

M'KINLEY

Has Distinguished Visitors.

California Will be Represented in the Cabinet.

CANTON, Dec. 1.—There have only on rare occasions been so many distinguished party leaders in Canton. Some members of congress, about to start for Washington, stopped over to confer with the president-elect. Among his callers were Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, M. H. DeYoung of the Chronicle, San Francisco, and Mrs. DeYoung. General Flora Porter, of New York, who is expected to be chief marshal of the inauguration parade, arrived at 1 o'clock this afternoon and went directly to the McKinley home.

MEMBER OF CABINET.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—The Bulletin says: "James A. Waymire of this city and Alameda will be the Pacific coast representative in the cabinet of President-elect McKinley. While no portfolio has yet been definitely assigned to Judge Waymire it is understood he will be secretary of the interior. Waymire is a prominent attorney and capitalist. He is a personal friend of Major McKinley and also of Mark Hanna. During the campaign he was understood to be the personal representative in California of McKinley and Hanna."

Supreme Court Decision.

San Francisco, Judge McKenna of United States circuit court Monday delivered his long awaited decision in the important case of the Northern Pacific company against the state board of railroad commissioners involving the right of the commission to restrict freight rates over the companies lines in this state. Each side claims a victory in the decision, which concedes the right of the commission to make reduction in rates but makes a permanent injunction against the commissioners, restraining them from making eight per cent reduction in grain rates, on the ground that the profits of the Southern Pacific did not justify that cut in the rates.

On the question raised by the Southern Pacific, that two of the commissioners were ineligible to reduce rates, Judge McKenna decided that candidates had a right to profits of the Southern Pacific did not constitute ineligibility.

Retaliation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Retaliation against European countries, that seek to destroy American trade, is suggested by United States Consul-General M. Judd at Vienna. He says that the Austrian glucose producers, finding their trust powerless to meet the rates asked by Americans, appealed to their government and the latter has increased the duty on imported glucose from 7 1/2 to 8 forins per 100 kilos, to take effect December 1st. This is aimed directly at America, as the United States is the only country competing for this trade and will shut us out from further sale of syrup.

CONGRESS

Has Now a Full Calendar.

Not Likely to Dispose of Much Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—It is not probable that the house, at the coming session of congress, which begins a week from today, can dispose of much of the proposed legislation which encumbers its calendars. Little is usually accomplished at the short session beyond the passage of the regular supply bills. Still, the house, with its instrumentalities for the expedition of business, can accomplish a great deal in a brief time.

The question of additional revenues for the government will depend on the senate, to which body the house sent the Dingley bill almost a year ago. Should it be impossible, or to be deemed inexpedient to press that measure through the senate, there is of course a possibility that the proposal to increase the revenues by an additional tax on beer or the imposition of a duty on tea, coffee, etc., may take tangible form and, if so, such legislation must originate, under the constitution, in the lower branch of congress.

The power lodged in the hands of the committee on rules, which gives the members of that committee control of the house programme, will make that committee the practical arbitrator of what shall be submitted to the house for its action. That committee is composed at present of the speaker, Henderson of Iowa, Datzell of Pennsylvania and McMillin of Tennessee. The death of ex-Speaker Crisp creates a vacancy at the head of the committee, which must be filled by the speaker. The names principally mentioned in connection with the vacancy are Bailey of Texas, Catchings of Mississippi, Turner of Georgia, Richardson of Tennessee, and Dockery of Missouri.

The bill, which in many respects is fraught this time with most interest, and which will press hardest for consideration is the Pacific railroad funding bill. The bonds guaranteed by the government are payable early in the coming year, and either an extension or a foreclosure stares the reads in the face. For eight years, funding bills have occupied a good share of the attention of congress. The present bill, of which Mr. Powers of Vermont is the author, was reported shortly before the close of the last session. Everything will be done by those interested in it to secure consideration.

The friends of the Nicaragua canal are also bending every energy to secure action on the bill reported by Mr. Doolittle, which provides for a guarantee by the United States of $100,000,000 of bonds for the construction of the canal.

The Loud bill, to cure the abuses of the law relating to second-class mail matter, of which newspaper matter is transmitted at 1 cent per pound, and which has been the subject of much criticism by the post office department because of the advantage taken of the law in various ways for the transmission of books and pamphlets, will also be pressed, as will be the Pickler service pension bill, which occupies a favorable position on the calendar as a privileged report.

Among the other important bills are the Wadsworth bill, for the creation of a bureau of animal industry for the inspection of meats and the regulation of the transportation of live stock. The immigration bill, the Chickering bill for ascertaining the feasibility and cost of a ship canal from the great lakes to the Hudson, several important public land bills, for the admission of territories, and many others of special interest to particular locations.

BLIZZARD.

Railroad Traffic Resumed.

Stock Suffered As Well As the People.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 1. News from the blizzard has been meagre. So far as learned only five lives have been lost. Nothing has yet been heard from the districts beyond the reach of telegraph, and it may be another week before it can be positively stated that there has been more serious loss of life. The streets of snowbound Dakota towns are being cleared as rapidly as possible. The extremely cold weather has frozen the snow until the immense drifts have reached the proportions of gigantic icebergs; dynamite is being used to blast these out of the way, ordinary picks and shovels being unable to make any impression on them.

