

JOURNAL "X" RAYS.

Directed Upon Persons and Things by the Good Natured Man.

There is at least one satisfaction. England is prospering as never before!

How long will the generous New York bankers leave their gold in Uncle Sam's treasury?

The Pink Pill of the Statesman will furnish the ideas and T. T. Geer will deliver them on the stump.

Gen. Maceo is six times dead, but the Cuban corpse is still making it hot for Weyler's royal henchmen.

The silver craze is about as dead as that man Maceo, who has been killed six times by the Spanish soldiers.

If you want the exclusive privilege for gambling at the next state fair, now is the time to secure it of the Statesman editor.

Tall Timothy Geer, Herr Ickelheimer Most, Calamity Billingsgate Moores, the Grande Ronde Indians, and the Salem Statesman and Jim Lotan are a unit this year.

The banks have come to the government's rescue, turning about $20,000,000 into the treasury for greenbacks, to maintain the gold reserve. Why not let the banks run the government anyhow?

Are the New York bankers getting in shape to freeze out our treasury entirely by making the gold reserve good until they are ready to demand their gold to buy the bond issue that will surely follow at a high interest?

Major McKinley was invited to meet Bryan in debate at the last state fair in Salem, but his official duties prevented. Senator J. N. Dolph was also invited to meet the boy orator, but was "too busy writing a brief" for a railroad case.

Here is a suggestion for the Salem Statesman: "It is said that editor Rosewater, of the Omaha Bee, an ardent gold man, recently had occasion to negotiate a little loan on his plant, and when the papers were being drawn up he reserved the right to pay off his loan in silver. Nebraska is the state where the courts have decided that a gold contract is no good."

McMinnville Bee: Say! goldbugs, you fellows who are claiming that free coinage of silver would lower the wages of our laboring classes on a level with those of England, it seems to the Bee that you forget that England is a gold standard country. What is the matter with you? If, as you claim, that a gold standard will raise the wages of our laboring classes, why don't it raise the price of labor in England and other gold standard countries? You are off your base.

Pendleton East Oregonian: It may interest some people in Pendleton as well as all over the land, to know that Joaquin Miller has declared for Bryan for president and will take the platform to help along his election. The old poet loves his fellow man, and he considers by helping Bryan he is helping along the brotherhood of man which aggrandized wealth is destroying. We say with fervor hurrah, for the old poet! His voice is the voice of Oregon, for he is a true son of Oregon, who flies with her own wings, as all truly Democratic things should fly.

A Million Gold Dollars

Would not bring happiness to the person suffering with dyspepsia, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured many thousands of cases of this disease. LORD ASTOR HEARD FROM.

It will be of much interest to the masses of this country to know that among the most bitter opponents of the free silver movement is William Waldorf Astor, once of the United States, now of England. This country was not good enough for Mr. Astor, and he chose to live under the more congenial influences of a monarchy, and his toadyism to the Prince of Wales has given the American people good reason to be glad of his residence.

Through the columns of his Fall Mail Gazette he declares that every honest man will vote in November for McKinley "and the coming campaign will be a fight of patriots against revolutionists."

The Tacoma News comments on this bit of patriotism from London in this pointed way:

We should like to know what this man, whose wealth keeps constantly increasing in value of its own accord through the appreciation which comes to it from contraction of our one metal and who never in his life has known the need of a dollar king of honest men. We should like to know what this man, who thinks the land of his birth not good enough a land for him to live in, this man who spends his inherited American money not for the benefit of his native country, but for the enrichment of England, this man who is one of a growing number of absentee landlords who promise if they be not checked to make of the United States another Ireland, knows about the duty of patriots.

As our cotemporary remarks, as the purchasing power of a dollar keeps going up and the value of property keeps proportionally declining, Mr. Astor's accumulated millions keep on swelling, and he continues buying New York property whenever it is sold at a sacrifice.

The Times strikes a popular chord when it says:

Many there are who are still truly puzzled over the great issue and are studying the question deeply. They may not be able to solve it clearly to their satisfaction, but they should at least be able to tumble to the fact that any cause to which Lord Astor gives his support is not for the good of the American people. Between his interests and those of the people of this Nation there is and can be no sympathy.

