

Dismissed Upon the Oregon Politicians and Public Men.

The railroad commission still refuses to dissolve.

When the women begin to "flax" around, look out.

Corbett goes to Washington and Dolph goes to the better world.

The Pendleton Tribune on Ex-Senator J. N. Dolph: "a great and good man."

All kinds of patent "flax" at Salem, sells at $1.10, and there is no such thing as "trust."

What have we done that we should get two copies of the Hillsboro (not the least bit) Independent?

Forty-seven Oregon politicians, besides the Salem boys, were referred to in the X-Ray column, Friday.

Mayor Richardson has no doubt heard by this time that the alleys and backyards are in need of a clean-up.

Salem can't have too good water, considering that this city is the home of the legislature for quite a period.

Los Angeles Times: Mr. Corbett was the logical candidate of the vote which gave a majority for McKinley in Oregon.

Mayor Penoyer of Portland has closed the nickel-in-the-slot machine. The Mayor probably failed to throw a "royal flush."—Sheridan Sun.

A Pop paper says: "Corbett, Lord's appointee for U. S. senator, may be no improvement on Mitchell, but he is honest—he has always been a British-Wall-street goldbug."

Lebanon Advance: John Hiram Mitchell (by grace of the county court of Multnomah county) is drumming up the flag end of his meager following preparatory to migrating to Mars.

Banker Jim Cooper, who spent the winter at Salem in the Mitchell push, has his Independence paper say this: "Governor Lord could hardly have made a more injudicious and unsatisfactory appointment."

Union Blotter, Rep. Guild in his paper: Ex-Senator Corbett has been appointed U. S. senator from Oregon by Gov. Lord. As the senate is a tie on the silver question, Mr. Corbett will probably not warm his seat for some time, if at all.

An Exchange says: President McKinley has a very high regard for the Oregon ex-senator and will undoubtedly give his candidacy for the circuit-judgeship serious consideration. He ought to, the way Mitchell lied for his platform, that it was a silver platform, etc.

Governor Penoyer's strictures on the Populists in the late legislature for standing in with Jo Simon comes with poignance when he sold out his second term as governor to Simon, bodily, and recommended him for federal judge for life. Jo Simon did not handle the Populists, but he did Penoyer.

Times Mountaineer: The state of Oregon has a heavy bill of expense to meet for the keeping of the criminal and dependent classes. There are 50 pupils in school for the deaf; 23 pupils in the school for the blind; 1,111 patients in the state insane asylum; 131 boys in the state reform school 354 convicts in the state prison.

The Baker Republican has taken a good resolution: "From and after this date the Republican will change its course somewhat. People who are engaged in wrong doing will be arranged for public inspection through the columns of this journal. We will take hold of things in general vigorously, particularly about city affairs."

From Senator Corbett's biography: His latest benefaction was the gift of $50,000 to the First Presbyterian church, and Portland is indebted to him for one of the finest museums of classic sculpture in the country. Among his more recent gifts was a subscription for $10,000 for the proposed permanent building of the Portland Y. M. C. A.

Dallas Itemizer: There is an evident disposition among American women to do more than has in the past fallen to the lot of the male of the species. Most of them have not sought or wanted the franchise, but they do yearn for the privilege of doing more for themselves. Foolish prejudices have kept them to the background, but those prejudices are gradually wearing away and thousands of women are coming to the front in many ways.

Here's a really funny item about an alleged follower of the Great Example: Not so very long ago a revivalist visited Stockton, Cal., and he was very glad to get away with a whole skin, between two Fridays, because he had said that a large portion of the young ladies of that city were not virtuous. That preacher made no more converts but he gained wisdom.

The editor of the Corvallis Gazette, who helped defeat Mr. Dolph two years ago says: "Mr. Dolph's nature was not such as to win the people's love, but he commanded their respect, and his defeat for re-election in 1895 was not because of his personality nor of any deficiency as a public servant, but of his close affiliation with a faction in the state whose dangerous ambition had to be checked. While the contest was bitter in the extreme, charges of wrong doing were urged, not against the candidate, but against his supporters."

