STATE HOUSE NOTES.

Bear Creek Mining Company, of Seattle, Wash., was incorporated under the laws of Oregon today by filing a copy of their articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state.

N. W. Roundtree and C. A. Wheeler, of Portland; and D. M. Smith, of Salem, were the governor's notarial appointments today.

With such leaders as Smith, of Lion, U'Ren and Howser in the lower house and King and Holt in the upper, the Populists of Oregon can well be proud of the showing they have made this year. King and Holt are not responsible for the multitude of committee clerks already employed in the senate and U'Ren, Smith and Howser are keeping the regulars from employing a larger multitude in the house.

The wine supper tendered Dr. Driver by Sol. Hirsch and Senator Mitchell at Portland, one night last summer, and which (miraculous to state) converted the learned divine from the silver heresy to the sound money policy in a single night, evidently has no bearing upon the senator from Lane or his conduct at the present time. See?

Four clerks on the senate ways and means committee in place of one. Surely Mr. Meredith who alone attended to these duties last session must have worked day and night.

Doc J. M. Keene has not yet gone a fishing. The senate fishing committee did not seem to appreciate the "doctor's" pull or they would not have put him off so cruelly without a clerkship.

After being turned down by the people of his county at the June election, nearly 400 Republicans voting for Lark Bilyeu in his stead, Moorhead, the Dolph, Mitchell and all-around-stand-in man had to be provided for by the best position on the senate this year. Ditto, Biundell, of whom the Oregonian wants to know if there is any soft snap, he has not had during his many years stand-in.

Those ten enrolling clerks of Dr. Calbreath's are having a picnic.

ANNUAL MEETING.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Salem woolen mills Tuesday, the following board of directors was chosen, all of whom are re-elected with the exception of Mr. Weatherford who is elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. H. Coshaw. The personnel of the board is as follows: Thos. Kay, Squire Farrar, C. F. Bishop, T. B. Kay and J. K. Weatherford. The board of directors in turn elected officers as follows: President, Squire Farrar; secretary and treasurer, R. H. Coshaw; assistant manager and salesman, T. B. Kay.

LOCAL HORTICULTURISTS.—The Marion county horticultural society held its annual meeting in the council chambers Tuesday, when the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: President, J. H. Fairbank, re-elected; vice-president, F. L. Pound; secretary, Mrs. R. E. Wands. At the morning session in the discussion of "Pruning and Marketing" many practical suggestions were advanced. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions memorializing Oregon's congressmen to use their best efforts to secure the establishment of a duty of 25 cents on prunes. The committee made its report at the afternoon session.

RESOLUTIONS

Upholding Obstructionists.

Spirited Debate Between Somers and Smith of Linn.

The session of the house Tuesday afternoon was enlivened by a discussion of resolutions that began to come in from all parts of the state in support of the action of the members of the house refusing to organize.

FROM ALBANY.
Following resolutions were adopted at a Populist mass meeting held in Albany, Jan. 18:

WHEREAS, The Populist party has declared in favor of reforms in our state government which can only be secured through the legislature, including reduction of interest, re-nouncement of official salaries, abolition of railroad commission, game warden, equalization board, and reduction of number of district judges, and

WHEREAS, The last legislature was largely Republican, and under their management state expenses became increasingly excessive and burdensome, and there is no reason to believe or hope the burdens will be lightened during the present session of the legislature, should the house organize under former management, therefore be it

Resolved, That we unequivocally endorse the actions of the Populist members of the legislature, and the Democratic and Republican members in refusing to aid in organizing the house until a common enemy of the producers and taxpayers, to wit a Republican ring dominated by crushing monopolists are routed and forced to surrender their grasp on the financial reins of the state."

THE DEBATE.
Somers of Linn read the above resolutions adopted by Populists at a mass convention in Albany, sustaining the course of the obstructionists. He had pledged himself 30 times to these very reform measures recited in this resolution.

Smith of Linn replied that he was not surprised at the sensitiveness of the Republican member who had spoken. His party had been in control here for twenty years or more and had enacted the abuses complained of. My people say: "Stay out and we will pay your expenses." That is the kind of constituents who are back of me and they number several hundred more than the constituents back of the gentleman who had spoken.

