

Room for People But the Attraction's Are Greater Than Ever.

Newport, July 26—(Special correspondence.) July has been an off month this year for Newport. The cheap rates to California, the Chautauqua assemblies, mountain resorts, Bryan's tour, and an increasing number of places of interest is dividing what little business there is. July and August are the harvest season here, but half the harvest is past and all have lost money so far who rely on travel for business. The attractions are great here this year but the tide of travel is weak and those who come, camp and bring provisions for their entire stay in cottages. But August may make it up. There is room for a thousand grown-ups and as many children, as a summer is composed of about equal numbers of each. Carl Denton furnishes an orchestra brass band here all the season. His mother and sister are with him. The players are: Carl Denton, violin; Miss Denton, piano; H. Stoumeyer, cornet; B. Riley, bass; N. McGinnis, trombone; W. V. Skinner, clarinet; Levi Card, tuba; Fred Fontaine, alto. They will play for the State Teachers association and Summer school. They gave an out-door concert at Nye creek, Friday, and the second dance of the season, Saturday evening. So far there is a scarcity of gentlemen dancers, the sets being mostly filled by ladies. Prof. Dunn, of Willamette, one of the instructors of the summer school, lectured on Athens Thursday evening, more especially on the acropolis, and parthenon, before the county teacher's institute. He is an enthusiastic admirer of Greek art and literature, and a most pleasing popular lecturer. Prof. Washburn, of the State university, is spending some time on the bay this summer, promoting the artificial propagation of eastern oysters. He is a biologist, which means putting things together by two's. So he catches lady oysters before they lay any eggs and introduces them to gentlemen oysters under proper chaperoning, and he has got young oysters so far as the swimming stage. The state fair is well advertised over here. The premium lists and handbills are everywhere, and everybody seems to know Charley Gabrielson, the secretary. The fair ought to have an exhibit from Lincoln county as this bay country can produce a wonderful variety of the necessities and luxuries of life. The fruit over here is very fine this year. Miss Mary E. Case is conducting the Ocean house, in the absence of her father, Sam Case, who is very ill. The young lady is well known at Salem, but her friends will be surprised to know that she is chief clerk, steward and manager of this large hotel this summer. Chas. A. Cogswell and family, J. K. Weatherford and family, Geo. W. Davis and family, Harry B. Miller and family, Prof. Condon and family and J. W. Howell and family are among the visitors. The man whose face is his fortune as a boniface and whose wife is a jewel of a landlady, is Pete Abbey, whose hotel is a popular resort, has most of the guests and makes everybody at home. We have to carry a box of black pepper, as nearly all the dogs at the seaside are disposed to pitch onto our baby's bulldog. E. H.

Mrs. Drew Baker, who lives on a farm three miles west of Irving, made an attempt to commit suicide by cutting her throat with a razor. She cut a large gash and evidently thought she had accomplished her purpose, but the children, who were witnesses, called her husband, and she was prevented from making further attempts. She will recover. No reason is known for the act.

Just arrived, first melons of the season, of water melons, cantalope, sweet potatoes and tomatoes at the Oregon Fruit and Produce Co.

Washington county is expected to yield 300,000 bushels of wheat this season.

MR. BRYAN AND OTHERS.

Our Salem Correspondent Writes of His Sojourn With Mr. Bryan.

[Carey Martin in Eugene Journal:] Laying aside all questions of politics, all questions as to whether his political views are correct or fallacious—putting entirely out of sight all things which could possibly be regarded as appertaining to money theories—and Mr. Bryan is still a very great man. While traveling on the train with Mr. Bryan recently my wife and I endeavored, by closely watching him, by closely noting his every action and the manner in which he greeted people of different classes and kinds and the words he spoke to them, to determine why he is so wonderfully popular; to determine why people will travel hundreds of miles, get up in the middle of the night, stand for hours in the burning sun just for a glimpse of a very ordinary, commonplace looking, middle aged man. Equanimity, equality of all men, gentleness, kindness. There seems to be no word which will describe the man. So plain, so common, so kind, so goodnatured so even tempered, so absolutely on a level with all men. Call it personal magnetism, typotic force or anything you please, I believe the word "equanimity" of character most nearly tells the whole story. Nature works in cycles and at stated periods produces prodigies. Mr. Thomas Jefferson was a human prodigy, a wonder, a real disciple of the theory of the equality of man. An hundred year cycle has about rolled by and we have another prodigy of the same school. Mr. William J. Bryan, Jefferson, at the close of his term as president, was the most despised man in the nation. Why? Simply because he did not like cruel, inhuman war and tried to keep peace with other nations without war. Today Jefferson is exalted as a hero. Had Mr. Bryan been elected, had his money theories failed of practical application, had he retired from office a hooted false prophet, an hundred years from now he would be encolized and worshipped as the teacher of human equality, the Christ of the latter part of the nineteenth century, the living example of the Christian equanimity. It might be said that Mr. Bryan is the first man since Lincoln who is willing to absolutely sacrifice self and dignity and all that and put himself on an absolute level with the poorest man. At the railroad stations all along the line I watched how he seem to enjoy meeting the real sun-tanned, rough-dressed laboring men—the real producers of our nation. Abe Lincoln himself could not have been a greater hero of the plain, common people.

