THE GOLDBUGS AND THE OLD SOLDIER.

one eye destroyed in the service:

Editor Capital: -One of the disgust- producers of this country? ing features of the present political campaign is the appeal of the goldbug press to the old soldier. The soldier is eternally being reminded that he is a dependent upon the government. He is reminded day after day that his nension may be endangered by free silver. He is told over and over again that his only possible hope lies in the proposition to keep money dear so his pension will buy as much sup-headed mendicant. Now I protest against such treatment. It is true that many of the boys are nearing the sunset of life; many are walking down the western slope; while those that were the youngest are at, or very near the half century mark. But what of it? Do not other people grow old? Wny does our age or our condition affect our citizenship? Why should we be singled out and held up to the people pitying gaze of the world? Every true soldier scorns the pity of anyone Every brave soldier feels that he de serves to be treated as a man, a American citizen. He protests agains this infamous practice of being held up as an object of pit and commiseration. If the government owes us our pensions pay it and sa no more about it, and don't eternall be dinning it in our ears. If it mu come at the cost of our manhood v don't want it. The fact that we were soldiers one does not altar the fact that we a full-fledged citizens now, and we d mand to be treated as such and not treated as though we had neith brains or manhood left. The pluci man of the sixties is a plucky man t day, though he be tottering to th grave. No general class of men in this government ever had such an influence in shaping its destinies as the Union soldiers. No large class of over to the treasurer of the Salem over the Union soldiers. The campaign now begun will last six weeks and will result in Oregon casting her vote for Bryan or Mc-kinley. The money will be turned over to the treasurer of the Salem over to the treasurer of the Salem over 1873. The villainy of monomen have been so honored and trusted Bryan club. If you cannot contribute from 10 cents to $1 a week for the campaign, give a cash contribution. While the McKinley campaign committee can hold up every banker and $5 to $500 out of every banker and $5 to $500 out of every banker and $5 to $500. Every lover of the light harnes horse will be interested in E. B. Abererombie's article on "Trotting Road Teams and Their Drivers," in Outing for October. No man is better qualified than Mr. Abercrombie to As He Was and handle this subject, for he knows and loves the trotter and has written of him for many years. Owners of fine drivers may find some useful biots in the author's description of the famous team, and the methods employed to secure that frictionless, combined action, without which no team could command a second glance from New York's gentlemen kings of the road. The article is fixely illustrated.
