The Legislature in Session

Adopting An Address to the People.

HOUSE REFUSES TO DISSOLVE

In Accordance With the Senate Program.

ANTI-MITCHELL CELEBRATION

Parade the Streets, Sing Songs and Have a Banquet.

The house refused to adopt the senate dissolution resolution and showed its independence of President Simon. In dissolving the senate without the usual concurrent resolution from the house which the senate had recognized Mr. Simon aroused the independent spirit of the anti-Mitchell combination, and they determined to take their own time for adjournment, and adopt their own resolutions. They met last night at 7:30 and adjourned over to 1:30 today. An address is being prepared setting their case fully before the people. It will be adopted at the final session which will not be held until tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

All the members of all three parties who refused to consent to an organization for the purpose of electing Mitchell will sign the manifesto which is to be issued to the people.

A MIDNIGHT MASS.

As Mitchell's term expired last night the anti-Mitchell forces honored the occasion with a street demonstration. They paraded and sang and shouted until they were tired, when they repaired to Bourne's "palace." Speeches were made by everyone present, Democrats, Silver Republicans, Populists, and Simon members. Many citizens joined in the parade and shouted as loud as any. A song composed for the occasion was sung with great gusto: "Goodbye John Mitchell, Goodbye." The parade was headed by "Baby" Jones of Wasco as drum major, and the whole affair was a duplicate of the performances by the thirty two years ago, some of the leading spirits being represented on both occasions. The old firm of Mitchell and Dolph has gone out of business, "NO APPROPRIATIONS" means hard times in Salem, and is the most serious feature of the situation. The going to pieces of this legislature by the unlooked-for dissolution of the senate leaves no money in sight until an extra session can be called. The Mitchell members profess to want an extra session called at once by the governor. That means that Senator Mitchell has not abandoned his hopes of election, as he was once elected at a called session under Governor Moody. But there seems no likelihood of a special session until the senatorial fight is dropped and some federal appointments for Oregon are out of the way. If Governor Lord appoints a senator he may relieve the situation some. Of course, no one expects him to appoint one of the Mitchell push. He will appoint a senator to help pass a tariff revenue bill and stop the monster deficit in the treasury which has been left over as an heirloom from the Cleveland administration. CERTIFICATES may have to be issued by Secretary Klineaid, much as he dislikes that, but they may be in a qualified form, merely attesting their legality and reciting that provisions for their payment will be made at an early day. Such certificates would be taken by Portland banks at par.

JOURNAL "X" RAYS.
 Directed Upon the Oregon Legislature and Lobby.
 Governor Lord is the first man in Oregon.

Prosperity is coming but you better not wait for it.
 And what did the A. P. A. accomplish in this legislature?
 Simon will rule the Republican party with soft gloves.

The wave of prosperity struck the town hard exactly at twelve o'clock March Fourth.
 Governor Lord will not appoint a senator until he has all the testimony in the case before him.
 Simon is gone. Bourne goes tomorrow. What will there be for the Statesman to talk about?

Harvey Scott put in two hours, today, preventing the possible resurrection of the Mitchell corpse.
 Harvey Scott returned on the 2:20 train to Portland without being interviewed in the Statesman.

Salem's up-to-date candidates for postmaster: B. F. Giltner, M. L. Chamberlain and Scott Bozorth.
 Of course we will all get some prosperity out of McKinley's message; as for the rest, you will have to rustle.

Governor Lord or the assessor ought to compel truthful Dr. Driver to show that the Governor is worth $50,000.
 As the people have doubled the circulation of THE JOURNAL, THE JOURNAL will now try to double its telegraph service.

Smith of Marion was counted in the house last night. He realized for once how it felt to be one of a body not all captains.
 This office acknowledges the receipt of two packages of garden seeds from the late Hon. John H. Mitchell of Washington, D. C.
 Does anyone doubt that inside of six months the Statesman will be crawling on its belly and eating dirt out of Jo Simon's hands?
 Members of the legislature attend the union bimet. club tonight, and hear Chandler's great argument against the gold standard.
 It is said that speaker Reed will appoint only one committee for the extra session of Congress—the ways and means to put up a tariff bill.
 The circulation of THE JOURNAL, as shown by the postoffice records, is over 75 per cent greater than a year ago, and it didn't sell out either.
 It would be too bad to discontinue the congressional seed distribution. The seed houses would have no place to work off old stock that won't sprout.
 Here's luck to you and your administration, Major McKinley! May you give us a clean, honest and patriotic administration. In the mean time we shall rely on our potato patch.
 Jo Simon says he agreed to help beat Mitchell and make Bourne speaker, and claims there is no evidence that he did not do all in his power on these two propositions. Was that enough?
 This Thursday all nickle-in-the-slot machines in the city of Portland must cease doing business. According to the mayor's order they must be banished from the city. They must, with Cleveland, be retired on the 4th of March.

