AT MARION'S CAPITAL.

Judge Terrell has refused to accept the new bridge recently constructed over Mission creek, on the Champoe and Butteville road. The contract price was $140 and the judge claims that Mr. Dimick, the contractor, has failed to erect it according to the plans submitted.

The will of Ellen L. Moores, who died on the 12th ult., has been admitted to probate by Judge Terrell and Ross E. and Willie A. Moores appointed as executors. The decedent left property of the probable value of $6,000 and the following heirs at law: Ross E. Willie A., Charles H. and Carroll L. Moores. In her will Mrs. Moores bequeaths an equal share of her real estate to each of her sons, after the debts are paid.
Ross and Willie are appointed guardians of Charles. L. E. Pratt, Charles Claggett and J. I. Thompson are appointed appraisers of the estate.

The semi-annual accounts of W. M.
Kaiser, administrator of the estate of Paul Oberheim, deceased, and Alice A. Miles, administratrix of the estate of Peter Miles, deceased, were filed with the county clerk yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooker, late of La-Grande, Or., arrived in the city last night and are opening a large millinery stock in the rooms next to the First National bank. Mrs. Hooker is an experienced business lady.

O. G. Savage fell from the loft of his barn, on Sunday afternoon, directly under the horses who stepped upon him breaking two ribs and otherwise bruising him.

Election of Officers.

Last evening the Presbyterian Y. P.
S. C. E. held its semi-annual election of officers, resulting as follows: President, Sam Burcham; vice president, Miss Marie Rockwell; secretary, E. T.
Prescott; chorister, W. E. Calkins; organist, Miss Lucia Cochran; superintendent of junior work, Mrs. David Scott, Sr. A short program was rendered just preceding the election of officers.

The Salem Ministerial Association also elected officers at its weekly meeting yesterday afternoon, who will serve for the ensuing six months. The election resulted as follows:

President, J. P. Farmer, of the First Baptist church; vice-president, A. Kershaw, of the Leslie M. E. church; secretary and treasurer, J.
Bowersox, of the Independent Evangelical church. The last two were re-elected.

THE LOCAL CAMPAIGN.

Hon. W. T. Rigdon will address the city council tonight, if he does any talking at all.

Ed. L. Bryan, of Philomath, was in the city today. He will put in the rest of the time in this canvass. He is a Bryan man in more ways than a distant family relationship.

Hon. Henry McGinn, of Portland, is to speak at Mt. Angel, October 22, for McKinley.

The Bennett meeting at the Armory was one of the finest that has yet been held at Salem. The audience was very attentive from start to close.
Only the highest expressions of commendation are heard on every hand.

AT MT. ANGEL.

A large and enthusiastic crowd gathered in the warehouse to listen to addresses for Bryan and Independent American Bimetallism. E. Hofer, of Salem, spoke an hour, and read the Bismarck letter in German, commenting on the same in German and giving a correct translation, showing that Bismarck advises Americans to adopt independent bimetallism as the surest means of forcing Europe to remonetize silver. W. T. Rigdon spoke from 9 to 10:30, with his usual good effect.

Hon. W. H. Holmes spoke half an hour in conclusion, and all stayed to the finish. When a conclusion was reached all present signed a petition for the Bryan electors.

"Bryan's election is not conceded.
Hanna does not expect defeat," are the startling headlines in the morning globe mail. He knows he is defeated.

Rev. Grannis at Woodburn Sunday evening, it is said, paid his compliments to "Mark Hanna, the apostate Jew," who wants a mortgage on the American people. He denounced the St. Louis convention for opening its sessions with prayer by a Jewish Rabbi. He said they tried to get a Methodist, but there was objection; they tried to get a Catholic, but there was objection; then they got a Rabbi.

"Rob everybody," exclaimed Grannis in disgust. If he ever struck a popular chord it was before the Woodburn audience.

"The scandalous evening sheet is libeling Attorney-General Ideman," says the Statesman. Well, it is a little singular that the alleged attorney-general in every contest involving the rights and interests of the people appears on the side of wealth and the corporations. That is a libel on the people.

"A Bryan shouter" is all the argument the Statesman has in obviating the demolition of its pet tariff editor, C. B. Moores. The complete destruction of the cherished goldbug idols is a benefit to society in general, and all good people will pray let Brother Rigdon go on shouting.

The goldbug conspiracy to knock out the Bryan electors on a technicality is making votes for the silver cause. The people resent the effort of an unscrupulous set of moneybags and millionaires, to put a gag in the mouth of the American people.

Probate Court.

About the middle of September, Sam B. Parrish, of Portland, Chas.
Parrish, of Canyon City, and N. O.
Parrish, of Salem, instituted proceedings in probate court whereby they seek to have the will of the late J. L.
Parrish, declared null and void, claiming that undue influence had been exercised over the deceased in forming the will. The motion was argued before County Judge Terrell on the 16th, 17th and 18th ult., when a large number of witnesses were examined on each side. All the evidence having been submitted, and the closing arguments from the respective counsel having been received, Judge Terrell took the matter under advisement until 2 p. m. Tuesday, October 6. The contestants are represented by D'Arcy & Richardson, of Salem, and W. D. Beebe, of Portland; while Mrs. Mattie Parrish, wife of the deceased has retained as counsel Geo.
G. Bingham, of Salem, and ex-United States Attorney General Williams, of Portland. The property involved in the motion is worth about $50,000.