Somers: If they want anything at our hands let them come in and ask it of us and we will concede all that is reasonable. So far as the acts recited are concerned I am now and have been in favor of such reforms as much as the Populist members are.

Smith of Linn asked as a personal privilege that he be permitted to read more resolutions of public meetings.

Huntington, of Wasco, objected. Speaker ruled it could only be done by unanimous consent.

Hogue arose to ask that unanimous consent be granted.

Smith of Linn: "I object."
Hogue: As the gentleman objects to my coming to his assistance I will sit down. (Laughter.)

Hogue of Portland moved house now adjourn sine die.

Yeness of Polk seconded. Speaker ruled out of order. Under constitution a temporary organization could only adjourn from day to day until a permanent organization was effected.

Call of the house showed 31 present. No quorum.

Following is one of the resolutions Smith of Linn asked to read:

FROM MILTON.
A mass meeting of citizens was held at Milton, Umatilla county, January 18, and following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Milton and vicinity in mass meeting assembled, and regardless of party affiliations, heartily endorse the actions of our legislators in not permitting the house to be organized in the interest of ring rule. And we urge them to maintain that position until organization can be perfected in the interest of the people. And be it further,

Resolved, That we fully endorse the course pursued by our representative, E. J. Davis, in the stand he has taken to maintain the rights of the people.

Committee.

EDWIN S. STOWE,
Secretary.

At 4 p. m. a call of the house showed 30 present.

House adjourned to Wednesday at 10 a. m.

JOURNAL "X" RAYS.

Directed Upon the Oregon Legislature and Lobby.

Judge Moreland, of the Mitchell push, is at the state house.

As Senator Driver cannot organize the house by force, he should try prayer.

Col. Bob. Mitchell of the Portland Good Roads club is in on the scene of action.

Chris Yates of Washington county, one of the "Noble Thirty" of 1895, is at the capitol.

The opposition no longer have T. T. Geer or C. B. Moores as managers to contend with.

Bridges of Douglas, and Hogue of Portland are also lumbermen. That makes five wood-sawyers in the house.

It leaked out this morning that the senate will never recognize a house organized by thirty-one members.

Pledges made to a slyer Mitchell in June are not now redeemable in gold unless we repeal the specific contract law.

The opposition forces are as usual today as they were when they put the Umatilla county man in the speaker's chair.

"I'm for Mitchell for senator unless he will release me," expresses the attitude of more than one of Mitchell's supporters.

The senator who gets up and moves to dismiss sixty or seventy clerks who are doing nothing at $5 a day will show some sense.

All the members are going to the Salem Minstrels Friday night. There will be fresh 16 to 1 jokes on Senator Mitchell and THE JOURNAL.

Those who are kicking at the Statesman because it sold out to boom Mitchell should not grow impatient. It may be supporting some other man tomorrow.

"He held both hands aloft to heaven and swore that he had not promised a single federal office more than five or six times to any one man." Result of a legislator's interview with Mitchell.

Bel. Selling is a senator who has independent views of a business character. His father was a successful business man of Portland and his son is a successful man in his present place of business.

Charley Fulton is the latest candidate of the corridor "push" for senator. He'd be all right if he wouldn't turn tail and run away at the last moment as he did two years ago.

The men who are trying to organize the house in the interest of any senatorial candidate are riding a bucking horse. The organization of the house will never be made a sideshow to any senatorship.

The latest offer of some of the regulars was to consent to a Bourne organization of the house provided they received a pro rata share of the committees in proportion to their numbers. The proposition was not even considered. Nothing but an organization in the interest of the people will ever be considered.

The regulars held a caucus at 11:30 this forenoon. Great outside pressure is being brought to bear to force an organization with 31 members, put a man in the chair, elect officers and proceed to pass bills. It is believed under these circumstances Temporary Speaker Davis would go right on reading his newspaper.

