AN IMMENSE BARRELL.—Neckerman & Rogers, the popular young liquor dealers, yesterday received the largest cask of whiskey that was ever brought to the city. It stands 44 feet high and its circumference is 9 feet and contains 150 gallons of superior whiskey, the total weight of which is 1540 pounds. The barrel is made of oak, nicely varnished with twelve steel hoors in silver painted and bears steel hoops in silver painted and bears the name "Stonewall Jackson" in gold letters. It is quite a curiosity, and is worth going to see.
