MRS. MOORES DEAD.

A Telegram Announces Her Sudden Demise at St. Louis.

On Sunday morning the family of Mrs. Moores, widow of the late Hon. I. R. Moores of this city, received a telegram from St. Louis announcing the sad intelligence that Mrs. Moores had died suddenly Saturday evening. The telegram was from Mrs. J. Q. Wilson of this city. Her sons Ross E. and Wylie A. Moores immediately telegraphed to have the body prepared and sent to Salem.

Mrs. Moores left Salem a week ago last Friday, with a party of friends in attendance upon a course of Christian Science lectures at St. Louis. They arrived Tuesday morning and all information received by the friends in this city was to the effect that all were well and happy. Mrs. Moores had not been heard from up to this morning. The Moores family have many relatives at Danville and Chicago, Ill., some of whom she intended to visit.

Mrs. Moores was born January 22, 1831, near Harper's Ferry, W. Va. She came to Oregon as a young girl, with her sister who was Mrs. J. H. Moores. Her maiden name was Ella Lamson, and she was married at Salem in 1856 to I. R. Moores with whom she had crossed the plains in a large wagon train. There are four children living at Salem to mourn for the departed—Ross E. Moores, printer, Wylie A. Moores, Chas. H. Moores and Carroll Moores.

The deceased was one of the pioneer women of Oregon, who helped to build up every good interest of society. Besides rearing her family, she cherished her friends, and was for many years an active member of the Congregational church. Her death leaves a vacancy in the ranks of Salem Christian women that will never be filled. Mrs. Moores was a progressive and intelligent woman, blessed and blessing in every relation of life. Her husband was at different times government surveyor, assistant secretary of state, legislator and speaker of the house of representatives. He was also a pioneer merchant of this city, and was at one time president of the O. & C. railroad, and later land commissioner.

For California.

The golden state must possess some attraction for Oregon boys, at least. A great many of our young men are casting their lot with the residents of that state. The latest to leave for California is Wm. Hodgkin, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hodgkin. Will left this morning for Portland, where he will board the Shasta limited tonight for San Francisco, where he has accepted a position as indorsement clerk in the Voss, Conrad & Co., Insurance office. Will has numerous friends in Salem, who wish him great success in his position. Being a graduate from the Salem public schools and the Salem business college, Willie is eminently qualified for the position to which he has been assigned. Although of a quiet and unassuming nature, his gentlemanly and accommodating disposition wins the kindly affections of all with whom he associates.

FRACIOUS HORSES.—This morning a Mr. Steward, who resides near Wheatland, fastened his horses attached to a covered buggy, at the Southern Pacific passenger depot, while he stepped within to purchase a ticket. In the meantime a street car approached the depot, badly scaring the animals who broke loose and started on a run. The tongue immediately dropped from the neck-yoke and struck the curbing to the lawn about the depot badly shattering the tongue and doubletrees. They were caught before further damage had been done.

AT WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY.

School Will Commence Next Wednesday Morning.

President W. C. Hawley was in his office today busily engaged registering pupils, a large per cent of whom are new students. The outlook is very encouraging for a more prosperous year than the history of the school has yet experienced.

Tuesday will be devoted entirely to registration of new pupils while the first chapel exercises will be held Wednesday morning. Wednesday will be devoted to the assignment of lessons and the discussion of the school work for the ensuing year.

The Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. societies will hold a meeting next Sunday afternoon. The Philodorian and Philodorian societies will also be reorganized, probably on Friday evening and active work will at once be resumed.

All members of last years faculty have been retained and the work will progress without the least hesitation since all instructors are thoroughly familiar with their respective duties.

The athletic association proposes to have a "crack" football team in the field this fall and winter and will labor most industriously for that penant. They expect to have excellent material from which to select and anticipate considerable amusement.

Endeavorers Conduct the Meeting.

In the absence of Rev. W. C. Kantner, pastor of the First Congregational church, services were conducted in that house of worship by Rev. Robinson Sunday morning before an appreciative audience. In the evening the Y. P. S. C. E. of the church conducted the exercises, J. B. Tutill presiding. The subject "How Can We Use Our Tongues for Christ," was most thoroughly discussed and many thoughtful suggestions were brought forth in the discussion. Mrs. Dodd read a paper on "The Tongue" and Mrs. W. C. Kantner read extracts, appropriate to the subject, from a beautiful discourse delivered by the pastor of a Brooklyn M. E. church recently. The singing under the leadership of Mrs. Hallie Parrish-Hinges formed the most pleasant feature of the evening's services. Besides a number of anthems by the choir, the audience was delighted with solos by Mrs. Hinges and Clifford Kantner.

More Improvement.

A force of men was engaged from 10 p. m. Saturday until 8 o'clock Sunday morning adjusting a new trolley wire from the corner of Gray Bros. business house to the post office for the Salem Consolidated Street Railway company. Supt. Lee McGrew superintended the work. The old wire between Gray Bros. corner and the city hall on Chemeketa street will also be replaced by new wire. When the improvements, now being made to this line are completed, the road will rank second to no like concern on the coast, and the present faultless service of the road will be even improved.

When you need shoes or clothing, the New York Racket can fit you and the price will fit your purse.

Musical Courses.

Dr. Z. M. Parvin begins his work in Salem Saturday, September 19th. Class lessons given at the parlors of Mrs. B. J. Sharpe. Courses in all the important branches of musical study. Nothing superior in the Northwest. A limited number of pupils can be accommodated. 9 14 10t.

DECISION TOMORROW.

Sentence will be pronounced on Mrs. Jennie A. Zelinski Tuesday morning by Recorder Ed N. Edes. Mrs. Zelinski was found guilty Saturday of assault and battery of Mrs. R. E. Sayres. At the same hour tomorrow Mr. Edes will announce a decision in the case of state vs. Peter Zelinski, who was tried on the same charge. Recorder Edes taking the matter under advisement in the meantime.

TO ALBANY.

Prof. J. M. Parvin returned to Albany this morning, preparatory to resuming work in the musical department of the Albany College. The first term begins Wednesday September, 16th and the musical department of this institution, placed in such competent hands, can but spring into prominence as valuable and well equipped school.

A Possible Case.

Two young men supposed to be the persons who stole two bicycles from the bowling Alley of Great and Wilson last week, were seen in Corvallis last Thursday. One of the fellows offered a good looking wheel for sale at the very low price of $10. The suspicions of the Corvallisites were aroused but it seems the men were allowed to leave town unmolested. The police have been laboring at a disadvantage, not knowing the number of the wheels but now since that has been ascertained it is thought the thieves will soon find themselves in the clutches of the law. Had the officials known the number of the wheels last Thursday, the men would no doubt have been captured before leaving the city since the Corvallis chief of police has been in communication with Chief Dilley since the day before mentioned.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed by severe exhaustion. Fatness, hunger without any appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me. As if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous, and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described