"What do you call that combination," said a Democrat to Hon. C. B. Moores, pointing to Jo. Simon, Barkley and Bourne talking together at the state house. "We can't call them," said Moores. "Poker players will recognize the truth of his comment."

Chas. Fulton met Craig, of Marion, this morning in the lobby: "You are ruining yourself, Craig, by standing out." Craig said: "You are ruining your chances for governor, Mr. Fulton." Charley has always been an admirer of Craig's, but is now disappointed to find him a man of his word.

Frank Barrager, of Yew Park, is suffering considerably from an unpleasant experience. On Monday evening he stepped upon a needle which entered his foot to the depth of several inches. It was necessary that an operation be performed yesterday to remove the pain-producing needle.

RESIGNED.

City Treasurer Swafford.

A Ten Mill Tax Levy for City Purposes.

The city council met last evening with Mayor Richardson and all members except alderman Holman who is ill were present.

This being the time for the annual levy of city taxes, and the committee having recommended a ten mill levy, such report was adopted.

Upon motion a levy of 6 per cent on abutting property was made for the State street and Oak street improvements, and block 58 sewer improvements. The city charter provides that this levy must be made at the time the annual tax levy is made.

Mayor Richardson stated that he had at the instance of the ordinance committee taken steps to have certain amendments to the city charter drawn up, and that he would be prepared to present some by next Thursday evening.

Harry Gulvin was a passenger on the overland last Thursday for California where he had secured a job at $20 a month and board. Oregon ought to be able to supply men with work instead of sending them to other states.

Would it not be a good move while attempting to repeal the many useless commissions to also repeal the law creating our legislatures as they are surely becoming a heavy burden to the tax payers while we get no relief whatever from them.

If our legislature ever get in shape to give any relief, let them pass a law to allow each precinct to elect their own assessor and road overseer, and above all do away with all the useless commissions and big salary clerks. Wouldn't that be bad lots of these folks that is hanging around the state house these times, waiting for a grab at the public teat.

Messrs. All Patton and Joe Daran are busy filling a contract with a Portland firm for a car load of cooper stuff.

Our merchants have been busy of late taking invoice of their stock of goods, and have again settled down to business.

A resolution was presented at the instance of the mayor, ordering the marshal to feed all prisoners in the city jail on bread and water only, and adopted.

A proposition was received from W. H. Will offering for a term of years to care for the big Willamette bridge for a compensation of $400 per year. Referred to committee on streets.

The resignation of E. J. Swafford, city treasurer, was received and duly accepted. The council will have to elect a treasurer to succeed Mr. Swafford, on February 2.

Alderman Legg asked if the acceptance of this resignation would in any way relieve Mr. Swafford's bondsmen, and the mayor stated that it would not.

Mayor Richardson stated that the resignation was out of order, as Mr. Swafford had not qualified, and hence could not resign. Upon motion of Mr. Lampport the motion to accept was reconsidered, and Mr. Swafford's resignation was laid upon the table.

Upon motion of Mr. Lampport the city hall committee was instructed to construct a closet in the jail.

Mr. Parkhurst asked that a committee be appointed to ascertain the cost of purchasing and lighting city hall with a view to occupying same. Carried Parkhurst, Holman and Smith were appointed.

Adjournd to Thursday evening.

LITTLE LOCALS

H. A. Thomas, G. W. Putnam and James Aitken have made an appraisal of the property comprising the estate of W. W. Brooks, deceased, and the same has been filed with the county clerk. The aggregate valuation of the property is $3,133.52.

John Savage, Sr., has begun a suit against John Savage, Jr., and Frank Savage to secure $3,140 and $300 attorney's fees. The principal is $3,000 and alleged to be due as a loan made by the plaintiff to defendants on December 12, 1891, and the balance is for interest.

All members of Y. M. C. A. are urged to attend a meeting of workers at the association hall tonight. A membership contest will be arranged for after which coffee and sandwiches will be served. Traveling Secretary J. A. Dummert will be in attendance.

Street Commissioner Gobalet and force of men today constructed a cross walk around Court street at the southwest corner of the Court House square. This will be greatly appreciated by all pedestrians.
