

Suffered from Childhood

The Wand of Misery was Waved Over the Head of Mrs. Rose Pargeter at an Early Age.

Physicians Failed to Give Her Relief—Lived a Life of Agony but never Abandoned Hope—Perseverance Awarded at Last and Mrs. Pargeter is a Well and Happy Wife.

From the Statesman, Salem, Oregon.

The ceaseless cry of the invalid is for health, for relief from the constant aggravation of pain and of nerve disturbance. Money loses its value, but becomes infinitely precious, and the best energies are unremittingly employed in this eager search for health; and no victory in life bears so potent and so grateful a sense as the achievement over disease, the complete restoration to normal, physical and nerve conditions.

A palpable case in point developed in this city lately, and the particulars of the story as reported to the Statesman were of a character to warrant an investigation as a matter of news.

The beneficiary in this matter proved to be Mrs. Rose Pargeter, of Salem, Oregon, the wife of the proprietor of big Boise dairy plant, and a lady of marked intelligence, one who would be conscientiously reluctant to make anything approaching an exaggerated statement.

When the reporter called, Mrs. Pargeter was in the midst of her exacting duties in the "dairy kitchen," and working with a vim and energy which seemed at first rather discouraging for an interview, but upon learning the nature of the scribe's errand, Mrs. Pargeter at once abated her devotion to milk cans and pans, and courteously accorded twenty pleasant minutes to the Statesman's representative.

Mrs. Pargeter said that her childhood, girlhood, and early womanhood had been made unhappy by her susceptibility to nervous disorders which found expression in almost constant sick headaches, neuralgia and kindred evils that all but wrecked an otherwise happy and useful life. But no trace of this is apparent today in her rosy, smiling face, vivacious manner and robust appearance.

Her parents, well-to-do, and inspired by affectionate anxiety for their daughter's future, employed the best physicians, but invariably without success; they sought the efficacy of family prescriptions, cherished as unerring, almost every known medicine that seemed applicable to their daughter's case was tried in ceaseless succession, but the trouble seemed irremediable and irremediable, and even after her marriage to Mr. Pargeter the same indomitable search for relief was kept up and still the afflictions would not abate, until at last Mrs. Pargeter's health was deemed irremediably lost, and the future but little bright for the young people.

Mrs. Pargeter finally became so exhausted by repeated and ever-lasting attacks of nervousness, by the steady intermission of sick headaches and the frequent agonies of neuralgia that it was almost impossible for her to get about at all, and at this dismal climax, just when a life of invalidism seemed inevitable and she was already taking on that super-patience and courage for which her sex is remarkable, in order to better face the ordeal before her, a chance occurred for a friend gave her the cue for the eventual re-establishment of her health.

It was only a passing incident, but the greatest and the happiest events are often wrought from trifles and this was exemplified in Mrs. Pargeter's case. The friend recited in a casual way the story of a neighbor who had found prompt and lasting aid in a similar ailment from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Mrs. Pargeter listened with pathetic interest to the statements, too discouraged to give it any earnest consideration, but a little later, while undergoing the agony of another attack from neuralgia, when longing and craving for the relief denied her, the story of her friend recurred to her and the first box of Pink Pills entered her house.

This single box did not bring the coveted relief, but Mrs. Pargeter is a just woman and a thorough one. She did not dispense the remedy because of the failure at this point. The second box was taken with careful adherence to printed instructions, and lo! the dawn of her deliverance burst upon her. She proceeded with the treatment until the fifth box had been disposed of, and to-day Mrs. Rose Pargeter is the active manager of one of the largest dairies in this county and the head of one of the happiest homes in the world, and proud of the victory accomplished with this splendid remedy. She will not suffer the possible interposition of any other agency that might hinder the triumph of the Pink Pills, and her gratitude for their extraordinary success is only equalled by that success itself.

STATE OF OREGON, ss.
COURT OF COMMONS, ss.
On this day personally appeared before me the undersigned authority, Mrs. Rose Pargeter, who being by me first duly sworn, deposed and said that the foregoing narration is true and correct to the best of her knowledge and belief. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 11th day of August, 1926.

