Saturday evening, one Wm. Kenna presented a check for $100 to the Sisters of Charity, wishing to realize $3 hereon. The police were informed of the man's actions, and he was soon landed in the city jail. He was arraigned before Recorder Edes this morning, charged with "uttering and attempting to pass a forged check," owing to lack of evidence he was discharged. The check bore his own signature, but sufficient evidence to warrant conviction, not being in possession of the court, the man was released.

The Hospital Fund.
The multiplicity of amusements will not, we trust, cause our readers to forget the entertainment to be given at Reed's Opera house on Wednesday evening next for the benefit of the Salem hospital, on which occasion Dr. De Kannel will present his stereo-electrical views of the coronation of the Czar of Russia, and a host of other interesting subjects, covering the grave and the gay, and interspersed with a lecture descriptive of the views. The views have never yet been presented in this city. The claims of the hospital on the Salem public will assist in making the affair a success. Popular prices will prevail. We hope our readers will bear the event in mind. General admission 25 cents. Reserved seats may be secured at Patton Bros., at 10 cents extra. Don't fail to attend.

A SMALL FIRE.—A straw pile in East Salem, ignited by some small boys called out the fire department about 4 o'clock, Saturday afternoon. "Salem Cyclones."
As the football season approaches, activity among the admirers of that sport increases. It is likely the coming winter will be marked by numerous exciting games on the football field at Salem. Saturday a number of Salem's juvenile enthusiasts "kickers" met and formed a team, the personnel of which is as follows:
Center.....Ernest Bradley
R. guard.....Clyde Johnson
L. guard.....Ralph Cox
R. tackle.....Harvey Davis
L. tackle.....Bert Olinger
B. end.....Chauncy Bishop
L. end.....Rockey Hrodckin
Q. back.....Will Gilmore
R. half-back.....Claude Moran
L. half-back.....Myer Hirsch
Full back.....D. Farrar
As will be seen the team contains excellent material. Claude Moran was named as captain of the team which is to be known as "Salem Cyclones." A number of games will be arranged with like teams from valley towns and the local team proposes to "sweep everything before them," thus carrying into effect the sentiment contained in the name of the team—"Cyclone."

Badly Scared.
Saturday evening, as the Salem local was pulling out of Woodburn on its way to Salem, a serious accident came very near taking place. The newsboy, who travels on this train, and who was standing upon the platform, awaited the rear coach, when he attempted to swing upon the steps. Losing his footing, he was dragged several yards on his face and stomach, thus removing all his coat buttons, with lightning rapidity. Brakeman Ballard happened to step upon the rear platform and, seeing the boy in so perilous a position, pulled the bell rope and brought the train to a standstill, when the boy was released from his dangerous position and placed in the coach. He was, fortunately, more scared than hurt, and his experience will no doubt prove valuable to himself. We take this opportunity of cautioning boys against jumping on and off trains, as they pass along Twelfth street, the Salem local especially. Unless such practices are desisted, a horrible accident will yet be chronicled.

The McKinney-Statesman Suit.
The suit of John W. McKinney vs. Statesman Publishing Company for damages in the sum of $1,500 for failure on their part to renew a contract was sharply contested in the circuit court before Judge Burnett Friday and Saturday and resulted in a verdict for the sum of $350 and cost in the case to the amount of about $50. The instructions of the court on the law points are of public interest. The Statesman's main point of reliance was attempted to prove failure to solicit subscribers and induce people to take the paper and to turn over the money as per terms of contract. On this last section, which read, "he shall pay what he can conveniently collect each week and make full and complete settlement on the 10th of each month," the court held that to make a "complete settlement" did not require or imply payment of balance to be made on that date, but that if the parties met and agreed on a balance and that was a "settlement" under the contract. In regard to the section providing that "plaintiff should use his efforts every working day in canvassing to increase the subscription lists" the court held that a general performance would not be sufficient. As to the balance $131.00, claimed by the Statesman for papers delivered in May, the court held that the plaintiff, having been deprived of the route before said amount was due, that said balance had no connection with suit. The verdict of the jury under these instructions exonerates Mr. McKinney from any failure to perform his part of the contract. He received congratulations of his friends on all hands for a victory which under all the facts and circumstances, is highly creditable to his character as a business man.

Bryan Rally at Aumsville.
Hon. W. T. Rigdon, of Salem, addressed the voters of Lincoln precinct on Saturday night, on the issues of the campaign. He spoke for two hours to an immense audience, who listened with rapt attention to the speaker's argument, on the money question.

The Mott brothers, of Salem, entertained the audience at intervals, with their comic songs, and their efforts met with continuous applause.
The crowd was the largest that has assembled in one building, in our city, for years, numbering over 250.
The Republican managers have so far, not been successful in securing a full house, even for their best speakers. This condition of the public pulse, may be accounted for on the grounds that the sympathy of the people are not with the gold standard, but with the candidate of the American people, William J. Bryan, and the free coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1.

At Aumsville.
The meeting at Aumsville Saturday evening, addressed by W. T. Rigdon, and the Mott brothers, was a genuine Bryan success, and the largest audience brought out at that place in this campaign. The speaker read to the audience some strong free coinage, anti-gold standard arguments from the "Handbook of the National League of Republican Clubs," of 1892, prepared expressly for the Harrison campaign. Some McKinney men declared it to be Populist doctrine, but they had to swallow it as their own, such as the Republican party has always taught in the past. A dollar apiece is offered for those little books. The meeting was a decided success. At the close three rousing cheers were given for Bryan.
