Cripple

The iron grasp of scrofula has no mercy upon its victims. This demon of the blood is often not satisfied with causing dreadful sores, but racks the body with the pains of rheumatism until Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

"Nearly four years ago I became afflicted with scrofula and rheumatism.

Pieces of bone came out and an operation light stocks in brewers' hands. was contemplated. I had rheumatism in my legs, drawn up out of shape. I lost appetite, could not sleep. I was a perfect wreck. I continued to grow worse and finally gave up the doctor's treatment to My limbs straightened out and I threw away my crutches. I am now stout and hearty and am farming, whereas four years ago I was a cripple. I gladly rec-ommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." URBAN HAMMOND, Table Grove, Illinois.

HOP CULTURE.

fore we surpass even the state of New York-the oldest hop growing state in the Union.

One of the many advantages possessed by Oregon over the state of New York is in the enormous yield. In New York with the best of cultivation the average yield seldom exceeds five hundred pounds to the acre, while in Oregon the average yield is from twelve to fifteen hundred pounds to the acre, and in some of the bottom lands along the banks of the Willamette the yield averages two thousand pounds per acre, and in some exceptional cases has been known to even exceed this.

In Europe the yield is even lighter than in New York state, notwithstanding the fact that the hop growers in that country are compelled to expend considerable sums for fertilizers, an article that is not required in this state. It is estimated that the average cost of production in England is from twelve to fifteen cents per pound, and in New York state nine to eleven cents, while in this state the average cost of production does not exceed six to seven Sold by all druggists. cents per pound.

It will be readily seen that with an, increased yield per acre and superior quality, that it will not be long before our Eastern neighbors must abandon hop raising and devote their time to other pursuits.

One can get an idea of the growth and importance of the hop industry of this state by comparing the crop of 1880 which amounted to less than one million pounds to that of 1895 which amounted to over twenty million pounds,

The Willamette valley is fairly studded with hop yards, every one of which has one or more hop kilns. It is estimated that there is over two thousand hop yards in this state each representing an out-lay of frnm five hundred to five thousdollars. It is estimated that it costs about 5 cents per pound to pick, cure and bale hops, so that it will be readily seen that at least $1,000,000 is expended annually in this state for harvesting the crop alone. As more than one half of the hops grown in the state are produced in Marion and Polk counties, the merchants of Salem and neighboring towns derive considerable benefit from the industry.

One of the pleasant features of hop culture is that it gives employment address may have the method of this wonderto a great number of women and children at a time when they are not every weakened man to get the benefit of my engaged in other occupations and who would not otherwise earn any money. Even the smaller children assist in who would be cured at once could the picking and a family can earn quite a but get such a remedy as the one that curerd me. ally resulted in a lighter crop than usual and the output of 1896 only amounted to about 50,000 bales against 100,000 in 1895.

While prices realized for hops during the past two seasons have not been flattering, all indications point to better prices in the future.

The short crop in all the other hop producing countries of the world has helped work off the surplus of hops in the hands of brewers and we are approaching the coming season for the first time in several years with very

The internal revenue reports for the scal year show an increase in the production of beer and with the return of prosperity it is natural to expect a still larger indrease in the consumption of beer for the coming year.

In order to avoid over-production growers should not endeavor to farm came back; the sores commenced to heal. any more hops than they can cultivate with their own family. Ten or fifteen acres is sufficient for any one family to cultivate, and to do it well and thoroughly. To farm a larger yard he is required to hire help and seek financial assistance which always results in his being compelled to sacrifice his crop before they are ready for market or the market ready for them.

To secure a choice article, growers should not commence picking until their hops are thoroughly ripe and above all they should be picked free of stems and leaves.

An Oregon hop that is permitted to mature on the vines, and that is properly cured possesses a delicacy of flavor brightness of color and richness of lupuline that is not equalled by any other grown in America.

The Method of a Great Treat ment for Weakness of Men.

Which Cured Him After, Everything Else Failed.

Painful diseases are had enough, but when a man is slowly wasting away with nervous weakness, the mental forbodings are ten times worse than the most severe pain. There is no let up to the mental suffering day or night. Sleep is almost impossible and under such a strain men are scarcely responsible for what they do For years the writer rolled and tossed on the troubled sea of s xual weakness until it was a question whether he had not better take a dose of poison and thus ends all his troubles. But providential inspira tion came to his aid in the shape of a combination of medicines that not only completely restored the general health, but enlarged his weak and emaciated parts to natural size and vigor, and he now declares that any man who will take the trouble to send his name and