JUDGE TERRELL'S DECISION.
At 2 o'clock this afternoon county Judge G. P. Terrell rendered a decision whereby the will of the late J. L.
Parrish was set aside.

Georgia G. Anderson.

Old Bill Anderson is making a great effort to have his baby monkey take the prize at the state fair. He is having a complete suit made throughout, by the most celebrated dressmaker and milliner on the Pacific coast and he thinks that some of the little tots on exhibition will have to primp up considerably to out do his little Georgia Grannis Anderson.
This little baby monkey is a wonderful curiosity and will no doubt be a drawing card at the baby show.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS.

Considerable Business Transacted at Last Evening's Session.

With the exception of Director Ohmari, all members of the board of directors for school district No. 24 were present last evening. The following bills were audited and warrants ordered issued:

Jory & Sprague, wood	30 00
Frank McIntire, wood	57 00
A. F. Faxon, wood	6 00
Gilbert & Patterson, paints and glass	17 35
R. M. Wade & Co., hardware	50
Gray Bros., hardware	55
Brown & Smith, hardware	11 25
Barr & Petzel, hardware	1 00
S. Wenzel, clerk, services	7 50
B. F. Salmon, labor	2 50
E. M. Walte Printing Co., for printing	98 75
E. F. Parkhurst, school furni- ture	390 75
F. S. Dearborn, supplies	401 39
Geo. A. Peebles, services	100 00

Superintendent G. A. Peebles recommended that the matter of repairing the black boards of the various schools be left with the executive committee. The recommendation was approved of by the board.

Upon motion it was determined to give the public school children a holiday, Friday of this week, that day having been declared by the state fair managers to be a special day for public school children.

The chairman and clerk of the board were authorized to sign the contracts with the various teachers for the current year, for the school board.

Director Bruce reported that he had engaged a janitor for the Polytechnic school at $5 per month, and that this did not include the putting in of wood. The board ratified Mr. Bruce's action.

Coming Attractions.

A leading topic among those interested in theatrical centers is in the return to Salem of Frank Bacon's new company of players. The long run of the old stock company is in this city was the longest ever made here by a theatrical organization, and speaks much in favor of Mr. Bacon's judgment in the selection of a thoroughly artistic organization. Mr.
Bacon says that the present aggregation is the peer of any company he has yet connected himself with, and from the flattering press notices his company has received in the Southern papers, it would seem that this is true in every respect. The repertoire is extensive and contains some of the very latest and most popular creations of well-known playwrights.

The plays have been selected with a view to pleasing the whole of the theatrical public, and the repertoire embraces plays which vary widely in character, and all are of the highest order of merit. May Nannary, the leading lady, and Norval McGregor, the leading man, are artists of much repute. Miss Nannary, although very young, has won tributes of high order since her debut, and now ranks with the best. The same may be said of Mr. McGregor. Other new members of the company are Helen Henry, a clever soubrette; M. J.
Hooley, a singing comedian; Harvey Sedley, a light comedian; Peter Sosso and J. P. Winter. Among the members of the company well and favorably known here are Howard Scott and Miss Jennie Weidman. The opening play will be a sensational melodrama. The play will be given its first presentation here Monday evening Oct. 12th at Reed's opera house. Popular prices will prevail 15, 25 and 35 cents.

A Delightful Performance.

The "Triumph of Love" as presented by local talent under the supervision of Mrs. Neumeyer, at the Reed Saturday night, was certainly a "triumph" in the line of amateur performances. Lack of space forbids personal mention of the many participants, the performance of each uniting in making the performance a decided success. However the parts sustained by Mrs. Hallie Parrish-Hinges, as Goddess of Love; Basil H.
Wagner, Duke of Burgundy; and D.
A. Dinsmore, Leperello, valet to the Duke; could not have been improved upon. The singing by Mrs. Hinges was one of the pleasing features of the evening and this talented vocalist, who never fails to delight an audience, was accorded an encore to which she gracefully responded.

Misses Lona White, Mina Heulst and Esther Collins, as goddesses of Wealth, Honor, and Virtue acted well their parts, the former two, by their singing, won the hearty applause their performance merited and the audience would not be content with one selection from these beautiful singers but would only desire from their applause at the second appearance of the vocalists. Miss Pearl Carter, as Evelina, the Peasant girl, made a pleasing appearance on the stage, agreeably surprising her many friends.
The demons and imps under Vice, Prince of Darkness, Chas. H. Burg-graf, were certainly well chosen and they possessed the hideousness that is said to be significant of such characters. Geo. U. Ashby as Demon of Drunkness was good. The performance by the little folks, unlike most occasions, was carried out without a second's hesitation which added greatly to the enjoyment thereof. In all it was a great success and those who witnessed the performance will always cherish pleasant memories thereof.
