PROCEEDINGS

In Marion's Circuit courts.

The Jury-Butler Case Concluded.—In Department No. 2.

All testimony in the action for money case of H. P. Jury vs. James Butler, et al. was introduced by 2:30 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, when the case was closed and 3 p.m. today, named by the court for hearing the argument.

The closing arguments, pro and con were commenced at 1 o'clock this afternoon and at present hour are still in progress.

IN DEPARTMENT NO. 2.

The afternoon session of Judge Hewitt's department Tuesday afternoon was occupied by a Polk county injunction case.

In the circuit court for Polk county a suit in equity has been instituted by A. H. Lyle against J. F. Graves and H. J. Ottenthaler to recover the possession of a certain tract of forty acres of land. During the pendency of the suit plaintiff secured a temporary injunction restraining defendants from entering and trespassing upon the premises. Yesterday Judge Hewitt heard the motion of defendants for a dissolution of the injunction. Attorneys N. L. Butler and J. J. Daly appeared for the defendants. After vigorous argument the matter was taken under advisement by the court.

At today's session of Department No. II of the Marion county circuit court, Judge H. H. Hewitt made the following docket entries:

Benjamin Strong vs. The Oakland Home Insurance Co. et al., furniture; default granted against all defendants except those answering and decree on pleadings.

E. P. McCormack, trustee, vs. Salem Consolidated Street Railway Co.; E. A. Anson, receiver, receivership; cause continued.

A. T. Savage, insolvent, vs. L. C. Griffith, assignee, cause continued.

J. A. Baker, vs. Williams & England, Banking Co.; receivership sale of premises described in petition ordered sold to A. Bush, being about 10 acres for $150. Ordered that receiver return. Hodson notes upon execution of quit claim deed for premises to reverter cause continued.

A. E. La Roque vs. James L. Dorner, injunction, motion for judgment on pleadings overruled and leave granted to the plaintiff to insert the word "or" in denials, the same appearing to have been omitted inadvertently and by clerical mistake.

Elizabeth P. Watt vs. Mary E. White et al., foreclosure, default as to E. H. White and decree.

At Sunnyside.

The new directors at Sunnyside school district No. 96, who were elected Saturday refused to participate in a meeting of the board composed of the two old directors, Chambers and Smith. The old board met and appointed a clerk, L. N. Wagner, in place of Mr. Miles, the clerk who refused to attend. This morning the old lock on the door had been broken off and a new lock put on by some one. The old board is now seeking legal advice to ascertain which crowd is the "sold-up." Today the old board and their clerk came to town to employ legal advice of the district attorney and attorney general to test the matter as to who is the school board at Sunnyside.

MAYOR

Richardson Strikes a Blow

At the Journal for its Fearless Discussion of City Affairs.

This city has a mayor who for political purposes proposes to silence THE JOURNAL by cancelling its advertising contract with the city because it has seen fit to call upon him to clean up the city, and because it has demanded that the large sum of city money still so deposited in Richardson's busted bank be paid over to the city.

When the committee on finance was instructed to employ an attorney and use all lawful means to collect that money Mayor Richardson scowled and twisted uneasily in his chair. But it is thought the committee will perform its duty.

Mayor Richardson sat uneasily in his chair and could hardly wait for the time to get to his work on THE JOURNAL for having dared to disclose the filthy condition of our streets and alleys, and to get at the real authors of the attack we print what Richardson began prints as a report of the mayor's language:

Major Richardson then called the attention of the council to the fact that very recently the leading street of Portland has seen fit to enter a good deal of trash about the filthy condition of the streets and alleys of the Capital City and about these alleged conditions producing a violent and protracted epidemic of fever and other diseases; hereat that THE JOURNAL has promptly reproduced and endorsed these irresponsible statements under glaring headlines to the further detriment of the city whose official patronage it was enjoying; that if the facts alleged by these papers were true, then the council committee on streets and public property and health and police were remiss in their duty and should be publicly rebuked; that if they were false, the papers referred to had wilfully libeled the city of Salem and, in the case of the home paper all official recognition should be withdrawn; that such wanton publication of un-substantiated charges was calculated to injure the city and, indirectly, the country around it, to the minds of incoming immigrants to this section, as not that was disgraceful in a paper sustained in it and by Salem, but he thought the time had arrived for the city to stop furnishing gap for such disgruntled publications; that the order awarding them the privilege of the city printing was passed by another council than the one now in control of the city affairs, and not binding in any sense.