The Oregonian (a paper published by Harvey W. Scott) "Off with the old love; on with the new!" Penoyer's flirtations in politics exhibit even more levity than those of Mitchell. A little while ago Penoyer formally rejected the Democratic party. Now he jilts the Populist party, and again ogles Democracy. Our feckle gray-beard political coquette is up to business. In some ways he beats Mitchell's political versatility. But it's a close race between them.

The country would surely go to ruin if every retired congressman doesn't get a fat office. President McKinley ought to know, as a matter of fact, that such appointments are the principle cause of a billion dollar congress. These fellows know the ropes too well and use their knowledge of the ship to load it down to the guards. A people's government contemplates taking the best men fresh from the ranks of the people into the public service, instead of giving life jobs to men who have been rejected by the people.

"There was only one way to defeat the re-election of Senator Mitchell; there was only one way to prevent the passage of reform measures abolishing the commissions and other useless barnacles on the state, and that was to prevent organization. The personal enemies of the senator and the men profiting by the useless commissions have gained a victory."—Oregon City Press.

The only difficulty with the above from Senator Brownell's local paper is that nearly all the "useless barnacles on the state" were at Salem in the Mitchell push, and are now howling about the state capitol because they are abolished.

The Corvallis Times tells this story as an actual experience by a legislator visitor: Jim stood with a group of men when Joe Simon approached. The wily politician was apparently looking for somebody.

"Who are you looking for, Simon?" inquired one of the group.

"For an honest man," replied Simon.

"What do you call an honest man?" asked another.

"A legislator who will not sell his vote both to Mitchell and the opposition," replied Joseph.

The energy and intelligence shown by Mrs. Governor Lord in connection with oyster planting and flax culture in Oregon is highly commendable. If there were only many such women to high places the lives of the people would be easier and happier. Mrs. Lord has succeeded in the transplanting of Eastern oysters in Yaquina bay and is entitled to all the credit in connection therewith, for she originated the idea and promoted and directed the work. The oysters are flourishing in their new beds and fast multiplying beyond all expectations. Mrs. Lord has now turned her attention to the encouragement of flax culture and the linen industry in Oregon, and the East Oregonian expects to see her work prove as successful and gratifying as in the case of yester planting. Governor Lord is to be congratulated in having such a woman for a wife and helpmate, for the people of Oregon appreciate and value her services which are of the most practical kind.—Eastern Oregonian.

WOMEN.

Hold a Successful Meeting, And Start the Fund for a Flax Scutching Mill.

The ladies flax and hemp fibre meeting at the city council rooms was a success. About fifty of the foremost ladies and gentlemen of our city were present, and at eight o'clock private consideration of the subject was dropped for public.

Dr. Thornton called the flax and hemp meeting to order and asked Mayor Richardson to take the chair. He stated that this meeting was called to promote the establishment of the flax industry, that had been championed by Mrs. W. P. Lord. He thought the people of the city owed a debt of everlasting gratitude to the lady for her untiring energy in disseminating information on this important question. As Mrs. Lord was not present (the lady arrived a little later).

Mayor Richardson introduced Dr. Thornton, who discussed the whole subject in detail. He showed the decline of the flax growing industry in Ireland, and that the time was not far distant when the great linen manufacturing industry would be transferred to this country where the raw material could be produced in the finest quality. The speaker showed that this industry was certain to be developed and bring millions of wealth to our country.

Mrs. Lord was next introduced and spoke in the highest terms of the live character of the Portland ladies, and complimented the club there for their enterprise. There were in Oregon several thousand young women and young men out of employment. At Portland a thousand young women had responded to a single advertisement for a copyist, at $10 a month for thirteen hours work a day. The speaker regretted that the young people of Oregon should ever find themselves in such a condition.

Mrs. Philbrook now offered a resolution for a nominating committee of three to report to this meeting of soliciting committee. Mesdames Lord, Philbrook and Adams were named as the committee and retired to consult. Hon. John Minto was called upon and made a few remarks. The committee reported following names as a soliciting committee:

THE SOLICITING COMMITTEE Mrs. H. W. Meyers, Mrs. R. S. Wallace, Mrs. Wm. Brown, Mrs. Reuben Lee, Mrs. H. H. Thompson, Mrs. Jory, Mrs. Reuben Boise, Mrs. Wm. Waldo, Mrs. Theilsson of Polk county; Mrs. Dr. Calbreath of Yamhill county; Mrs. Senator Hatch, Mrs. Spuire Farrar, Mrs. J. M. Martin, Mrs. Wm. Mosien, Mrs. G. A. Peabees, Mrs. C. P. Bishop, Mrs. Thos. Kay, Mrs. G. Stolz and Miss Jessie Stump and Miss Mae Boise.

