RICHES OF KLONDIKE.

Gold-Laden Creeks Line the River From End to End.

GREATEST STRIKES ARE MADE.

Discovery of Wonderful Claims on Eldorado Creek.

MARYVILLE, Mo., Oct. 13.—An interesting letter has been received by Henry Alexander, of this place, from his son, E. G. Alexander, who has been in Dawson City since 1895. The letter is as follows:

"I have been spending most of this summer at Dawson City, but will leave shortly for the mines on Bonanza Creek, where I will remain until next spring. A new creek was struck this summer known as Dominion creek. I located a claim on it in a very favorable location. There two discoveries on the creek and my claim is between them. I held my Dominion creek property this summer. The ground averaged after I bought it one ounce, or $17, a day to the man for shoveling it.

"The excitement of the country is right here, and as for this Klondike strike, I would say that it is the biggest that was ever known. They are getting as high as $2500 to the pan on Eldorado creek, and 3000 ounces, or $51,000, was taken out of one claim alone in about one week's shoveling at a total cost of perhaps $500. At that rate there will be at least $4,000,000 in the claim.

"There are thousands of creeks that white men have never touched with a spade. Paying creeks are found from one end of the great Yukon to the other. Gold is found in tributaries almost to St. Michaels.

"There is an order here called the Yukon Order of Pioneers. Its members have a regalia which they wear on occasions. One of the pioneers died two or three weeks ago, and during his sickness, death and burial they took entire charge of his body. One of the brother pioneers delivered a funeral oration.

"There are supposed to be 6000 or 7000 people in the vicinity of Dawson City.

"The greatest drawback is the government. People are taxed outlandishly. The first recording fee on a claim is $15, the next is $100, and for seven years following is $100 for each claim. They even charge stampage for cutting wood at 25 cents a cord, which amounts to considerable where so much is used in thawing the ground. Even the dead wood on the ground is charged for at 10 cents a cord. House logs are taxed at 8 cents a log. All goods are subjected to a revenue tax, which is said to be a retaliation on the United States. It is estimated the Canadian government will collect $2,000,000 here between last spring and next.

"There is much complaint because the United States government is so slow in determining the course of the bona fide boundary line. It is reported here that President McKinley has notified the Canadian government that a strict account of revenues collected must be kept until the location of the boundary line is settled.

"A representative of the Rothschilds is here in Dawson City."

Statement of Expert.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—Henry Bratner, the mining expert who is known throughout the United States from his connection with the Exploration Company of London, has returned to the Klondike. His mission was to ascertain if an opportunity presented itself for investment.

He says: "I find some very good placer mines, but not as sensational in their richness as has been supposed. In many cases the claims are comparatively poor, although almost any of them will pay wages. Because one claim is very rich is no reason why an adjoining one should be equally good. On the contrary, the near neighbor of a rich claim is generally not worth much.

"There are few summer diggings in the Klondike; that is, those that can be worked by the ordinary sluicing process. Most of the bedrock is 10 to 15 feet below the surface, the ground is frozen solid except 18 inches or two feet the thaw made. On the whole, the Klondike may be classed as very good diggings, that is to say, there is a good chance for other discoveries this fall.

"As to quartz mining, I consider it impossible at present, owing to the difficulties to be overcome. I do not think there is much danger of starvation at Dawson."

DEATH OF ROBERT SCOTT.

Prominent in Milling Circles Throughout the State.

WOODBURN, Or., Oct. 13.—Robert H. Scott, a prominent man in this locality and throughout the state in milling circles, died yesterday morning.

Mr. Scott was born in Roxburghshire, Scotland, October 22, 1826. Moving to Canada in 1849, he engaged in the milling business, remaining in Canadian territory until 1856, when he moved to Westport, Or., where he for several years, successfully conducted a sawmill business. In 1866 he took up his residence on a farm, on which Scott's Mills, in Marion county, is now located. From 1866 until 1892 he operated a grist mill on his farm. Since 1892 he had resided at Woodburn, where he built a large flouring mill and warehouse.

In 1855, Mr. Scott was married to Miss Ann West, daughter of the late Captain John West, of Westport, Or., who still survives him. To Mr. and Mrs. Scott were born ten children, all of whom are living, with a single exception. The following named children, with their aged mother, will be present at the funeral services at Association hall, in Woodburn, tomorrow, after which the remains will be taken to the old home at Scott's Mills for burial.