Alderman Legg moved that the order made by the old council accepting the bid referred to be rescinded, the motion carrying without a dissenting vote.

RICHARDSON ON RICHARDSON.

The mayor's message in January was not complimentary to the Capital City.

Following are extracts from Major Richardson's message, as severe as indictment, and official at that, as have ever been put in print:

OUR STREETS A DISGRACE.

—While our street commissioners is allowed to spend half our taxes in Elling on a machine here and there, and for every one he kills up making two, one on either side of his rock pile, will our streets be what they are now, a disgrace to the Capital city.

COMPARED "HEED'S" TO A FIRE-TRAP.

—A little more than two years ago the whole West was startled by the news of a terrible disaster at Silver Lake, Or., in which forty-five people lost their lives in a fire-trap, called the public hall. In Salem we have an opera house, which is unprovided with adequate means of escape in case of fire or other accidents, and too few to the people of Salem to see that such improvements are made as will make it reasonably safe."

OUR IMPURE WATER SUPPLY.

—Many years ago, when the present Salem Water company was organized the population of the Willamette valley was much less than half what it now is. Then native grasses and timber covered a large part of the Willamette's water shed, which caused the rain fall to drain off slowly and for that reason the water of the Willamette was clear and healthful, except during time of winter freshets. But by reason of largely increased population our prairie grass has been plowed under, our hills shorn of their timber and the land brought into cultivation, thus permitting the rainfall to run off more rapidly, carrying with it large and increasing alluvial deposits, decaying vegetable and animal matters, which renders our water supply turbid and unwholesome for at least one-half of the year. This is an important matter to our people and we are confronted with the necessity of looking to other source than the Willamette river for a pure water supply for the people of Salem.

If the Mayor told the truth about the city, what he has done to improve the bad conditions he tells the world officially exist here.

If the Mayor told the truth about the city, what he has done to improve the bad conditions he tells the world officially exist here.

A city with a physician for Mayor might hope to have official protection and some official attention paid to improving its sanitary condition. The revelations about Salem's filthy streets and alleys came from Portland. It did not originate at Salem. The Dr. Mayor has absolutely refused to consider the sanitary condition of the city.

Why doesn't the council remove Mayor Richardson for uttering the above? It is well known that ex-Mayor Williams who was Richardson's political manager and bank partner, made a similar raid on the Salem Water Co. This attitude of Richardson's is not backed up by a single Salem physician. They have all declared that the city water is good. The street commissioners has admitted that the streets and alleys need cleaning, but as he has no power to act, many citizens have voluntarily gone to cleaning up the streets. Great piles of filth have been hauled up on State street the past few days and some haulied off, giving the lie direct to Mayor Richardson's attack on THE JOURNAL.

The weakest part of his performance was his reference to THE JOURNAL getting pay from the city. THE JOURNAL's contract for city advertising was obtained by being the lowest bidder. It does not amount to as much in a year as Dr. Richardson charges the state for one trip to the reform school. A man who made a fortune off the public in the name of party, profession, principle and political banking ought to go slow in attacking other people.

THE JOURNAL has stood in with the Mitchell push as the major did, and he went so far as to have ten special sworn in to keep Speaker Davis from taking his chair, the city advertising contract would not have been interfered with.

COINCIDENCE EXCUSES.—At a meeting of the faculty of the Medical department of W. U. last evening it was decided to hold the commencement exercises on March 2nd inst. This will probably be held in the university chapel. Dr. W. T. Williamson, of this city has been chosen to address the class. THE JOURNAL was slightly in error last evening in stating that the term just about to close was the first since removing the college from Portland to Salem. This valuable department of the University had session during the breeding year in the building now occupied by the Salem hospital. Hence this is the close of the second year of this department of the school since removing it to Salem.

BIMETALLIC CLUB.

The Salem bimetallic club holds its regular weekly meeting Thursday evening at Popular Hall.

The committee on program are hard at work today arranging a speaking and musical program for this evening. Dr. Mott and Major Sherman promise something of unusual interest.

All bimetalists are urged to attend these meetings. The intention is to take up the proceedings of congress and current topics.
