A HOP GROWER.—B. Flynn—plain Barney Flynn—of Champoeg, is in the city today, and he smiles a smile that is broader than any of the McKinley boomer's wear. Barney has 91 bales of choice hops. Some time ago the bugger who held a contract for them at a law figure was trying to beat him below the price. Barney promptly threw up the contract, and today the buggers are about ready to take the lot at 12 cents per pound. He laughs best who laughs last.

Progressive Peanut Party.

Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather without everything within the residence of Rev. W. C. Kantner, on North Liberty street, presented a pleasing appearance last evening.

The Y. P. S. C. E., of the First Congregational church, again demonstrated their ability to successfully entertain their many friends.

The occasion was a "Progressive Peanut Party" which was quite unique in every detail. Forty young people were present and an enjoyable evening is reported.

Numerous games were indulged in by the young folks, after which refreshments were served and the party disbanded.

Evidently a Mistake.

Everything is in readiness for the opening game of the intercollegiate series which take place between U. O. and O. A. C. on the Kincaid field today at 3 o'clock. The Corvallis team will arrive on the 2 o'clock train. The U. O. boys will be out in force at the train and will escort the O. A. C. to the university grounds.—Eugene Guard.

The Guard must be misinformed regarding this item since the game between the U. O. boys and O. A. C. football teams, as arranged by the Intercollegiate Football Association was scheduled for November 14, one week from today. The winning team of that game will play the team from Willamette University at Salem on following Saturday, the 21st inst. On Thanksgiving day Willamette University team goes to Corvallis for a game with the O. A. C.

INJUNCTION

DISMISSED

On the Consolidated Salem Street Railway.

TRUSTEE M'CORNACK WINS.

The Property Will Now Be Sold Under Foreclosure.

An important injunction suit was dismissed Friday afternoon in Judge Hewitt's court, the suit of M. L. Chamberlin et al. vs. the Consolidated Street Railway of Salem, F. R. Anson, receiver.

This obligation was begun June 30, and by various motions the injunction could not be removed until at this time of court. The matter came up on motion of Attorneys Carson and Fleming, for plaintiff for continuance again until next term.

They alleged that their principal witness, Thos. H. Barnes could not be produced, as he has been in Nebraska some time. They alleged that he would testify to a number of important facts, if he were present.

Defendant corporation by Counsel Bingham and Paxton, stated to the court that they were willing to admit that Barnes would testify as set forth in the affidavit of plaintiff, and allow it to become part of the testimony in the case. This being the case, Mr. Bingham cited the law that the defendants were entitled to go to trial. This left nothing for plaintiffs but to proceed to trial or quit.

Plaintiffs elected to pay costs of suit and be relieved of their injunction bond rather than go to trial. The stipulation on which the suit is settled is as follows:

THE STIPULATION.

"It is hereby stipulated and agreed by and between the plaintiffs and the above named defendants that this suit may be dismissed at the cost of the plaintiffs, to the extent of the taxable costs and disbursements of this suit and that the dismissal of this suit shall be a bar to another suit on account of the same subject matter. It is also agreed that the injunction bond herein shall be released and that the defendants shall not claim or recover any costs or damages from the sureties on said bond, and that the taxable costs and disbursements shall be all that defendants shall be entitled to recover of and from plaintiff by reason of this dismissal of said suit, which costs and disbursements amount to the sum of thirty dollars.

It is also agreed that in consideration of the release of said injunction bond that the said plaintiffs, nor either of them, shall make any objections to, or in any manner question the proceedings leading up to the appointment of the original suit of E. P. McCornack, Plaintiff, vs. Salem Consolidated Street R. R. defendant, or of the doing of the said receiver appointed in such suit. The result of this suit is very important to the people of Salem. The property will now be sold under foreclosure proceedings and the title cleared of all incumbrances in the way of improvements or extensions.

The Football Game.

The return game of football between the Willamette University and Chemawa teams to have taken place at Chemawa is being played on the university campus this afternoon. This is a typical day for football playing and the boys are enjoying the sport hugely. That remarkable fullback, W. P. Babcock, was out with the team for the first time last evening when he did most effective work in breaking through the line of opposition. The manager of the football team hopes to be able to retain Mr. Babcock on the team as his services can scarcely be dispensed with. John Williams, Bert Macey and R. Guise are expected to enter the team next week when heavy training will begin preparatory to the important game of the 21st inst. Mark Savage is acting as coach besides otherwise assisting Captain Olinger in the management of the team.

Ex-Convict Arrested For Forgery and Larceny—Notes.

Four "knights of the tie" were last evening sentenced to five days at the hotel de Dilley, for vagrancy.

Frank W. Emerson, an ex-convict, having been discharged from the penitentiary last Monday, was arrested last evening on two charges, viz: larceny of an overcoat from Mel Hamilton's saloon, and forging an order. He was arraigned before Recorder Edes this morning, and plead not guilty to both charges. His trial for larceny of the overcoat, was set for 2 o'clock, while the trial on the charge of forgery will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

It seems, when released from the penitentiary, Monday, Mr. Emerson went to W. J. Culver and asked for some money. Instead of complying with the request, Mr. Culver gave the man an order on Kenworthy & George for meals for two days. It seems, Emerson used Mr. Culver's signature to excellent advantage, financially to himself. Using the signature he presented an order of D. J. Fry and secured some articles. Mr. Fry soon detected something wrong, and notified Chief of Police Dilley who, assisted by Officer Gamble soon had his man located in one of Salem saloons.

It seems Emerson disposed of the overcoat at Cook's second-hand store, realizing about $2 therefor.

Mr. Emerson was given a trial at 2 o'clock this afternoon, resulting in his being bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $200. In default of the required bail he was committed to the county jail where he will remain until circuit court convenes next February. District Attorney S. L. Hayden appeared for the state while Mr. Emerson conducted his own defense.
