Jae ger.

We are Salem agents for DR. JAEGER'S SANITARY GOODS, and can furnish any garment he makes, or any of his excellent sanitary stockinet by the yard. His goods are higher than common stuff, but not higher than ordinary fine underwear, and in the end are FAR CHEAPER than any goods made or earth.

They Do Not

Shrink.

That's the secret. Wear them as long as you want to, and they always retain that soft finish for which they are noted. Samples of the fabric can be seen at our store. We can take your order for any garment made, or for the goods by the yard for making children's and infant's garments.

CORRECTION.—In Wednesday evening's JOURNAL appeared an item regarding the annual meeting of the Young Peoples Alliance of the Evangelical church denomination, to be held in Salem, October 12-15 inclusive. By a typographical error that was overlooked by the proof reader, the item contained the initials A. P. A. instead of Y. P. A. The mistake is very much regretted and correction cheerfully made. Everything now points to a very enjoyable as well as profitable meeting under the auspices under this society of Christian young people.

AT ZENA.—Thursday evening Grange hall at Zena, Polk county, a large crowd assembled and filled the building to hear a stirring campaign speech by John Bayne, the Salem lawyer, who is a champion of Bryan and bimetalism. Mr. J. E. Hosmer, of Portland, presided and Mrs. Hosmer accompanied the ladies Bryan quartet on the guitar and also sang. The quartet rendered some excellent campaign songs, and Miss Gardner sang a beautiful solo. It was a very successful meeting and a credit to the Zena people.

Police Court.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Peter Selinski, of Mission Bottom, were arrested on separate complaints charged with assault and battery on the person of Mrs. Ruth Sayres last Monday. Mrs. Zelinski was arraigned before Recorder Edes this morning. The following jury was secured: F. J. Catterlin, R. A. Crossan, G. G. Van Wagner, G. Steiner, J. G. Barr and John Savage, Jr., when an adjournment was taken until 1 o'clock. At that hour the trial was resumed. All persons were excluded from the court room with the exception of the respective counsels, the complaining witness, the defendant, stenographer and newspaper men. District Attorney S. L. Hayden, assisted by Wm. Kaiser is prosecuting the case while Geo. G. Bingham appears for the defendant. The whole fracas seems to have arisen over a misunderstanding of the lease existing between Zelinski and Mrs. Sayres. In the original lease Mrs. Sayres reserved for herself the pasture and the orchard, which is located not far from the house. It seems on Monday that Mrs. Sayres was picking fruit from trees about the house a short distance from the orchard when Zelinski and his wife approached and shortly after began the trouble. Zelinski asserted that Mrs. Sayres had no claim to the fruit on the grounds that the trees were not directly in, or joined to, the orchard.

At press hour the trial is still in progress.

NEW HOPS.—Seven bales of this year's hop crop were received at the Southern Pacific warehouse on Front street today. They were raised by G. W. Hubbard on the Croisan farm near Salem and are a fair sample of this year's product. The hops will be stored for several days, preparatory to shipment.

Mrs. Parnell Sinking.

DUBLIN, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Della Stewart Parnell, mother of the late Irish patriot, is seriously ill at Dray, a pretty suburb of the Irish capital. Her friends in this city fear the result, as Mrs. Parnell is very old and has been quite weak even since she was assaulted at Bordentown, N. J., some time ago. Then, too, she was further weakened by an accident which she suffered on the ship while crossing the Atlantic on her recent voyage to Ireland. This is anything but encouraging to her friends, who believe that the end is near.

LETTERS FROM THE EAST.

A Journal Editor's Notes En Route to Iowa. RAWLINGS, Wyo., Sept. 6, 1896. Our second days travel was a severe run from Pocatello, Idaho, to Rawlings, Wyoming, nearly 400 miles in daylight. There are very few attractions on the road, but it is a long stride by the most direct route. In the morning we noticed not a few stock ranches, where alfalfa and other hay is raised by irrigation. The afternoon carried us into central Wyoming through a vast area of greasewood and nothing—desert and bad lands.

At Green river our train was joined by the one from San Francisco, giving us fifteen mammoth coaches and making an elaborate caravan. The only point of interest from this point to Rawlins is Rock Springs, where a rich coal bed is located. Here a fair town has grown up as a result of the extensive mining carried on by the company. Shortly before reaching Rawlins our engine was disabled. Fortunately we were near a water station and a side track. Here we waited until a freight train pulled along and pushed us to town, where a new propeller took us in charge. The place of the break down was rightly named, being Red Desert station.

