

GROVER'S MESSAGE.

The year before the present insurrection broke out amounted to nearly $60,000,000. The large American property interests affected and considerations of philanthropy and humanitarianism in general have led to a vehement demand in various quarters for some sort of positive intervention on the part of the United States. It is now also suggested that the United States should buy the island—a suggestion probably worthy of consideration if there were any evidences of a desire or willingness on the part of Spain to entertain such a proposal. It is urged that all other methods failing, the existing internecine strife in Cuba should be terminated by our intervention, even at the cost of a war between the United States and Spain—a war which its advocates confidently prophesy could neither be large in its proportions or doubtful in its issue.

The United States has, nevertheless, a character to maintain as a nation, which plainly indicates that right, and not might, should be the rule of its conduct. It would seem that if Spain should offer to Cuba genuine autonomy—a measure of home rule, while preserving the sovereignty of Spain, would satisfy all rational requirements of her Spanish subjects—there should be no other reason why the pacification of the island might not be effected on that basis. Such a result would appear to be in the true interest of all concerned. It would stop at once the conflict which is now consuming the resources of the island and making it worthless for whichever party may ultimately prevail. It would keep intact the possessions of Spain without touching her honor, which will be considered rather than struck by the adequate redress of admitted grievances. It would put the property of the island and the fortunes of its inhabitants within their own control without severing their natural and ancient ties which bind would yet enable them to test their capacity for self-government under the most favorable conditions. It has been objected on the one side that Spain would not promise autonomy until her insurgent subjects lay down their arms; on the other side, that promised autonomy, however liberal, is insufficient, because without assurance of the promise being filled. But the reasonableness of the requirements of Spain of unconditional surrender on the part of the insurgents—Cubans before their autonomy is conceded—is not altogether apparent. Nevertheless, realizing that suspicions on the part of the weaker of two combatants are always natural, and not always unjustifiable, being seriously desirous in the interest of both, as well as on its own account, that the Cuban problem should be solved with the least possible delay it was intimated by this government to the government of Spain some months ago that if a satisfactory measure of home-rule were tendered the Cuban insurgents, and would be accepted by them upon a guarantee of its execution, the United States would endeavor to find a way, not objectionable to Spain, for furnishing such guaranty.

While no definite response to this intimation has yet been received from the Spanish government, it is believed to be not altogether unwelcome while perceived why it should not be approved by the insurgents. The friendly offices of the United States, either in the manner above outlined or in any other way consistent with our constitution and laws, will always be at the disposal of either party. Whichever circumstances may arise, our policy and our interest would constrain us to object to the acquisition of the island or an interference with its control by any other power. It should be added that it cannot be reasonably assumed that the hitherto expectant attitude of the United States will be indefinitely maintained. While we are anxious to record all due respect to the sovereignty of Spain, we cannot view the pending conflict in all its features and properly apprehend our close relations to it and its possible results without consideration that by the course of events we may be drawn into such an unusual and unprecedented condition as will fix a limit to our patient waiting for Spain to end the contest, either alone and in her own way, or with our friendly cooperation. Deferring the choice of ways and methods until the time for action arrives, we should then depend upon the precise conditions then existing.

THE DEFICIENCY.
The secretary of the treasury reports that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, the receipts of the government from all sources amounted to $490,475,498.76. During the same period its expenditures were $434,878,654.48, the excess of the expenditures over receipts thus amounting to $225,203,245.70. The value of our imported dutiable merchandise during the last fiscal year was $369,157,770 and the value of free goods imported $409,987,470. Being an increase of $6,523,075 in the value of free goods over the preceding year.

THE COINAGE.
The total coinage in the mints of the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, amounted to $72,188,468.52, of which $58,878,400 was in gold and minor coins.

