

A Broad Minded Divine.
EVERYONE IN SYRACUSE KNOWS
REV. S. R. CALTHROP.

A Scholarly, Christian Man and a Beloved Pastor, Who Believes in Training the Body as Well as the Mind.

REV. DR. CALTHROP, SYRACUSE, N. Y.
The Twenty-ninth day of April is a notable day in the history of the May Memorial Church in Syracuse, as it is the anniversary of the installation of the Rev. S. R. Calthrop, D. D., the eminent divine who so long has ministered to them as pastor of the Church.
Dr. Calthrop was born in England and received his preparatory scholastic training at St. Paul's School, London. Entering Trinity College, Cambridge, he soon became a student of that brilliant center of science, literary men and writers that followed in the traditions of Macaulay and his associates at the university. In the middle of the century he visited Syracuse and received the warmest impressions of the young city. He returned a score of years later he was to choose as his home and in which his labors have been so long and effective. The mastery of the English language, the scientific method of study, the literary and scientific attainments of the most highly cultured men of his day in the city.
Dr. Calthrop has a striking personality. His face is a most picturesque figure. His eyes are blue, framed in luxuriant masses of silky, snow white hair and beard, are the type of Bryant and Longfellow. Although over seventy years old, his rather spare figure is firm and erect, and every movement is active and graceful. His whole life long he has been an ardent admirer and promoter of athletic sports, and even at his advanced age, plays tennis with all the vigor and skill of a young man. To Syracuseans, perhaps, this remarkably versatile man is most widely known, apart from his profession, as a scientist.
On a bright April morning a reporter followed the winding driveway that curves around the hill leads to Calthrop Lodge, an old-fashioned, red brick mansion, surrounded by a grove of oaks and chestnuts. Wearing a black skull cap and a black coat of semi-heraldic cut, the master of Calthrop Lodge graciously received the reporter who called to inquire about his health, for though usually representing all possible evidences of his suffering, Dr. Calthrop for many years has been the victim of a distressing affliction, until by fortunate chance he was led to take the remedy which has effectually cured him.
During more than half of his pastorate in Syracuse, Dr. Calthrop has been troubled with rheumatism, and at intervals he suffered excruciating agony from it. At times the pain was so great as to prevent him from walking. Many remedies were tried without success, and he and his friends had given up hope of a permanent cure or of more than temporary relief when he took the preparation that drove the disease completely from his system.
In a letter written to the editor of The Evening News, of Syracuse, last year, Dr. Calthrop told of his affliction and its cure. This is Dr. Calthrop's letter:
To the Editor of The Evening News—Dear Sir: More than thirty-five years ago I was afflicted with a swelling of the knee joint. It was so severe that I was unable to walk. I tried many remedies, but all failed. I was almost blind with pain. I was in a state of great affliction, until by fortunate chance he was led to take the remedy which has effectually cured him.
This made me lame for years, and from time to time the weak knee would give out.

body, and the swelling would commence. It always occurred by some strain like a sudden stop. The knee gradually recovered, but always was weaker than the other.
About fifteen years ago the swelling recommenced, this time without any wrench at all, and before long I realized that this was rheumatism settling in the weakest part of the body. The trouble came so often that I was obliged to carry an opiate in my pocket and to use it. I had generally a packet in my waistcoat pocket, but in going to a conference at Buffalo I forgot it, and as the car was damp and cold, before I got to Buffalo my knee was swollen to twice its natural size.
I had seen the good effects that Pink Pills were having in such cases, and I tried them myself with the result that I have never had a twinge or a swelling since. This was effected by taking seven or eight boxes.
I need not say that I am thankful for my recovered independence, but I will add that my knee is far stronger than it has been for thirty-five years.
I took one pill at my meals three times a day.
I gladly give you this statement.
Yours, S. R. CALTHROP.