M'KINLEY AND HOBART.

Are Inaugurated With Great Pomp and Splendor.

NO FINANCIAL LEGISLATION

Until Sufficient Revenue Has Been Secured

THROUGH A TARIFF MEASURE.

Wants Our Finances Put On An Enduring Basis.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, D. C. March 4.—It was a dazzling and inspiring scene spread out before McKinley, as he appeared on steps of the senate wing of the Capitol to take the oath and deliver the inaugural address. The sun blazed from a blue sky, in auspicious augury for his administration.
 Except for Cleveland's first inauguration in 1885 there has been no such an ideal day for this momentous ceremony. Immediately in front was acres of upturned faces which were wedged so closely together upon the broad plaza and the radiating avenues seemed one vast pavement of human heads.

THE ESCORT.
 At five minutes to 10 o'clock Senators Sherman and Mitchell, of Wisconsin, of the senate committee appointed to conduct the inauguration, appeared at the hotel and announced that they had come to escort the president-elect to the capitol. Five minutes after 10 o'clock the president-elect emerged from the reception room on the arm of Senator Sherman. The party was driven to the white house where President Cleveland entered the carriage. After slight pause presidential carriage drove down the avenue to the rear of the cavalry squadron. President Cleveland with Major McKinley on his left leaned back with a smile on his face. He looked pleased, but did not return the salute of the crowds. Major McKinley raised his hat in acknowledgment of the cheer.

Along the line of the march to the capitol the vast crowds cheered McKinley with great outbursts of popular approval. The head of the procession appeared at the inaugural stand at 12:14, when President Cleveland and Mr. McKinley appeared on the platform a throng broke forth into prolonged cheers. At 1:10 p. m. President McKinley took the oath of office, which was administered by Chief Justice Fuller.

MCKINLEY'S MESSAGE.

In his inaugural address President McKinley said of the money question: "Our financial system needs some revision. Our money is all good new but its value must not further be threatened. It should all be put on an enduring basis, not subject to easy attack, nor its stability to doubt or dispute. Our currency should continue under supervision of government. Several forms of our paper money offer. In my judgment, constant embarrassment to the government and to a safe balance in the treasury. Therefore I deem it necessary to devise a system without diminishing the circulating medium or offering a premium for its contraction which will present a remedy for those arrangements which, temporary in their nature, might well in times of our prosperity have been displaced by wiser provisions. With adequate revenue insured, but not until then, can we enter upon such changes on our financial laws as will, while insuring safety and volume to our money, and no longer impose upon the government necessity of maintaining so large a gold reserve, with its attendant and inevitable temptations to speculation. Most of our financial laws are the outgrowth of experience and trial, and should not be amended without investigation and demonstration of wisdom of the proposed changes. If therefore congress in its wisdom shall deem it expedient to create a commission to take under early consideration the revision of our coinage, banking and currency laws and give them that exhaustive careful and dispassionate examination which circumstances demand, I shall cordially concur in such action. If such power is vested in president it is my purpose to appoint commission of prominent well informed citizens of different parties, the question of international bimetallicism will have early and earnest attention. It will be my constant endeavor to secure it by cooperation with other great commercial powers of the world. Until that condition is realized, with the parity between our gold and silver money, which springs from the idea supported by the relative values of the two metals, the relative value of the silver that is already coined and that which hereafter may be coined must be constantly kept at par with gold by every resource at our command. The credit of the government, the integrity of its currency and the inviolability of its obligations must be preserved."

THE PARADE.

For the general public, the great event of today was a parade of 20,000 men with bands playing from capitol to white house and two miles beyond. As President McKinley and ex-President Cleveland, arm in arm emerged from the capitol after lunch the cavalry buglers sounded a salute, troopers came to "present arms" and great throngs pressed forward to a glimpse of the new president. Cheer upon cheer went up frightening many horses. McKinley took the rear seat, Cleveland beside him on the right. It was one continuous ovation to the executive mansion.

