EDITORIAL.

Man who pursue a straightforward co irs: seldom fall in retaining t e re spect of their foes, and always their tran selfrespect. There are those with think it is smart to besmirch character by lusing ations or foul ingendoes that have no basis in actual fact Torse and in the long run that their) is a losing one, injuring only t remadelves.

Since the president has announced himself as opposed to nepotism, we trust that he will insist that delegations shall observe this rule in recommending appointees; or, if notified of its violation, refuse to appoint such person to the office recommended by them. We commend the same doctrine to our state officials, even at the risk of making a few more "enemies."

These senatorial muddles are 'prov ing object lessons to the people. They see that the only way out of these deadlocks is to relegate the election of senators to the people. They see, also, that, while the present mode of electing them remains, our legislatures are to be exposed to the malign influence of great corporations and trusts, who will not hesitate to resort to the worst practices to keep their bired men in the senate.

Mark Hanna's agent, Hon. S. M. Taylor, who was sent to Frankfort, Ky., to look after the senatorial muddle, we find has become disgusted and announces his intention to leave. Mr. Taylor doubtless found after he had got to Frankfort that he had no influence with the Republican members, and that his presence was undesirable-circumstances so probable as to account for his exceeding disgust. who promise to betray their party ought not receive its honors This is the ground of the fight against Hunter. The opposition to him is based on honor, principle and duty. The people are tired of "trimmers" and prefer no representation to purchasing it at such a price.

of the Manufacturers' Asociation in Portland was a great success. The Marquam Grand was filled with an best interests of the state, to support the home manufacturer, by making have the effect of keeping our money here and in circulation, and this will help to relieve the stringency bere of the financial depression. The movement is a good one, which we heartily endorse, and trust that it will find substantial encouragement in an increase of sales of home manufactured goods and articles.

It is said of some sixty federal judges, fifty-six of them were railroad sugar beet. attorneys when appointed. This is a showing that evidences that railroad corporations have exerted too much influence over judicial appointments. We do not mean to say that attorneys employed by railroads are not honest and able men. The fact is that their ability is usually the ground of their employment, and generally speaking they observe the ethics of their profession; but they are men pevertheless and human, and therefore are prone to remember and reward the hand Prespytery. The meeting is to be a that has secured their elevation. fall meeting. Tals ought to be stopped, and we hope that President Mckietey will not listen to the appeals of theattorney for the S. P. R. R. Co., ex-Senator Mitchell, and Senator McBride to appoint one Van Vicet, the brother-inlaw of Crocker, chief justice of the J. S. court of appeals.

acted with great judgment on the regular spring supply of seed grain od tariff ques ion. They have suffered greatly in the past few years, and realized to its fullest extent the evil of the tariff varying from the highest to the lowest margin, without any reason for it. A majority of those dealing in wool and other pro ducts will find a moderate safer than a high tariff, for business purposes, because the latter will tend to instill a speculative feeling, and the former to introduce elements of stability in disregarded the rule of justice, and favored discrimination in certain productions. We would like to see a tariff that will furnish a sufficient revenue to meet current expenses of government, and to protect our labor in those industries where our wage workers must compete with cheap labor. A tariff bill drawn on these lines, and aimed to accomplish this result, will greatly relieve the present situation and become the forerunner of more prosperous times.

THE JOURNAL prints a number of letters on the subject of a union of regon need in state and county and city affairs a well-managed opposition party. It must be composed of the est patriotic elements, and it must deserve success in order to succeed. All who cry reform are not reformers. and all Republicans are not necessa rily, because they are Republicans pposed to good government and enemics of the people. But Republicans who endeavor to serve the people fearlessly and independently and who consider themselves servants of the masses, rather than of a partisan machine, are not as a rule successful in living on peaceful terms or enjoying a very great popularity with their party managers. They are speedily rooted G. H. Bestow, of Oregon City, viceout of the party councils. They are not renominated. Such men are often more valuable to the people than .men who are put in office as reformers

The point we wish to make is that a People's party or Union party in Ore gon to be worth anything to the people must be officered by men of char acter and determination, and not merely by office-seekers with an un satiated appetite. The latter class, if they were placed in power, would We are informed that the meeting not give the people of Oregon as good government as they now have and would be speedily turned out of office.