The report of the committee was adopted by the meeting. Mrs. Lee then introduced the following resolution: "That this meeting fully appreciates the very great advantages to Salem of the Oregon Women's Flax and Hemp association, by establishing their flax fibre mill in Salem, and we hereby endorse the practical action of the women of Oregon in their efforts to develop the flax and hemp industry in the state of Oregon, and we pledge ourselves to co-operate with the association by subscribing for stock in the association."

Mr. Stolz moved that when the meeting adjourn it be to next Wednesday evening, which was carried, and the W. C. T. U. rooms, on Court street, named as the place, but, in view of the growing interest in the movement, a larger hall may be selected, of which change due notice will be given.

The canvassing committee is expected to hold a meeting early next week to lay off their several working districts and formulate a business method of prosecuting their labors. Salem will have cause for sincere congratulations if the new mill is founded within its borders and accomplishes all that was reasonably promised for it last night.

The Eugene State Journal—Secretary of State Kincaid's paper—has this: "Governor Lord has refused to approve the bonds of the railroad commissioners—Messrs. Compson, Marcum and Eddy—on the ground that there is a vacancy. The governor maintains that a certain justice of the supreme court does not justify a further extension of their term, holding that, to give the statute this construction, its effect would be to create perpetuities in office, which is against public policy and against the spirit of our institutions."

EDITORIAL.

The local newspaper man often feels that the people of his own community are extremely generous to all newspapers but their own. How often he hears people say what they saw in the Examiner, or in the Oregonian, and how seldom he hears a kind word said for a local newspaper of the town? There are plenty of critics of the local press. The hostilities of politics, the strife of business, the friction of personalities, the ups and downs of individuals, cause committees and contentions. Political campaigns, out the newspaper business and friendships and nowhere does it suffer so much as at home. The kind words, the encouragement in life and business, generally come after the writer is dead, or has left for other fields. The writer once spent a week in a town where he conducted a newspaper 13 years, and cannot recall how often he was told that they had never had a decent newspaper published there since he left, or how often he heard the struggling local newspaper men slurred and sneered at as good for nothing. Now praise is comely and praise is pleasant even from a community one has left behind; but how much more those hard-working prophets in their own country would have appreciated some of those kind and clever expressions before they were dead or had shaken the dust of the town from their feet. Don't be afraid to express a little appreciation for the home newspaper man while he is still in the land of the living.

The Grants Pass Oregon Mining Journal thinks the true spirit of the legislature was disclosed by the appointment of 67 clerks in the senate and the draughting of an appropriation bill carrying over $1,400,000 and including extravagant provision for every useless commission and state-supported institution, and in the attempt of the Benson house, including the speaker himself, to bestow grossly extravagant compensation on the clerks and pages appointed. The measure introduced by Senator Harmon of the Mitchell push to increase—not decrease—the salary of the deputy county clerk (himself) and of the deputy sheriff, both of this county, is an apt illustration of the economical spirit of the Republican legislators. Another gain lies in the assurance that the failure of the appropriation bill, with the consequence that every state expenditure must come before the next legislature—hopefully one more faithful to pledges and promises than the last—for approval, will tend to an economical administration of state affairs. We think, therefore, that the people of the state can well view the so-called "hold-up" with complacency and thank God that they are well rid of an arrant set of sham reformers.

SOCIAL.

Events in the Capital City. What Has Transpired in Social Circles the Past Week.

Since the legislature adjourned the usual business and social activity attendant on such occasions, has suffered a slight relapse. Nevertheless the past week has been marked by several pleasant events. The question of flax culture has been most thoroughly and intelligently presented before the people of Salem and vicinity during the past week by Dr. A. W. Thornton and Mrs. Gov. W. P. Lord, whose earnest and disinterested labors may be rewarded with the construction of a flax mill and the advancement of this deserving industry in the Willamette Valley. A short resume of the social events of the past week appears below.

