AND "SOUND MONEY" WON.

Free silver versus sound money was the only issue, and sound money won. A feature of the campaign was Hanna's colporteur canvass. One hundred young men, well equipped with arguments, went from house to house all over the district, and wrestled in argument with every doubtful voter.—New York Mail and Express.

The above is taken from a detailed account of the manner in which Mark Hanna defeated Congressman Towne of Minnesota. It was a brilliant achievement, viewed from a sound money standpoint. In the sanctimonious whine of the great religious daily of New York, the organ of the stock gamblers and of Major McKinley, "Colporteurs" is a good name for the agents of the religious manager, who boasted that he had one hand on the Almighty, and the other on his candidate.

The 100 young men must have wrestled with the farmers of Minnesota as did Jacob with the Angel in holy scripture. At $3.00 a day the young men cost $18,000 for 63 days. A colporteur campaign all over the country, in every congressional district, would cost about seventeen million dollars. Who will pay this in the end? The people who got the instruction of the colporteurs, of course and all the rest of the people.

Mr. Geer of Marion, is reported to have said the other day to a man that the McKinleyites did not expect wages to go up; that wages were high enough relatively. We do not know whether Mr. Geer said this or not but all will find that the wages of some will go up—the official class who draw fees and salaries, the class who make a living off usury and the extremities of their neighbors. Prices to the consumer will be advanced by the trusts in every instance. Wages will not relatively go up in proportion to the increased cost of living. The people will also be sure they have had religious instruction at the hands of colporteurs.

As Bunker Albert, of Salem, is not inclined to divulge his views as to what financial legislation should be had, it would not be out of place for the advocates of the gold standard to elaborate their financial system. Mr. Albert will find the members of the silver club of Salem composed of intelligent persons, men and who own property, pay taxes, support the government, and are quite well-informed, if the Statesman and Oregonian do call them hard names. Mr. Albert could present his facts and arguments to the club. They could be taken down and then examined to see if they were true, and, if not, they could reply. That would be more reasonable and intelligent than calling names. Mr. Albert has said there should be financial legislation and now he should say what that should be. If the Silver club would invite Bunker Albert to address them they would hear an interesting and profitable discourse.

The Astoria Budget shows how the people are robbed under the text book contract between the State of Oregon and the school book trust, that expires in 1900. What do the people exist for but to be robbed by trusts? Isn't that the mission of governments? There was nothing the editor of this paper was criticised for so severely as for voting to have the state print elementary text books for the public schools. It's all right for the state to print volumes on horticulture and horse-racing; but a proposition to print a first reader, a simple arithmetic, or a spelling book causes all the hair on a statesman's head to stand on end and he screams socialism at the top of his voice.

The Newsboy's Clammy Howler of Portland is the most unique publication on the Pacific coast. It is now carrying on a crusade against the recent advance in prices of the Portland papers to the newsboys.

The boys are on a strike and the Howler is the backbone of the attack on monopoly methods. The paper has been enlarged and bids fair to grow still more. There was a time when the San Francisco Chronicle was no bigger than this newsboy's advocate of liberty and equal rights.

Cure for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of headaches Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded sick headache yields to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In case of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Fifty cents and $1.00 at Fred A. Catarrh in the Head

Is a disease that may lead to consumption. Catarrh is caused by impure blood, and the true way to cure it is by purifying the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh because it removes the cause of it by purifying the blood. Thousands testify that they have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists 25 cents.

Campus Tennis Club.

The Campus Tennis Club of Willamette University, held a very pleasant meeting at the home of Miss Edith Frizzel on Summer street, Wednesday evening.

The club was called to order soon after eight by the president, Miss Marie Rockwell.

Mr. R. B. Wilkins was elected a member of the club.

A great deal of business was transacted during the evening, a very important part of which was initiation of Mr. I. P. Callison and Miss Cora Litchfield.

At a late hour the club adjourned having spent an evening full of business interspersed with many merry jokes and laughter.

Those present were, Misses Marie Rockwell, Cora Litchfield, Lucia Cochran, Mattie Beatty, Edith Frizzel, Ethel Frizzel, and Grace McFadden of Portland. Messrs. J. H. Robnett, J. W. Reynolds, C. J. Atwood, P. L. Brown of Silverton, W. P. Matthews, I. P. Callison and L. F. Reynolds.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Marie Rockwell on the evening of January 2, 1897.

