to compete."—Sun.

The tariff advocate in this western country has a hard time explaining how the farmer is benefited by the tariff and the above is a sample of one effort, but the farmer who figures a little takes no stock in it.

Let us look this wheat business square in the face and size up all sides. Liverpool, England, is the grain market of the world and there the price fixed, not only for Canada, but for the United States as well. Every one knows the difference in prices of wheat in Liverpool and New York is the cost of transportation and cost (or profit) of handling. The difference between New York and Chicago prices is the same, between Chicago and Omaha ditto, and between Omaha and Schuyler also the same. It is also known that with the vast wheat fields of India, Russia, and South America, as well as other countries, the product of the United States cuts no great figure. Whether we have a large crop or small crop makes little or no difference in price. Our farmers have realized that.

With the same causes regulating the prices in Canada as in the United States what difference does it make to this country if the people of the Canadian border do market their wheat in the United States? Why if there was no tariff on wheat and the entire product of the dominion was marketed here it would not cut the price, as it would simply be shipped with our surplus abroad. If the tariff on wheat was taken off it would not cause any difference to result in price, but it would be a benefit as it would give our grain dealers that much more business and our railroads and boats that much more traffic.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

IT MEANS WIDE-SPREAD PANIC.

But One Result of Adopting the Silver Standard.

KANSAS CITY, June 24.—President Ripley, of the Santa Fe railway system, left for Chicago last night, after transacting several items of business here. President Ripley's name has been connected with several anticipated railroad deals, which, in an interview, he stated were erroneous.

"There will be not one unnecessary wheel turned from now on until after the election," he said; "so far as the Santa Fe is concerned, there never will be an unnecessary wheel turned."

Asked about the effect of the financial question about to be submitted, Mr. Ripley said:

"If, as the free-silver advocates themselves claim, free silver will raise the price of the product and labor, the railways will have to raise the charges accordingly. Furthermore, if we are to receive 50 cents in place of $1, the railroads will be driven into confusion and bankruptcy. I can see but one result from a carrying of the country for free silver. It is plainly in front of all thinking men and all business men as a settled result of a certain proposition, if the proposition carries. The proposal is to revolutionize the money basis, in the face of the world. If it carries it will be followed instantly by a wide-spread panic and havoc blacker and more disastrous than any business calamity that ever swept America. The situation which now confronts railway managers and the managers of great investments and capital is waiting for the settlement of these tremendous questions and the wiping out of the menace against their property and money."

The above threat of a corporation politician that "there will never be an unnecessary wheel turned," until after election, shows to what lengths the stock-watering fraternity of our bankrupted railroads will go to force the single gold standard upon the country. Give the railway managers unlimited power to issue securities, and sell them to foreign capitalists, and every American railway will pass out of American hands. That is what Mr. Ripley is contending for. While most of the big American railroads are mortgaged and stocked to twice their value, and the people are expected to pay freights and fares on all this capitalized property, the roads themselves are in receivers' hands by extravagant management. Russia, Mexico, Japan and silver using countries are building railroads while that industry is paralyzed in this country. Verily we need to turn our politics and our government over to the corporation inflationist!

The Fifty-Cent Dollar. The gold standard man, to bolster up his argument to a person not well acquainted with the money question, is forever saying: "Silver standard countries like Japan and Mexico are put to a disadvantage in their trade with foreign countries on a gold standard, in which the latter countries are able to use silver which costs nearly fifty per cent less than it did in 1873 in payment for the products of silver standard countries practically paying only half as much in their money for the products of silver standard countries as they paid in 1873." The purpose of this is of course to show that countries on a gold standard have an advantage in dealing with countries on a silver standard.

The moment a product is in excess of the demand of the country in which it goes to be sold fixes its price. The home demand has nothing to do with it then. To illustrate: The price of Oregon wheat is determined by the consumption abroad for we have an excess of wheat over home consumption and it goes to Liverpool for a market. There a price is fixed and it is sold. Its value is measured in gold, that being the standard of the market in which it is sold. The wheat can purchase any other commodity but the seller prefers to exchange it for gold. He brings his gold to Oregon and pays his debts with it on the gold basis. The Jap or Mexican does exactly the same thing but when he pays his debts he has just $2 to do it with where the Oregonian had $1 if the statement of the gold standard man quoted above, is correct. This difference is simply the appreciation of gold due to its selection as the sole debasing power. Measured in products, it has as states appreciated about 100 per cent.—McMinnville, T. R.