The "special" at the asylum Friday evening was largely attended by Salem young people who tripped the light fantastic to delightful music for several hours. The hospitality of Supt. and Mrs. D. A. Paine on such occasions is the source of much favorable comment. On Monday evening, March 15th, Prof. F. S. Dunn will deliver a lecture in the University chapel on "The Story of Babylon," being the second of a series of lectures on the "Wonders of the World." Prof. Dunn is an extremely pleasant speaker and his lectures are quite instructive and entertaining. The public is cordially invited, no admission will be charged.

CAPITAL SOCIETY CLUB. The above club met at the home of Otto Miesche, in South Salem. The evening was enjoyably spent in recitations, music, cards, and a general social good time, after which a delicious lunch was served. The following officers were chosen to serve for the term: D. B. Irwin, president; O. Miesche, vice president; Miss Iva Irwin, secretary; Mr. De Loog, treasurer.

FRIDAY NIGHT CLUB. This popular dancing club was last evening delightfully entertained by the asylum members of the organization, at their elegant hall. The music of the employes band was especially appreciated while the efforts of Supt. and Mrs. Paine, Dr. and Mrs. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Straug, Mr. and Mrs. Abrams, Miss Carpenter and others to make it pleasant for all were especially appreciated. The jolly crowd took an electric car for home at 11 o'clock, and passed a vote of thanks for their entertainment.

WITHDRAWN.—The reward of $25 offered for the recovery of the body of August Kreins has been withdrawn.

THE sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and stays out if he doesn't. There are thousands of wags of getting sick. There is only one way to get well. Do whatever you will, if you do not put your digestion in good order and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. A large part of the disease that afflict mankind are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating all diseases, consumption, is a disease of the blood. The disease shows in the lungs, and if the blood were always pure and without germs, the disease would never be overcome. Germs and impurities in the blood float along through the body until they find a weak spot for lodgment. They stick there and develop and people call the disease by the name of the organ affected. Disease of the blood, and if the blood be a perfectly natural, rational conclusion, the highest medical authority. It is in accordance with these facts that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery works. The first thing it does is to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites the codious secretion of the digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used with unvarying success for over 30 years.

If you care to know more about it, and more cover cost of mailing free, send in one-cent stamp to absolutely free a copy of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Medical adviser, Dr. J. C. Wood, World's Dispensary, Medical Association, No. 64 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

AN EVENING WITH THE "BLUES." The program culled that has been in program between the "Blues" and the "Pinks" two factions of the Philodanthean Literary society of Willamette University, was brought to a happy consummation last evening. When the contest was inaugurated it was agreed that the faction suffering defeat should give an entertainment at the close of the contest. This privilege fell to the "Blues" and those who were present last evening declare the "Blues" are even more successful in entertaining their friends than in participating in membership contest. Only members of the Philodanthean and Philodanthean literary societies and those holding special invitations were in attendance. Miss Etzel Rigdon, captain of the "Blues" presided. The young ladies had arranged a delightful musical and literary program that was successfully presented much to the entertainment of the auditors. Following the program a social hour was enjoyed, numerous games, etc., being heartily engaged in. The program presented was as follows: Piano duet, Misses Etzel and Myra Haymond; Vocal duet, Misses Jessie and Ethel Rigdon; Recitation, Miss Mabel Creighton; Dialogue, Misses Marie Campbell and Etzel Rigdon and Carl Morris.

A downing man would have little use for a method of rescue which would require days. A dyspeptic doesn't want to bother with a remedy that is going to take weeks to show its beneficial effects. The Mount Lebanon Shakers are offering a product under the name of Shaker Digestive Cordial which yields immediate relief. The very first dose proves beneficial in most cases; and in its owing to their unbounded confidence in it, that they have put to rest sample bottles on the market. These can be had through any druggist, and it will repay the afflicted to invest the trifling sum necessary to make a trial.

The Shaker Digestive Cordial relies by easing the stomach and aiding the digestion of food. It is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.