Polar Bears.

The polar bear is not a social animal. The two cubs generally keep together for some time after they have left the mother, but in later life, as a rule, each travels by itself. About the subject of the polar bear's courage and ferocity the author of "Polar Bear Shooting" says there is a great diversity of opinion, attributable to the different circumstances in which it has been met.

It happened several times during the German expedition to the east coast of Greenland in 1869-70 that the crew were attacked by bears, and one of the men, Borge by name, was once dragged a considerable distance.

He had been out in the evening to read the thermometer, which was placed on land, and while on his way back to the vessel was suddenly attacked by a bear. Having no time to aim, he tried to frighten it with a bullseye lantern which he carried, but without taking the slightest notice of this the bear threw him down, bit him in the head and then started to drag him away.

His cries were heard, and his friends hastened to his assistance. On hearing the shots which were fired with the intention of frightening it the bear retired a few paces, but returned, and seizing the man again dragged him with him at a gallop over the uneven ice. At last it ran away for good. Borge was badly wounded, but thanks to his thick fur cap his head escaped being crushed.

In other cases the polar bear has been known to be easily frightened. One of Dr. Kane's followers, who was awakened by the growling of a bear which had put its head in at the tent door, resorted to the expedient of thrusting a box of lighted sulphur matches under its nose. The bear magnanimously forbore to avenger the insult and took itself off.

If strength is what you want, you should study what causes your weakness. It is practically lack of food. But you eat three meals a day, and all you can eat at a time. Yes, but do you digest it? Food undigested, is not food. It is nourishment. To digest your food take Shaker Digestive Cordial with meals. After a while you will digest your food without it. Then you will get well and strong and healthy.

Shaker Digestive Cordial cures indigestion and all its symptoms, such as nausea, headache, eructations, pain in the stomach, giddiness, loss of appetite, etc. It makes your food nourish you, and make you strong and fat and hearty.

A NERVE FOOD FOUND

You Must Feed the Nerves, not Strain Them; Build Them up, not Stimulate Them; Coax Them, not Drive Them.

Ordinary Foods do not Supply Sufficient or Proper Nourishment for Wasted Nerves—They Must be Carefully Treated on Scientific Principles.

THE CASE OF A PARALYTIC WHOSE NERVES WERE SO NOURISHED THAT HE WAS CURED.

From the Courier-Herald, Saginaw, Mich. Do you see those two men walking up the street? One has a vigorous, firm, elastic step, his head well up, his eyes bright—a picture of a sound and perfect man. The other is bent, his knees weak and unsteady, a listless air about his whole make-up. He has the appearance of one who is broken in health and who has to whip himself to every task. The difference between these two men is a difference of nerve power. With nerve power comes energy, enterprise, force, vigor—all things which make existence enjoyable; without it the muscles cannot act, the brain cannot think. Bear in mind that life is a nerve power, and if you wish to keep it you must feed the nerves. Do not simply stimulate them, but coax them—feed them. Give them the food which will renew their life and make them sound and healthy, that they may ward off disease. Probably paralysis is the nearest disease to nerve-death that we know, and we therefore cite a case of it below, to show that a certain kind of food preparation can do to feed and absolutely restore almost hopelessly wasted nerves. There are but few in the Saginaw Valley but who have known personally or made the acquaintance indirectly of W. H. Dawson, 618 Union Avenue, Saginaw, Mich., West Side. It is here that the hand of sickness has fallen heavily and caused a man to become widely known and extremely pitied. It is the hand of fate that often nips in the bud that which nature has started with the greatest predictions for the future. Until three years ago W. H. Dawson has known but little of sorrow and pain but the last few years have brought with them untold suffering. With many doctors taxing their brains for something that might benefit, all remedies known and extremely tried, none were applied and without avail. The patient languished and became worse but still lingered to fulfill a wonderful mission which will be the cause of less suffering among his fellow creatures. It was that unseen hand directing all things which permitted this one man to live in misery so that the world might be enlightened. To hear the pitiful story of one who has suffered who could not move a muscle for one whole year and who is now convalescent through the aid of a wonderful medium might lead one to believe that miracles are performed without any effort.