IMMIGRATION.
The number of immigrants arrived in the United States during the fiscal year was 343,567, of which 340,363 were permitted to land and 2,799 departed on various grounds prescribed by law and returned to the countries whence they came, at the expense of the steamship companies by which they were brought in. The increase in immigration over the preceding year amounted to about 84,131. It is reported that, with some exceptions the immigrants of the past year were of a hardy laboring class, able to earn a support for themselves. It is known that many brought considerable sums of money to buy land and build homes. They were over fourteen years of age, 23.63 per cent. were illiterate against 20.37 per cent. of those of that age arriving during the preceding fiscal year. The number of immigrants over 14 years old the countries from which they came and the percentage of illiterates among them were as follows: Italy, 57,515 with 54.59 per cent.; Ireland, 34,493 with 7 per cent.; Russia, 35,188 with 14.14 per cent.; Austria-Hungary and provinces, 57,053 with 39.92 per cent.; Germany, 25,334 with 2.96 per cent.; Sweden, 18,821 with 1.16 per cent.; while from Portugal there came 2,067, of which 77.96 per cent. were illiterate. There arrived from Japan during the year only 1,110 immigrants.

GUNS AND FORTS.
In the hope the work of building up the navy will be prosecuted with no less vigor in the future, the secretary of the navy has submitted an estimate by what, if allowed, will be provided and either built or building by the end of the next fiscal year such additional guns, mortars, gun carriages and emplacements as will represent not far from one-third of the total needed for the augmentation of the navy provided for by the act under which certain federal officials are compensated by salaries instead of fees. The new plan was put in operation on the first day of July, 1896, and already the great economy it enforces, its prevention of abuses, and its tendency to a better enforcement of the laws are strikingly apparent.

THE PENSION ROLL.
The diminution of our enormous pension expenditures, which have been so often commented on, are still far from a material realization. The number of pensioners on the rolls at the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1896, was 970,078. This is the largest number ever reported. The amount paid exclusively for pensions this year was $138,214,761.94, a slight decrease from that of the preceding year, while the total expenditures on account of maintaining the department and expenses attending the pension distributions, amounted to $142,206,550.59, or within a very small fraction of one-third of the entire amount of supporting the government during the year. The number of new pension certificates issued was 90,640; of these 40,370 represent original allowances of claimants and 50,270 represent renewals. The sum appropriated for the payment of pensions for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1897, is $140,000,000 and for the succeeding year it is estimated that the same amount will be necessary.

On January, 1, 1897, with the amount already matured, more than $13,000,000 of the principal of the United States Pacific railway, including its Kansas line, and more than six millions of like bonds issued in aid of the Central Pacific railway, including those issued to the Western Pacific railway company, will have fallen due and been paid or must on that day be paid by the government. Without any reference to the application of the sinking fund now in the treasury, this will create such a default on the part of these companies to the government as will give it the right to at once institute proceedings to foreclose its mortgage lien. In the case of the United Pacific the situation has become especially and immediately urgent. Proceedings have been instituted to foreclose a first mortgage upon the whole of the main line upon which the government holds a second mortgage lien.

The secretary of agriculture reports that the value of the exports of our farm products during the last fiscal year amounted to $570,000,000, an increase of $17,000,000 over those of the year immediately preceding. In my opinion the gratuitous distribution of seeds by the department at present, conducted, ought to be discontinued. The weather bureau, now attached to the department of agriculture, has continued to extend its sphere of usefulness and by uninterrupted improvement in the accuracy of its forecasts, has greatly increased its efficiency as an aid and protection to all those whose occupations are related to the weather conditions.