VICE PRESIDENT HOBART INSTALLED.

At noon Vice President-Elect Hobart took the oath of office and immediately took his seat as president of the senate.
 Vice President Stevenson had administered the oath of office to Mr. Hobart, and at the stroke of 12 he declared the senate of the 54th congress adjourned without day.

Work of a Mexican Bandit.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 4.—Three atrocious murders were committed recently by Pedro Gutierrez, a bandit of Jalisco, Mexico, and officers are out after him in all directions from the town of Santa Marie de Guadalupe.
 A few days ago a commissioner of police learning of Gutierrez' previous crimes, secured papers for his arrest and started out to serye them. Gutierrez went to a ball that night, browbeating the dancers and forcing the girls to dance with him. He learned that the officer was after him, and, securing his rifle he went out into the street and fired at Antonio Tinajero. The latter fell with a bullet through the head.
 Senora Librada Ochoa was near by, and went up to the dying man and tried to carry him into a doorway. The murderer shot and killed her. She was about to give birth to a child. The populace was terror stricken and Gutierrez made his escape on horseback. He said he was going to find the commissioner. Soon afterward he encountered a boy named Maximino, whom he killed. He also wounded a man and woman passing by, though not one of his victims was trying to arrest him.
 Gutierrez escaped to the hills, and may elude his pursuers.

Found a Long-lost Brother.

DANVILLE, March 4.—The introduction and passage of the bill legalizing prize fighting in Nevada has enabled Detective George Garrard, of this city, to locate a brother whom he had not heard of only indirectly since he left this city it 1859.

When the officer read of the passage of the bill and its author in the daily papers, he thought it might be his brother who was championing the measure, and opened a correspondence which has resulted in his obtaining the information that the Nevada legislator is his own kin. He has two other brothers whom he has not heard from since the close of the war.

Officer Garrard is the policeman who shot and wounded young Nicodemus Saturday when he was fleeing from arrest. The officer is now under bond of $1000 for assault with a deadly weapon.

Durant Must Hang.
 SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—The supreme court yesterday afternoon affirmed the decision in the Durant case, so that the murderer of Blancia Lamont can now be sentenced to be hanged, by the superior court as soon as that tribunal desires.

When Durant was informed that the supreme court refused to grant him a new trial, he burst into tears and said "this is a cruel world." He said that some day truth would prevail, and he would be vindicated. He seemed to take some comfort from the report that Chief Justice Beatty would, in a few days, file a dissenting opinion.

No. Championship Belt.

CARSON, Nev., March 4.—Acting on the advice of Dan Stuart, Assemblyman Dempsey will not present his proposed bill providing for championship belt. Stuart expressed the opinion that the state of Nevada had done enough for pugilism up to the present time, and that if the contemplated bill were presented it might tend to arouse public sentiment against the whole business. Stuart also pointed out that it was not fair to ask the state to spend any money for the present contest when there was already a handsome purse up.

Fatal Bull Fight.

TORREON, Mexico, March 4.—The bull fights which took place at Durango today were the most horrible in the number of fatalities ever given in Mexico, and made the large crowd go wild with delight. The first bull that entered the arena gored one of the fighters to death; another man was killed by a second bull, and a third bull killed two more men in quick succession, making in all four human lives sacrificed. Eight bulls were killed and four horses gored to death.

Shooting Affray.

TACOMA, March 4.—W.O. Robinson shot George M. Pearce in the head probably fatally wounding him. Robinson gave himself up and Pearce is in a hospital. The trouble arose over a business transaction. The shooting occurred in Pearce's office, where Robinson called to effect a financial settlement. The trouble between the two men is said to have been of long standing.

Some Opium.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—At the present market price of $25 a pound the value of the opium seized by the custom officials last Saturday, as being illegally imported, is $500,175. In all 23,247 pounds were seized. Before the seizure opium sold at $12 a pound, but the action of the federal officials has caused a great scarcity of the drug and Chinatown fiends are compelled to pay any price the fancy of the holder of opium dictates. The ruling figure is $25 a pound.

Betting at New York.

NEW YORK, March 4.—More big wagers on the fight here than any time since the books were opened, and if they are continued until the day of the fight a quarter of a million dollars will change hands in this city alone on the result. Never before in the history of pugilism has so much money been offered as on this contest.
