Blood Purified and System Built up by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I suffered for several years with a severe cold, spring and fall. Two years ago I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and I have had no cold since, and I do not fear this cold as I formerly did. I heartily recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier and strengthening medicine."

KLONDIKERS

From the Capital City

First Letter From the Late Principal of Lincoln School.

The following is the first letter received from Prof. J. O. Hall, late principal of the Lincoln school, of this city. He left Salem on the 3rd day of August, 1897, in company with Messrs. Welch and Bayne for the Klondike. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jory, of Salem, sailed on the same vessel. He writes from Sitka, August 14, on board the steamer Queen, and mailed upon arrival at Juneau. Another letter is expected describing the landing and trip to Skaguay.

PROF. J. O. HALL'S LETTER.

On board steamer Queen (between Fort Wrangel and Juneau) August 10. You notice by the heading our location at this time. We left Seattle at 10:30 a. m., Saturday, August 7, O. K. shape. We left Bayne to buy two more horses, also to get them shod and place them upon a barge called the Ajax. He bought passage on the steamer Mexico, which was to sail yesterday; however he will not be able to go this year if he depends upon her, as she was wrecked on Mary's Island and sunk in 70 fathoms of water.

Mr. Welch and I have enjoyed the trip immensely, with the exception of the table fare. I think that they give the least and serve it in the poorest shape of any that I ever saw. We are sitting in midship, looking eastward, and seeing some of the grandest sights. The view is made up of mountains, peaks and glaciers. They are changing colors constantly, beginning usually with white, showing all of the tints of the rainbow in succession.

There are a great many excursionists on board; among them are the Vanderbilts and Sloans. They have not called at our stateroom yet. I suppose they regard us a little formal and are waiting for us to move first. We crossed to Port Townsend about forty miles northwest of Seattle, and arrived at 1:20 p. m. The wharf was packed with people, from one end to the other, mothers accompanying their sons and husbands to give the parting good by. Some even threw rice after them for good luck. I find some of the men waving and undoubtedly some will return. A great many are leaving families with small children, and it strikes a very tender chord when they talk about them. There are men here of every race and description, from nearly every place and nearly every state, except the south. I think they are as a whole the finest looking and best appearing class I ever saw engaged in the same enterprise. They are happy, usually obliging and intelligent. Nearly every one to a man is for free silver. Many of the Masonic fraternity are among them.

Time is passed in eating, sleeping and walking. I do not stay upon the upper deck, as we thoughtlessly did not check our heavy clothes as baggage, and it is too cool without them. Nothing of importance occurred on Sunday. We saw a great many whales as they were rising to spout. We picked up some of the Mexico crew on the way, but they were cut loose soon afterward, as the boat was too small to be towed as rapidly as we were going. I think they were bound for a certain place, so did not care to come aboard, as their little craft appeared to be a very worthy one.

This morning we stopped at Ft. Wrangel, the village of totem poles. We counted thirteen in all. This place is made up of Indians and dogs, the former of the lowest type. I counted fifteen dogs with one family. They are so superstitious that they dare not kill them.

I bought a sealskin cap, round in form and it appears very much the same as the picture the Examiner gives. Gave one dollar for it. It is grey or nearly white and made from the skin of a baby seal. We are thoroughly equipped in our food and clothing, and have nothing to fear on this score. All of us have extra socks, boots, coats, Mackinaws etc., so you see we are comfortable. What we want is to have luck with us, and all will be sunshine in a short time. We have stout hearts, and firmly believe the Lord will guide and care for us.

We are getting very favorable reports from time to time, which of course are very encouraging. Geo. Bayne was a most valuable addition to our party, and we liked him more and more while he was with us. Mrs. Jory is a pusher, and will make a strike if it is to be made. Will close and write more at Juneau if I have time. We expect to get there at 10 p. m. today and stay until 7 a. m. tomorrow. From there we go over to Treadwell and from there to Skaguay. We will reach there tomorrow at noon. Then comes the great work over the pass. We want to get started down the river by September 1. There are seven women going over, two of whom are colored.

LANDED AT SKAGUAY.

Skaguay, Thursday, August 12. We reached here all safe. Did not have an accident on the way. Stopped at Juneau over night. It is a typical mining town enclosed on two sides by mountains. Gambling and dance houses open day and night. Its very life depends upon the mining and fishing industries.

Yesterday we stopped at the James Treadwell mines, the largest in the world. It rained all day and is at it still. Our ship is lying at anchor with hatchways down, and it is very hard to ascertain much. One report says there are two thousand people waiting here. We will probably stay for a week or more before Geo. Bayne gets here.

J. O. HALL.

No mystery about it. When the Shakers offered some time ago to give away a bottle of their Digestive Cordial to any one who might call at their New York office, there was a great many people thought they were crazy. Subsequent events proved it to have been a very clever advertising transaction, for although they gave away thousands of bottles, it was in the end profitable; nearly every one that took a free bottle came back for more and paid for it with pleasure, saying they had derived better results from its use than from any other medicine they had ever used.

There is nothing so uniformly successful in the treatment of stomach troubles as the Shakers Digestive Cordial, and what is better than all, it relieves at once.

Laxol, the new form of Castor Oil is so palatable that children lick the spoon clean.

Rodney Stiles, who was working for Henry Gilpin, driving the team that operated the derrick with a threshing, while at work Saturday, a short distance from The Dalles, met with an accident that caused his death. While hauling a big fork full of grain to the derrick wagon, the double-trains broke and one of them struck Stiles in the stomach. He lived but a few hours after the accident.
