Silver Forces in the Senate Want to Help Producers.

EDITOR JOURNAL: Was pleased to notice the last stand taken by the city authorities in regard to the contemplated repairs on the bridge across the Willamette river at Salem. The city should not assume control of this bridge. If the city contributes one-third of the cost of these repairs that is as much as it should do. No responsibility for the care and repair of the bridge should be assumed by the city fathers. Mr. Bingham who seems to be the legal adviser for the city and county should be required to give an opinion that will not conflict with the double capacity in which he appears to act. We understand that he is paid $25 per month as legal adviser of the county and extra compensation for legal services that require profound and methodical thought. How much is he paid by the city? Can he fairly advise the city and county where their interests conflict? It is very difficult to do this. Mr. Bingham cannot point out a section of a provision of law wherein the city is obliged to keep up bridges between different counties (between Polk and Marion) See section 73 of the charter passed in 1863. Have him construe section 442, Hill's Code. It is almost impossible for Mr. Bingham to serve two masters and be fair and honest in his opinion to each one where there are opposing interests. A fair and honest interpretation of the law is wanted. The burdens of the city at present are great and no more should be forced upon it. Let the interests of the city alone be considered by our city council.

A LAWYER. [THE JOURNAL cannot imagine that Mr. Bingham would do such a thing as to be counsel for both city and county. It is true, he is special attorney for the county over the head of the district attorney. But that is a matter for the county court to determine. If Judge Terrell needs a special legal adviser at $25 a month he can't be prevented from employing one. It may be cheaper than to furnish his own legal advice. It is certain that Mr. Bingham has been drawing up ordinances for the city council. He has also been employed by the finance committee of the city council to recover the city's funds from Mayor Richardson's busted bank. This same finance committee may have the benefit of Mr. Bingham's advice on other financial matters in which the city is interested. But where the finances of the city and the county are so diametrically opposed, as on the question of the expenses of maintaining the big bridge, the city or the county will have a big bill to pay. Mr. Bingham cannot advise both sides on such a matter and as a professional man, under pay, give honest advice. This is an important matter, because both city and county must pay Mr. Bingham and it all comes out of the taxpayers. But the taxpayers are not the same. If Mr. Bingham is protecting the county taxpayers against the city, they ought to pay him. If he is protecting the city taxpayers against the county, the city ought to pay him. Both ought not to pay him for what he can render only one. The criticism above made is a just one and in the interests of the public and of the legal profession Mr. Bingham ought to resign one office or the other.] Ed. JOURNAL.

Imposition of a tax on insurance agents at this time is not well received. Times are too hard to make new taxes welcome. The average business man is studying how he can cut down taxes reduce expenses, cut down rents, and make both ends meet. He cannot pay an added tax without moving into a cheaper office, going without this or that, and so the insurance tax becomes an additional burden on the community. Back of it all, such taxes are class legislation. They are unjust as a matter of principle. The insurance men are justified in their united opposition.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The tariff bill was taken up in the senate at 2 o'clock. Vest gave notice that when the paragraphs were read he would move to strike out the provisions relating to beer, manufactured tobacco, snuff and cigarettes. Aldrich then opened the debate for the Republicans. Cannon, of Utah, introduced an amendment to the tariff bill providing for an export duty on wheat, corn, flour, tobacco and other farm produce, by way of equalization to the agriculturists of the benefits of this tariff act. This act is the result of the conference of the Silver Republicans, Populists and some Democrats, who may be said to represent the sentiment of the element which puts silver above all other legislation. Following is the export bounty proposed. Ten cents per bushel on wheat; 50 cents per barrel on wheat flour; 50 cents per barrel on rye flour; 5 cents per bushel on corn; 10 cents per cental on corn ground; one cent per pound on cotton; two cents per pound on hops; two cents per pound on tobacco.

The long-deferred debate on the tariff bill was expected to open, and served to attract considerable crowds, although the galleries were not overtaxed during the earlier hours. The attendance of senators was larger than at any time since the opening. There was no positive agreement as to the time for taking up the bill, but it was generally understood that Aldrich, of Rhode Island, would be recognized for the opening statement immediately after the morning business. Pasco, of Florida, presented the credentials of the new senator from Florida, Steven R. Mallory, who was sworn in. A further conference on the Indian bill was ordered. A resolution was agreed to requesting the president for all correspondence relating to fur seals of the Behring sea. Perkins presented a resolution reciting the refusal of the Russian charge d'affairs at Washington to issue a passport for Adolph Kutner, an influential Jewish banker, of Fresno, Cal., who was about to visit Poland. The resolution refers to the "invidious distinction against certain American citizens," and the official action of Prince Lobanoff, the Russian premier, relative to the exclusion of Jews from Russia. It provides also that this government requests Russia to declare whether American citizens are excluded from Russia on account of their religious faith, and if so that said imperial government of Russia be requested to remove such prohibition and to permit Americans of whatever religious faith to visit Russia, etc.

Perkins spoke in favor of the resolution, saying the United States should extend its protecting arms to every citizen, Jew or Gentile, whither he might go. The resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations. A resolution by Pettigrew was agreed to, requesting the president for information relative to the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads; amount of dividends, execution of the Thurman act, etc. A resolution authorizing the secretary of the navy to employ any suitable ship in the transportation of relief supplies to India was considered. Chandler explained that this was essential, as no American ships were available. Morgan remarked that the senate had reached an era when it was necessary to consult somebody at the other end of the capitol "as to whether a measure could go through."

"Has the senator," queried Morgan, addressing Chandler, inquired whether this benevolent resolution will be allowed to receive consideration in the house? Chandler responded by asking if Morgan had made any arrangements for passing his Cuban resolution in the house.

The People are arranging that "The Gun Goes Off" instantly when you pull the trigger. So sickness may come on suddenly. But it takes time to load the gun, and it takes time to get ready for those explosions called diseases. Coughs, colds, any "attack," whatever the subject be, often means preceding weakness and poor blood. Are you getting thin? Is your appetite poor? Are you losing that many energy and vigor that make "clear-headedness"? Do one thing: build up your whole system with SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. It is the essence of nourishment. It does not nauseate, does not trouble the stomach. And it replaces all that disease robs you of. A book telling more about it sent free. Ask for it. SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.