Since writing this letter Dr. Calthrop has not had any visits from his old enemy and is even more cordial now in his recommendation of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than he was then. To the reporter he said:
I am continually recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to acquaintances and those I chance to meet who are troubled with rheumatism or locomotor ataxia.
"Pink Pills," continued Dr. Calthrop, "are the best thing of the kind I know of. They are infinitely superior to most medicines that are put up for sale. I know pretty well what the pills contain, and I consider it an excellent prescription. It is such a one as I might get from my doctor, but he would not give it in such a compact form and so convenient to take."
I recommend the pills highly to all who are troubled with rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, or any impoverishment of the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have an enormous sale, and from all quarters come glowing reports of the excellent results following their use. An analysis proves that they contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of influenza, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppurations, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. There are no ill effects following the use of this wonderful medicine, and it can be given to children with perfect safety.

JOURNAL "X" RAYS.
Directed Upon Persons and Things by the Good Natured Man.
Bryan is the Barkley of Nebraska.
John Smith & Co. will now hold a ratification.
Oregon needs the Dakota rain makers for a few days.
The ice works seem to offer the only relief for many on Bryan's nomination.
Bryan is not a boiler; so there now, all ye pure and loxly, come to his support.

Read Bryan's scathing speech in review of Clevelandism and the gold standard.
Bryan could be froze out at the Oregon state fair but not at a national convention.
Mrs. Annie Duges, a "Populist leader of Kansas," don't want Teller. Well, dear girl, you don't have to have him.

Gentlemen: It's time to quit mad flinging and abuse and face the paramount issue which is the money question, not personalities.
Bryan's speech is printed in full today. It is the truest picture of the man that can be presented. It nominated him. It will go far to elect him.

The Republican platform denounces the tariff policy of the Cleveland administration (which is not Cleveland's at all) but nowhere specifically denounces the financial policy of Cleveland's administration (which is Cleveland's altogether).
Bryan and McKinley are clean, able and typical Americans, representing squarely the cause of bimetalism versus the gold standard. It will now be determined before a jury of twelve million people, whose verdict on the question will go far, towards settling the question.

The Statesman has been able to print a dispatch from England saying McKinley's defeat means "financial panic, commercial ruin and a second civil war." That is awful hot talk from the British goldites. They would have everything to gain by a civil war in this country, and England would undoubtedly support the rebellion.
The way the different classes of politicians took the Bryan nomination Friday was comical. Both sides took to the brewery as it was hot stuff on a hot day. In corners here and there were goldites gasping for breath. Ike Patterson, Doc Keene and Jack D'Arroy seemed to be trying to supply the absence of breath with something more tangible.

SOME FARM POETRY.
Grover! Gentleman! he's in clover,
He's a man of mighty weights;
President! He rules over
These United States.

Cleveland! He wants a third term,
He loves the golden calf;
When he sits down the people squirm,
And that makes England laugh.

Silver! Not much says Grover,
I'll call an extra session;
The Sherman law shall be thrown over,
That silver will enslave us.

Grove, what next? What scheme will you
Bring to call attention?
But, alas! this country will kill your Presidential aspiration.

The money of the constitution
Alone can save the Nation!
And all your schemes of restitution
Will but bring us confiscation.

The people have no money, they suffer;
They're tramping through the land,
And yet you cry, "Gold!" "Gold!" you duffer!

They will show you they command.
Rally 'round your country's flag
Ye women of the land;
For if ye now in duty lag
A king will soon command.

Strike all your voices—let them ring
And shout for glory! glory!
And freedom crown you white you sing
The grand old silver story!
Who taught you how to save your land
And keep your children free?
Your voices will give you full command
Now use them and be free.
FREE SILVER.

The dealer who says, "I have no Hoe Cakes soap," practically admits that he does not sell first quality goods. If he says he has something "just as good" you will know at once that he is trying to sell you an inferior article. There is more clothing destroyed by poor soap than by actual wear, as the free alkali rots the cloth. Hoe Cakes contains neither free alkali nor worthless filling.