I desire to venture upon some suggestions touching our present tariff law and its operation. This statute took effect on the 28th day of August, 1894. Whatever may be its shortcomings as a complete measure of tariff reform, it must be conceded that it has opened a way to a freer and greater exchange of commodities between the United States and the countries and thus furnished a wider market for our products and manufacturing. The only entire fiscal year during which the law has been in force ended on the 30th day of June, 1896. In that year our imports increased over those of the previous year more than $6,500,000, while the value of the domestic product we exported and which found markets abroad, was nearly $70,000,000 more than during the preceding year. Those who insist that the cost to our people of articles coming to them from abroad for their useful use, should only be increased through tariff charges to an extent necessary to meet the expenses of the government as well as those who claim that tariff charges may be laid upon such articles beyond the necessities of the government revenue and with the additional purpose so increasing their price in our markets as to give American manufacturers and producers better and more profitable opportunities, must agree that our tariff laws are only primarily justified as sources of revenue to enable the government to meet the necessary expenses of its maintenance. Considered as to its sufficiency in this aspect the present law can by no means fall under just condemnation. I believe our present tariff law, if allowed a fair opportunity, will in the near future yield a revenue which, with reasonably economical expenditures, will overcome all deficiencies. In the meantime, no deficit—that has occurred or may occur, need excite or disturb us. To meet any such deficiency, we have in the treasury, in addition to a gold reserve of $100,000,000, a surplus of more than $128,000,000, applicable to the payment of the expenses of the government and which must, unless expended for that purpose, remain in useless hoard, or, if not extravagantly wasted, must if any event be prevented from the purpose of its exaction from our people. The payment, therefore, of any deficiency in the revenue from this fund, is nothing more than its proper and legitimate use. The government thus applying a surplus fortunately in treasury to the payment of expenses not met by its current revenues, is not at all to be likened to a man living beyond his income and thus incurring debt or encroaching on his principal. It is not one of the functions of our government to accumulate and make additions to a fund not needed for immediate expenditure. With individuals it is the chief object of struggle and effort. The application of an accumulated fund by the government to the payment of its running expenses is a duty. Such irrational results fall far short of compensating the palpable evils charged to the account of trusts and monopolies. Their tendency is to crush out individual independence and hinder or prevent the free use of human facilities and the full development of human character. Through them the farmer, the artisan and the small trader is in danger of dislodgment from the proud position of being his own master. The welfare of all that loses of his country's prosperity in which he has an individual lot, and interested in all that affects the advantages of business of which he is a factor. It is immeasurably better to appropriate our surplus to the payment of justifiable expenses than to allow it to become an invitation to reckless appropriations and extravagant expenditures. I suppose it will not be denied that under the present law our people obtain the necessities of a comfortable existence at a cheaper rate than formerly. This is a matter of supreme importance, since it is the palpable duty of every just government to make the burdens of taxation as light as possible. The people should not be required to relinquish this privilege of cheap living except under the stress of their government's necessities necessarily made plainly manifest.

This reference to the condition and prospects of our revenues naturally suggests an illusion to the weakness and the vices of our financial methods. They have been frequently pressed upon the attention of congress in previous executive communications and the inevitable danger of their continued toleration pointed out. I am now convinced that ever that we can have no assured financial peace and safety until the government currency obligations upon which gold may be demanded from the treasury are withdrawn from circulation and cancelled. This might be done as has been heretofore recommended, but their exchange for the long time bonds bearing a low rate of interest or by their redemption with the proceeds of such bonds. Even if only the United States notes, known as greenbacks, were thus retired, it is probable that the treasury notes issued in payment of silver purchases, under the act of July 14, 1890, now paid in gold when demanded, would not create such disturbances as they might from time to time when received in the treasury by redemption in gold or otherwise, be gradually and prudently replaced by the silver coin.

This plan of issuing bonds for the purpose of redemption certainly appears to be the most effective and direct path to the needed reform. In default of this, however, it would be a step in the right direction if currency obligations, redeemable in gold whenever so redeemed should be cancelled instead of being reissued. This operation would be a slow remedy, but it would improve present conditions.

"GREATEST ON EARTH."
Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve.

Mr. R. T. Caldwell, is book-keeper in the First National Bank of Fulton, Ky. "I was completely run down. My nerves became so unstrung through loss of sleep and worry that I felt sure I would be compelled to give up my position and work a week or two. I was persuaded to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve. I had not used it long when I felt a new energy and I took but little time to shake me up so that I could not possibly attend to my business as I should.