FAR WESTERN REFLECTIONS.

About Books and Periodicals of the Day.

[Address all mss. and communications to the editor.]

Conan Doyle, Jerome K. Jerome, Stanley Weyman, Mary E. Wilkins, Anthony Hope, Bret Harte, Brander Matthews and many other great authors are contributors to the Thrice-a-Week World, advertised elsewhere.

dishes eaten by the English in America, Australia, England, Canada and India, and is followed by "Some Old-fashioned Thanksgiving Dainties," Seasonable and Creole recipes, the Thanksgiving Menus and Entertainments and the Housekeeper." Inquiries are full of help and information for the housekeeper and homemaker. Any of our readers, sending their name and address to the Table Talk Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., are offered a sample copy of the magazine free.

This is a liberal offer and for a mere request, by naming THE JOURNAL you will get a beautiful magazine.

Ever alive to the artistic tastes of the times, The Art Amateur gives this month a lavish selection of examples of the work of the early English masters, the "craze" for which still continues. The number is more than usually rich with its two charming colored supplements—one a rich, bright and glowing study of geraniums by Clara Goodyear, the other a delightful study of outdoor life by Rhoda Holmes Nichols, about which, by the bye, the editor has a curious tale to tell in his Note Book.

Landscape Painting, Still-life Painting, Sketching, Illustrating, Advice to Art Students, Art Notes and Hints, are all practical and good, and the number is more than usually complete in every department. The publisher authorizes us to repeat the offer made by him last month to send to anyone who quotes this notice, a specimen copy of this issue together with the valuable little "Manual of Practical Hints for Beginners," post free, on receipt of 25 cents, the usual price of the magazine being 35 cents or $4 a year. Applicants should ask for the list of special offers to new subscribers this year. (Montague Marks, 23 Union Square, New York.)

Messrs. Copeland & Day, Boston, take pleasure in announcing for immediate publication "A Boy's Book of Rhyme," Clinton Scollard, with cover design by Emma Kaan. Paper boards octavo $1. By the same author: "Will's Song." A Book of Poems with cover design by Ethel Reed. Cloth octavo $1.

Messrs. Harper & Brothers published the following books November 17th.

"The mystery of Sleep," by John Bigelow; "Naval Actions of the War of 1821," by James Barnes; "An Elephant's Track; and other Stories," by M. E. M. Davis; and in the new and uniform library edition of Mark Twain's works, "Tom Sawyer, Detective, and Other Stories."

BOOKS RECEIVED.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co: Literary Friends, and Letters of Victor Hugo.

Harper & Brothers: Shakespear the Boy, The Old Infant, and The Dwarf's Tailor.

Lee & Shepard: Four Young Explorers, and On the Staff.

Bowen & Merrill: A Guest at Ludlow by Bill Nye, and The Child World by James Whitcomb Riley.

GOODEY'S Magazine for December has an especial Christmas time flavor.

The frontispiece is a reproduction of the splendid painting of Gherardo della Notte, "The Adoration of the Shepherds," a picture never before given in an American Magazine.

Following this is an illustrated series,

"The First Christmas," by C. F. Lester, who builds his pictures upon the text of the Scriptures, "And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night, etc., a noble theme to which the artist has added the charm of his art with fine effect.

To those who dwell upon the coming of the Christmashide with reverence these pictures will appeal very strongly. They certainly compose a fine collection, and are worthy to be preserved.

SIR GEORGE TRESSADY.

Two volumes were required to deliver to the world "Marcella," by the same author. But it was an imperfectly developed Marcella. Now we have the woman ripened into the full perfection of her powers. These volumes had better have been named in honor of the greater and nobler type of womanhood. The memory of her will always be the predominant image in mind when we think of these two later volumes which are named for the ill-starred member of parliament who was swayed beyond his depths, first by an unscrupulous leader, and next by a woman devoted to but one object—the success of her husband's bill. It is true the reader had rather not have had his Marcella do what she did. But she would not have been quite human if she had not done so. Of the sad ending of Sir George, by a coal mine explosion, the reader would have preferred to have been spared. But it is still a fashion to throw gloom and horror into the pages of works of fiction. Just as it is for men to wear stiff hats and long coats, and women to groan in steelribbed corsets.