At a forlorn looking station with three shanties, on the alkali plain, was noticed a grave. It was marked with a plain white head board and surrounded by a neat white fence. This undoubtedly marked the resting place of a brave pioneer, who had contributed his life for the comfort of the traveling public. An Irishman on board our train remarked, in a manner characteristic of his race, that he "would rather live there dead than alive."

On our car was A. Roediger, manager of the Tacoma News, he inquired with much interest after his old friend Reuben Boise, of Salem, who was at one time city editor on his paper. He related how our popular young Salemite was punctured, while thus engaged, by a bullet from the weapon of an offended patron, who shot at the fighting editor and hit the wrong man. Mr. Roediger was taking a sad trip. His wife and four-year-old son were visiting in Brooklyn, N. Y., and he was called to the bedside of the child, who was reported dying of scarlet fever. Our fast train seemed to move very slowly for the afflicted father, whose heart was with his dear ones so far away.

We also had with us an aged Swiss woman, who was a helpless cripple from rheumatism. Her son had come after her to take her to the bedside of her aged husband at Kansas City. Both were very low, and neither expected to see the other again in this life. A passenger talked German with the good lady, and she told him she had worked ever since the boom-burst to pay off a $1000 mortgage on their home. It was just accomplished, and now both she and her husband were helpless physically. She took courage from the sweet belief that the burden being off their minds and being reunited in their freed home would give both relief from their physical distress. But now, that it is all paid for by years of hard toil the home is not worth the redemption price.

It does not take many days' travel to convince one that more people travel from trouble than for pleasure. Aside from those traveling on business, those going for pleasure form a very small proportion. A gentleman came aboard accompanied by half-a-dozen women of varying ages, all well dressed and commanding his divided attention, when in the neighborhood of Utah a suspicion was awakened among the passengers that he was a full-fledged Mormon taking an outing, with part of his household. A. F. H.

Two Lives Saved. Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Fred P. Legg's drugstore. Regular size 50c and $1.

RESOLUTIONS.

Of Respect in Memory of the Late Mrs. Bowersox.

The Salem Woman's Christian Temperance Union adopted the following resolutions Sept. 8, 1896:

IN MEMORIAM. By the death of Mrs. MARY Bowersox this society has lost a very worthy efficient and devoted member, we the members hereof deem it both a work of love and duty, that the world should know in what esteem Sister Bowersox was held by us, therefore be it resolved, she was in truth, all that we could ask and far more than any of us expect to attain, however, much we labor, her patience under trying circumstances was most admirable, and her fortitude equal to the emergency of the case, one of the most quiet and unobtrusive. She was at the same time a most persistent worker in the ranks of the Woman's Christian Temperance union in which she placed great faith, as one of the principle means by which the unfortunate, by organized and adversely envied individuals of the human race, could be raised up into the pure atmosphere of christian life and to the performance of rational duty. She was a fit example of admirable grace, wholly inoffensive in her demeanor, devoid of arrogance and false pride, full of the faith that religion is best exemplified in works, a sweet toned, highly esteemed companion and mother, one who will be sadly missed in this society, in her family circle and by the church in which she was a highly prized member.

Resolved, That we extend to the husband and family our sympathy in this their hour of trial and severe affliction, and as a tribute of respect to the memory of our late sister these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, of this Union, and copies be transmitted to the bereaved family and to our daily papers, also to the White Ribbon for publication.

Winthrop's Defense.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Oliver W. Winthrop began his defense on the charge of assault and robbery, growing out of his alleged attempt to abduct James Campbell, the millionaire planter of Hawaii. No opening statement was made by the defense. J. H. Carels testified that he met Winthrop on the night of August 3.

George T. Phelps, supposed to be the mysterious "Pete," Winthrop's alleged accomplice, and Joseph Noonan testified that they attended lodge with Winthrop on the night of August 3d, parting from him at 11 o'clock.

Winthrop did not finish his testimony and will go on with his story tomorrow. Winthrop said there was a woman in the case. He said he went to the Dunton cottage with Campbell and there saw a woman who wore a hat and veil. He waited around to find out who the woman was, but Campbell told him to go, and come later.