Stock on the ranges has undoubtedly suffered heavily and a fuel famine is threatened in many of the smaller towns in Dakota. This is by no means a trivial affair, where the mercury is ranging from 15 to 30 degrees below zero. The railroads are beginning to get their trains running again. The great Northern got its first train into St. Paul from the snowbound district and the Northern Pacific reports that its line is now open from Portland to St. Paul.

Charged With Rape.

August Burchard, a farmer living between Stayton and Melham, this county, was arrested Monday on a charge of rape committed on his 17-year-old daughter. Burchard is 56 years old, and has four daughters, three of whom are married. The arrest was made at the instance of two sons-in-law, Huntley and Shanks.

When the old man was placed in jail, at Salem, he professed innocence, and declared somebody was putting up a job on him.

Defendant was arraigned before Justice H. A. Johnson this morning charged with rape. Mr. Burchard entered a plea of "not guilty" and will be given a trial at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He was placed in under $2500 bonds, but at a late hour this afternoon had not succeeded in securing bondsmen and it is probable he will spend the night in the county jail. The defendant has retained as counsel, Messrs Sherman, Park & Condit.

OREGON PERSONALS.

Will Dunn has returned from Medford to take his place as night operator for the S. P. Co at Salem.

H. S. Jordan, of Salem, and Prof. Parsons, of Portland, are to give a series of dancing parties at Salem this season.

Miss Ballou's school on Liberty street was obliged today to suspend a few days in order that repairs may be made in the plumbing.

Sheriff Wrightman, of Marion county, will conduct the largest sale of lands for delinquent taxes Friday Dec. 11, ever held at Salem.

Editor J. H. Fletcher, Mayor of West Salem, has reorganized the debating society at that town. It is said the ex-Governor's name is liable to come up for President of the club.

On reliable information THE JOURNAL included the name of Editor Irvine of the Salem Statesman among candidates for clerk of the State Board of Equalization. The information was not correct.

Wheat.

Talkington's circular, Salem, Dec. 1.—The strong wheat market is easily accounted for. It is not due to speculation, for the mass of speculators here and abroad are for the moment bearish. This was accomplished at the expense of a largely increased short interest. As soon as short selling caused millers and cash grain-handlers all over the country rushed to take advantage of the lower prices established and quickly absorbed all offerings.

Chicago wheat opened on board today at 84¢ and closed at 84¢. Cash 80¢, Liverpool December 6s 11d. A decline of 2c.

Weyler's Movements.

HAVANA, Dec. 1.—Details of the movements of General Weyler reached here. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday he left Artemisa, following the advance guard of his columns, which were flanked by squadrons from the Principe regiment. He was accompanied by General Ruiz, who commanded a brigade, and by General Escribano, his chief, and the aide-de-camp.

CHANDLER'S

Views On the Late Election

Bimetallism From the Republican Standpoint.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The Post, in a cable letter from London, prints an advance copy of an important article written by Hon. William E. Chandler, senator from New Hampshire, for the December issue of the National Review, the conservative monthly, in which he discusses the late election from the Republican standpoint. His principal object is to encourage European bimetalists to their propaganda.

The Review, commenting editorially upon the election of Major McKinley, dogmatically asserts that, "unless the Republican party settles the silver question before 1900, there will be nothing left of the party after 1900."

Senator Chandler's article is as follows:

"European bimetalists need not believe that the selection of McKinley and Hobart by overwhelming majorities is a decision to permanently accede to the single gold standard. The Bryan proposition was soon seen by the American voters to be simply that the United States should accept silver monometallism, should give up all attempts to keep gold and silver at a parity, should send gold to a premium and thereby make it merchandise merely, and should base all American prices upon silver only. It can hardly be considered, upon reflection, by any true bimetalist, that such action on our part would have helped the cause of bimetalism in any country in the world.

"A majority of the people wish for a more energetic foreign policy than they believe will come from any Democratic administration. They are deeply affected by the lamentable condition of the Christian subjects of the Turkish empire. They mean to annex Hawaii. They desire to see Venezuela allowed to retain her rightful sole dominion over the mouth of the Orinoco. They are intensely anxious to see arrested the atrocities in Cuba, and to aid in making the island free and independent.

"But none of the foregoing reasons, not even the one concerning the national honor in connection with the currency, influenced so many voters against Bryan as did the determination of the American people to plainly vindicate and firmly establish the principle of protection to American industry by adequate tariff duties on foreign products.

"That the United States is opposed to the single gold standard, and is in favor of retaining, in due course and with careful regard to the national honor, the steps taken in the demonetization of silver, until gold and silver shall be admitted to free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1, and made the standard money of the world and the measure of values of the world, is a proposition which would receive the suffrages of four-fifths of our voters, if this proposition alone could be fairly presented to them, even without further debate.

"To such convictions, entertained by a vast majority of American voters committed to bimetalism, the friends of such a monometary system may confidently appeal. The question is not one for four years, nor for a decade. It may take as long to remonetize silver as it has taken to realize the paralyzing influence of demonetization. But the fact that 6,000,000 out of the 13,000,000 of American voters have given their ballots for the wild project of immediate free coinage by the United States alone shows that the question is one which must be compromised and adjusted in some way. The advocates of gold monometallism are crying out that the silver question is dead. They hope, but not really believe, that this is true. Never was it more important for bimetalists to exert themselves. Mr. McKinley is pledged by his own words to cooperate with us."