(Signed) MRS. ROSE PARGETER.
Subscribed and sworn to before me at Salem, Oregon, this 11th day of August, 1926.
JOHN M. PAYNE, Notary Public,
For Oregon.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have an enormous sale, and from all quarters come the glowing reports of the excellent results following their use. An analysis proves that they contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, to restore and strengthen the system, and to cure all the diseases which are due to a weakened or impoverished blood, such as leucoderma, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of influenza, palpitation of the heart, pale and yellow complexion, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as erysipelas, chronic cystitis, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppression, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and yellow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, over-exhaustion, or excess of whatever nature. There are no ill effects following the use of this wonderful medicine, and it can be given to children with perfect safety.

These pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold in bulk. They may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment inexpensive as compared with other remedies.

CIRCULATION

Of the Daily Journal Increased 75 Percent.

Following letters need no explanation:

B. F. BONHAM, M., Salem, Or.
DEAR SIR:—Will you not please advise us if the weights of mails now received from the DAILY JOURNAL are fully 75 per cent more than a year ago at this time. As we have not increased the size of the DAILY JOURNAL during the past year, we wish to estimate the comparative increase in circulation, by the comparative weights mailed.

Yours very truly,
HOPE BROTHERS, Editors.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 25, 1927.
Editor Daily Journal:
DEAR SIR:—The weights of mails now received from the DAILY JOURNAL are fully 75 per cent more than a year ago at this time.

Respectfully,
B. F. BONHAM, P. M.
By J. A. Sellwood, Asst. P. M.

The circulation of the Portland Telegram is stated at 2500 copies daily. The average circulation of THE ONE CENT DAILY has been for sometime larger than that and the WEEKLY JOURNAL has a larger circulation than ever before.

THE JOURNAL is now established as the paper having the largest circulation in Oregon, next to the Oregonian. Advertisers are invited to inspect our lists of subscribers, and are reminded that our mail subscriptions are all paid in advance, and that such are a desirable class of people to do business with. They take this paper because they want it, not because it is forced upon them, and they can't get rid of it.

THE JOURNAL outdid all other papers in Oregon during the legislative session.

PROF. HERITAGE.—Begins a class in sight reading of music at the Willamette University chapel for children under 10 years of age. Work begins Saturday March 20th, at 9:30 a. m., and continues for 12 regular lessons. Tuition, 75 cents. Books and Chart, free coins to the first lesson.

FLOODS.

Water, Water, Everywhere! Great Devastation and the End Not Yet—Loss of Life.

MEMPHIS, March 20.—Sensational rumors are afloat as to the breaking of the levees above and below the city, causing serious damage to property and stock. So far these reports have not been verified in full, but sufficient is known to warrant the statement that before nightfall an additional 200 square miles of territory will be submerged.

In the territory covered by life steamers appalling facts came to light. Drowning of negroes are officially reported until the number now reaches almost half a hundred.

The relief committee thus far has ample funds to feed and clothe all the afflicted in the city. Telegrams from points 65 miles south of this place ask for steamers to rescue the people left by the last trip of the boats. Two steamers were dispatched east and west and are expected to return at midnight with several hundred persons.

A dispatch from Washington authorized government engineers to lend money to further protection of life and property. The river is still rising.

A family of six found a watery grave by the capsizing of a dugout while making for high land. Two infants, along the Memphis levees, for half a mile, there is a congregation of negroes awaiting their turn for relief. No one is refused.

ABOVE THE OHIO RIVER.

St. Louis, March 20.—The levee on the Mississippi, fifty miles below Caruthersville, Mo., in the extreme southeastern part, is reported broken and seventeen lives are reported lost. The river continues to rise at Caruthersville, and the pressure on the levee is great. All the weak spots are being strengthened, but the work is handicapped by rain. Many families living on the river bank have abandoned their homes and taken refuge at Caruthersville. A large amount of stock has been lost on the Tennessee side of the river, the entire bottom for miles being inundated.

The levee near Cottonwood, about eight miles from Caruthersville, is expected to break and overflow that part of the country.

UNPRECEDENTED FLOOD.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The heavy rains of the past 48 hours in the central valleys will cause a continued rise of the Cumberland, Tennessee, Lower Ohio and Mississippi rivers and intensity of the threatened flood conditions previously anticipated.

It is reported the floods in the Lower Mississippi valley during the next ten days or two weeks will in many places equal or exceed any previous year.

Additional warning is given residents in the threatened districts of Louisiana, Arkansas and West Mississippi to remove from the region of danger.

IN WISCONSIN.

