An Interesting Lecture.

The first of a series of lectures on "Mythology" will be given by Prof. F. S. Dunn in Willamette university chapel next Wednesday evening, December 1, commencing at 8 o'clock. The students of the university are especially invited to attend these lectures which will be delivered throughout the winter in the university chapel. An invitation is also extended to the public to attend the lectures. Prof. Dunn's subject for Wednesday evening is "The Acropolis." These lectures by Prof. Dunn on Mythology will alternate with a course of lectures on American History by President W. C. Hawley. The lectures will be highly entertaining as President Hawley has devoted years to the study of history and can present the lectures intelligently. The subject for his lectures, which will be "The Rise and Fall of the Slave Power in the United States." The date for the first lecture by President Hawley has not yet been announced, but will be anxiously awaited.

Football Challenges.

The Willamette University second team received a challenge, Wednesday, from the Monmouth second team for a match game of football to be played at Monmouth on Saturday, December 5th. The challenge was immediately accepted and the Monmouth team so informed. On Saturday, the 28th inst, the University second team will play the Chemawa Juniors at Chemawa.

A CORRECTION.—In account of the coroner's inquest over the remains of Eva York at the State Insane Asylum, Wednesday morning, the JOURNAL was made to say "and the jury further finds that the superintendent and attaches of the insane asylum ARE responsible for the death of said deceased, Eva York." This was of course a mistake, the phrase "in no way" following the word "are" being accidentally omitted by the typesetter. The mistake was not detected by the proof reader and the correction is cheerfully made in justice to the officers of that state institution.

A BANQUET.—The Oregon Hop Dealers Association last evening enjoyed a Thanksgiving banquet at Strong's restaurant. The banquet hall was beautifully decorated and those participating in the pleasant affair were: H. J. Ottenhemmer, L. L. Lachmund, Julius C. Pincus, B. O. Shuckling, E. C. Herren, Chas. Luesley, C. Carmichael, J. McNeff, H. Uchtman, Kola Neis, A. J. Luce and A. Bernheim.

A STRIKE.—The first "strike" of the season occurred at midnight Thursday. Instead of making the usual number of strokes at that hour the town clock struck 212 times much to the astonishment of those who happened on the streets at that hour. We feared for a times that the strike would have no end but fortunately a compromise was effected and it was happily ended with the 212th stroke.

TURKIES.—The children and force of employees at the Orphan's home feasted on turkeys Thanksgiving day. It is suspected that a Salem bachelor who has no children had something to do with the matter. His name is thought to be something like Yeaton.

A GOOD OLD BOY.—A. T. Yeaton has a weakness for little children and as his custom yesterday sent several choice turkeys to the orphans' home for the youngsters there.

SENIORITA.

Salem Amateurs Play in a Cold House—Sensation.

The Salem amateurs who presented "Seniorita" at the Reed Thanksgiving night literally played to a cold house—in the latter acts appearing in their wraps and ulsters. The good work of several really excellent actors in suitable parts and a splendid play, was spoiled by the chill atmosphere caused by weather near to zero accompanied by high winds. The audience was a good one and received Mr. Burggraf and his company in the best spirits everything considered. But the new drop curtain refusing to work, worked a further embarrassment on the players, who had to stand at close of each act until repeated efforts brought down the recalcitrant curtain.

As a finale, when the audience was leaving the house a young hop-buyer had an altercation with Prof. McElroy of the orchestra. Citizens interfered to prevent a general melee. The Thanksgiving entertainment seems to have suffered from a general conspiracy of the elements, the stage carpenter, the fellows who were celebrating the day—the combination was exceedingly unfortunate. The effort to connect the Salem hop buyer's association with the affair is not doing that organization justice. A number of those gentlemen had a banquet together but are in no wise responsible for the misconduct of any of their number. The association numbers some of the most respectable business people and families in Oregon.

A Social Time.

Eighty-two members of Protection Lodge, A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor lodges enjoyed the excursion to Independence, last Wednesday night. The company had a glorious time and all pronounce the Independence people as the most hospitable entertainers yet met with. The Altona made good time and proved the reliability of that popular excursion steamer. The Independence lodge expect to return the compliment in the near future, when they can surely expect a rare treat in the shape of Protection's hospitality. The excursion was very successfully managed and everybody was highly delighted with the pleasant evening spent.