The first thing Bryan asked me was: "where is your wife?" I told him. He said, "I will thank you if you will bring her to me." I thanked him, and retired, and re-appeared in a moment with my wife. Mr. Bryan, who had remained seated to greet the gentlemen, arose, lifted his light, gray hat with his left hand and extended his right hand saying: "I am glad to know you. I am well acquainted with your brother in New York and have just met your father. Won't you have some flowers as a remembrance of this occasion?" With this he reached to an enormous bouquet of sweet peas on the seat in front of him and plucking a small handful presenting them to her. We thanked him for kind expressions about our relatives in Lincoln, Nebraska, and in New York and retired to allow others to go through the same performance. We took seats opposite the finished fruit come bud and blossom. Bud grows into blossom and blossom into fruit. And so girlhood merges into womanhood and the woman into motherhood. The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make the girl a woman, and the woman a mother. At these times Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is of incalculable value. It turns danger into safety and pain into ease. It is a medicine which has but one object. It is good for but one thing. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, it promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural, exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all of the ills of womanhood are traceable to some form of what is known as "female complaint." And this generally begins either at the time of puberty or childbirth, or at the "turn of life."

There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar diseases that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will not cure. Thousands of grateful women have been rendered healthy and happy by its use, and the experience and testimony of many of them has been included in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. When Dr. Pierce published the first edition of his work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after deducting the profit on which would repay him for the cost of the labor and money of producing it, he would give away the next half million free. He is now distributing absolutely free, 500,000 of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, at Buffalo, N. Y., twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains over 1000 pages and more than 300 illustrations. The second issue before all are given away. It is sold at $1.00 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth, and now before all are given away. They are going off rapidly, therefore, do not delay sending immediately if you want one.

THE POLYTECHNIC—Summer normal has been removed to the Little Central school building, where twenty-two teachers may be found busy from eight in the morning till five in the evening. The school will continue for two weeks, closing just before August examinations. 23 31

Losing Flesh

You naturally lose flesh in the summer and running down is so easy. You get a little weaker each day without hardly noticing it. There is loss of appetite, headache, weakness of the muscles, disturbed sleep, weakness of memory, and these are the beginning of nervous prostration. Iron and tonics and bitters may afford some temporary relief, but what you need is a food for body, brain and nerves.

Scott's Emulsion.

of Cod-liver Oil with the Hypophosphites, furnishes just the nourishment needed for those who are run down and pale and thin and weak. If you lose flesh in summer take Scott's Emulsion now. Don't wait till fall or winter before beginning.

For sale at 50c. and $1.00 by all druggists.

posite Mrs. E. Hofer and children and about three seats back of the one occupied by Mr. Bryan. Sitting near us were Capt. and Mrs. Leabo, Mr. and Mrs. Dan'l Fry and Major and Mrs. Sherman, of Salem, Dr. Guiss and E. P. Moreum, of Woodburn, Judge J. J. Daly, of Polk county, Hon. F. A. E. Star, of Portland, Hon. M. A. Miller, of Lebanon, Hon. Peter D'Arcy of Salem, Hon. J. C. Cooper, of McMinnville, and others who I did not know were passing back and forth through two cars occupied by Mr. Bryan and committee. Messrs. John and Thos. Holman, Laf. Kavanaugh, Geo. W. Weeks, Frank Williams, C. W. Talmage, Geo. E. Allen, Ed Fritzel and a number of ladies whom I did not know occupied seats in the Bryan car. The only plug hat in the car was worn by Attorney George Washington Wright, of Albany, who sat just across the aisle from Mr. Bryan and whose silk tie contrasted quite strongly with Mr. Bryan's soft gray-white hat. Attorney John Bayne, of Salem, and Bishop H. L. Barkley, of Woodburn, and a Mr. Montague, of Lebanon, were among those who sojournd with the distinguished commoner.

On the Bryan special train of eleven cars I noticed Wm. Westcott, the Salem restaurateur; Mr. Reeves, the mining man; Dr. Mott, the bright eclectic physician, of Salem; Judge R. P. Boise, ex-chief justice of the supreme court of Oregon; Attorney S. T. Richardson, dean of the Willamette law school; Mayor McKinley Mitchell, of Gervais; Attorney Woodson Slater, son of Senator Slater; Louis McClaine, the Salem gas man; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stump; Mr. E. F. Osborn, the racket store man, late of Eugene, now of Salem; Mr. Steiner, the fish market man, of Salem, had his family with him and Governor Fletcher, of the Salem Independent, was accompanied by his daughter. These names are given as samples of the kind of people who escorted Mr. Bryan through the Willamette valley.

Mrs. Leabo, of Salem, in conversing with Mr. Bryan, presented herself as a "part of the rag-tag and the bob-tail of the country." He replied that he was indeed glad to meet her and was only sorry his "country-bred wife" was not with him to greet her. Mrs. Leabo is one of the most active of the young women who took an interest in the late presidential campaign.

Mrs. Dr. Mott, and three sons were presented to Mr. Bryan on the train. The Mott brothers—the eldest not over thirteen—did very effective service for Mr. Bryan in the late campaign, singing campaign songs and rendering campaign declamations. He thanked them for their services.

Mr. Fred Steusloff, of the Salem butcher, was on the Bryan special and looked as happy and fat as ever. Hon. "Scotch" Miller, a venerable pioneer, of Salem, sat just back of Ex-Chief Justice Boise and looked aged, honest and distinguished as he always does.

Mrs. E. Hofer, wife of Hon. E. Hofer, of Salem, was active and instrumental in making the floral tributes appropriate and in administering to the pleasures of the sojourner in the Bryan car.

At first sight Mr. J. C. Cooper, the silver-union leader of McMinnville, looked like Congressman Tongue. His beard however seemed darker with a few gray hairs.

Prop. D. W. Yoder, one of the bitterest gold standard men in Marion county, was on the Bryan special train but perhaps was simply traveling.