RICHLAND CENTER, Wis., March 20.—The worst flood in years prevails here. The water is running through the streets. Cellars are filled and sewers overflowed. Teams and men are banking up the river which is rising fast. Mills and lumber yards are in great danger.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., March 20.—The black river is rising rapidly, cellars and lowlands are being flooded. Should the ice move in its present sound condition great disaster will result.

AT PADUCAH.

PADUCAH, Ky., March 20.—Paducah is both surrounded and invaded by water. Every inch of lowland in McCracken county is covered. Every stream in West Kentucky is out of its banks. The streets are flooded, bridges swamped, houses wrecked, fences swept away and roads rendered impassable.

TRAFFIC SUSPENDED.

YANKTON, S. D., March 20.—All traffic on the Great Northern, Milwaukee and Northwestern roads has been suspended here owing to high water and washouts of bridges and culverts.

WIRES DOWN.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 20.—All telegraphic communication with New Orleans was cut off. Floods are assumed to be the cause of the stoppage.

AT SIOUX, IA.

At Sioux City the flood endangered all the bridges near the stockyards, but they were saved by the use of dynamite to blow up the ice gorges. The reports from the Floyd river indicate that the worst is yet to come. It is considered probable that all bridges will go out before morning, but there will be no lives lost, as the people have been getting ready for the flood. The Sioux river is causing trouble to the Milwaukee railroads. The ice is breaking between here and Hawarden and at several places heavy gorges are being formed. The bridge at Riverside, across the Sioux, is in danger of going out at any moment.

OTHER POINTS.

At Pender, Neb., reports of danger on the ranches are received. The damage to the bottom lands is immense.

At Webster City, Iowa, Dr. Travis and Mr. Kirkberger were drowned while trying to ford the Boon river. The bridge over the Des Moines, at Lehigh, Iowa, has been damaged and may be a total loss.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, March 20.—It is rumored here that a huge waterspout burst about seven miles west of Davenport. Particulars are not obtainable yet.

NASHVILLE, Iowa, March 20.—The Burlington river registered 46 feet on the gauge. The rain fell all day yesterday and continues to come down in torrents today. The prospects are for the greatest flood on record. Much damage has already resulted from the overflow in the lowlands, and more will follow when the flood increases.

Large sections of western Nashville have been under water for several days. The river is steadily climbing to the business houses on Front street. Boats are now anchored within ten feet of the sidewalk and the prospects are that the first floors of these buildings will be submerged.

WIND AND WATER.

JACKSON, Miss., March 20.—A severe wind storm struck Jackson yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, coming from the southwest, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain. As far as known, there has been no loss of life, although heavy trees were blown up by the roots, houses unroofed, fences and outbuildings destroyed and signs blown away.

Jackson is entirely isolated in the matter of telegraphic communication, and on that account nothing can be heard from the surrounding country. It is probable serious damage has been done.

It is reported from Glendale, Miss., that the levee has broken there, and Lake Tchula has risen four feet.

FREE TO EVERY MAN.

The Method of a Great Treatment for Weakness of Men.

Which Cured Him After Everything Else Failed.

Painful diseases are had enough, but when a man is slowly wasting away with nervous weakness, the mental forbodings are ten times worse than the most severe pain. There is no let up to the mental suffering day or night. Sleep is almost impossible and under such a strain men are scarcely responsible for what they do. For years the writer rolled and tossed on the troubled sea of a weak nervous system until it was a question whether he had not better take a dose of poison and thus end all his troubles. But providential inspiration came to his aid in the shape of a combination of medicines that not only completely restored the general health, but enlarged his vigor and emancipated parts to natural size and work, and he now declares that any man who will take the trouble to send his name and address may have the method of this wonderful treatment free. Now when I say free I mean absolutely without cost, because I want every weakened man to get the benefit of my experience.

I am not a philanthropist, nor do I pose as an enthusiast, but there are thousands of men suffering the tortures of weakened manhood, who would be cured at once could they but get such a remedy as the one that cured me. Do not try to study out how I can afford to pay the few postage stamps necessary to mail the information, but send for it and learn that there are a few things on earth that although they cost nothing to get they are worth a fortune to some men and mean to a lifetime of happiness to most of us. Write a Thomas Slater, Box 390, Kalamazoo, Mich., and the information will be mailed in a plain sealed envelope.