The valuable parts of Mrs. Humphrey Ward's work in these volumes, as in the former, is her clear insight into practical English politics, and her sidelights on the English social fabric. There are no prettier groups than gather at the knees of the heroine, nor prettier talk than the gossip retailed there about the English nobility. We cannot forgive a tendency to the borderlands of scandal, and yet the dread of the examinations so much in vogue at present, deter the sufferer still longer.

As a matter of fact, examinations and "local treatment" should not be submitted to till everything else has failed.

Nine times in ten, they are wholly unnecessary. Women were cured before these obnoxious methods came into practice.

For over 30 years, Dr. Pierrot's Favorite Prescription has been successfully prescribed for all derangements of the womanly organism. It is remarkable for its effect on the whole system.

It makes the blood pure, makes digestion better, helps stomach, kidneys and bowels and is wonderful in its effects on the generative organs.

It immediately begins to allay the inflammation and stops the debilitating drain that is always apparent.

As the inflammation ceases, the pain stops, the nerves are quieted and the increased bodily strength does the what novel reader of confirmed tastes will find fault with her work on that score? Her American publishers are Macmillan Company of New York, and all who have read Marcella will want to read this fulfillment of their dreams of that character, formed from the raw material, by the creative skill of Mrs. Ward.

For a Christmas present that shall exert a wholesome, civilizing and refining influence on children the year through, and they do need something of this kind, we can recommend no better Christmas present than either of two monthlies, "Our Dumb Animals," or "Our Animal friends." Both are illustrated and contain much that is valuable for preservation in literary form. No better missionary can make the circle of the neighborhood than these little messengers of mercy loaned from household to household, teaching children by picture and story to love all created things. No better charity than the circulation of such literature can be imagined on behalf of creatures that cannot demand kindness for themselves.

STATE NEWS.

The mayor of Baker City wants to be postmaster of that thriving town.

There were seven successful teachers in the county institute of Yamhill county last week,

A meeting was held at La Grande to secure a beet sugar factory. It is proposed to raise a subsidy of 3,500 acres of land.

George Mayborn of Detroit, was in Oregon City proving up on his homestead when his house and fences were taken off by the high water.

Deer are becoming familiar. Last Sunday one swam down the river past Albany. An effort made to capture him failed, and yesterday one was shot in the street of Corvallis by John Simpson, formerly of Soap Creek.

Thomas Swift and another man whose name is not known went to the house of an old Dutchman at Haystack, in Grant county, last week, and beat him unmercifully demanding his money.

W. A. McClain, of Albany one of the bridge crew who went to examine the bridge on the Santiam, was accidentally thrown from the bridge, a distance of sixteen feet breaking his right leg at the knee, on a rock pile below the bridge, causing the bone to protrude.

It is often said, a good book is the best companion, but how much more is to be said in favor of books that also charm the young by their style and contents and yet leave only a good influence on the impressionable nature of children! We have had occasion to refer to three works that are distinctly of this nature, "Tan Pile Jim," and "Dick and Jack" and "The Heart of a Boy," published by Laird & Lee, Chicago. We have now to add a fourth volume just issued by the same firm, "Air Castle Don," by the first two named—B. Freeman Ashley. As the preface well says: "This author has struck, with his brilliant, wholesome and instructive stories a permanent vein of rapture among young and old." The Young America series will be the means of elevating the minds of millions of our youth and furnish them with healthy recreation. This latest story is designed to take boys and girls from dreamland to hardpan. We can recommend no better volumes for the home library than these. They are especially adapted for reading aloud and if not sold in the local bookstores, can be ordered of the publishers at $1 each in beautiful embossed and gold binding.

They also cause many pains and disorders which often lead to other causes and hence are not easily cured. But as soon as the poisons are removed, all these symptoms disappear, because there is nothing left to cause them. Nothing succeeds in this like Shaker Digestive Cordial, because it prevents the undigested food from fermenting in the stomach and helps the stomach to digest its food.

Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1 per bottle.