Mrs. M. Loveridge, of Woodburn; John Scott, of Rossland, B. C.; Mrs. Jane Adams, of Westport, Or.; Miss Lydia, Miss Eva, Robert H. Jr., and Walter Scott, of Woodburn; Mrs. Ella Korb, of Scott's Mills, and Charles Scott, manager of the Woodburn Milling Company's plant in this city. Mr. Scott was a man of unwavering fidelity and integrity. He was well-to-do. To his personal efforts and progressiveness was due much of the advancement of the milling interests of this county and state.

In Police Court.

Larry Hay, who was arrested in Portland some time since, on suspicion of having burglarized the residence of the Japanese employed by the S. P. Co., was last evening discharged from custody owing to the lack of incriminating evidence.

IN FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Peremptory Demand to Be Made Upon Spain.

TOLON CLAIM MUST BE PAID

State Department Will Permit No Delay in the Matter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Instructions to Minister Woodford are being prepared at the state department for presentation to Spain of a new demand for immediate payment of the claim for indemnity made by Samuel Tolon. The original demand was presented to the Madrid government by Mr. Taylor, who has just retired from the office of minister.

He stated in stirring language that this government would expect Spain to pay the just claim of $50,000 as indemnity for the sufferings Mr. Tolon had endured. Spain's reply was that it was under no obligation to pay Tolon, and this has been followed by a statement which declares the action of the Spanish officers in Cuba was a governmental measure, and Spain would be unjust to herself were she to indemnify Tolon.

State department officials insist the claim is just and will continue to present it.

Tolon was naturalized in New York in 1878. He had a general business in Cardenas, Cuba, in 1880. He left Cardenas for Havana on September 1, of last year, intending to sail for the United States. While on board the steamer Seneca he was arrested by the police and imprisoned for 10 days in the interior porch of the courtyard of the police station. He was thrust into a small, hot, filthy cell on September 13, and deprived of all outside communication.

He was returned to the interior porch on September 21 and was deported to the United States seven days later.

Mr. Tolon has also pending a claim for $100,000 arising out of the damage done to his property in Cuba by Spanish soldiers.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Last evening Edward Doty and Lizzie Zimmerman were the recipients of a marriage license. Today three additional such licenses were issued as follows: Cyrus J. Starrett and Lizzie T. Cavender; Alvin W. Bagley and Edith Field; Benjamin Latquell and Maude Alice Crum. In the latter instance the bride-elect is but 17 years of age, making the consent of her father, Wm. Crum, necessary, before the license could be granted. The marriage of Miss Edith Field to Rev. Alvin W. Bagley, of Seattle, Wn., will be solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, about two miles east of this city, this evening.

DANCING CLASSES.—Miss Bessie Sherman resumes her dancing classes for the winter at Hughes hall at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Miss Sherman was very successful in conducting classes last winter and those desiring instruction in the terpsichorean art, would do well to consult this young instructor.

VALLEY BURGLAR ARRESTED.

Supposed to Be the Man Who Robbed a Store at Hubbard.

Ed Jackson, believed to be the burglar who robbed the Geo. H. Beebe store at Hubbard, was captured at Portland last night and will be brought to Salem for trial. Deputy Sheriff Wain went after him on the afternoon train. He is an all-around man having been caught in the act of selling plunder which came from the Beebe store, and also goods indicating that he has been engaged in similar work up and down the valley.

DETAILS OF ARREST.

The burglar who entered George H. Beebe's store in Hubbard the night of October 1 was arrested by Detectives Kerrigan and Maher last evening in Portland with a portion of his plunder. The prisoner gives the name of Ed. Jackson, and is believed by the police to be one of the shrewdest operators they have hauled for some time. Many burglaries have been reported up the valley, both before and after the large haul made at Hubbard, and the detectives think they now have the energetic individual who has done most of the work. The goods taken from Beebe's store consisted of overcoats, clothing, cutlery, jewelry and other articles found in a general merchandise store.

Last week Detectives Kerrigan and Maher found some of the stolen jewelry in a pawnshop at Portland, and obtained a fairly good description from the proprietor of the person who left it there. They were satisfied the man wanted was in the city, but their vigilance was unrewarded until last evening. The second-hand dealers and pawnbrokers were notified to keep watch for any person answering the description furnished, and yesterday afternoon the detectives received word that a person who filled the bill had sold some overcoats. With this clue they started on a thorough search, which soon landed the culprit in jail. In his room, goods supposed to be those of the Hubbard plunder were found. The Portland detectives worked under instructions from Sheriff Wrightman of this city.

COUNTY COURT RE-CONVENES.

A number of minor orders regarding improvements on certain county roads, were made.

The court has made an agreement with C. F. Royal for building two bridges, viz, towit; one 110 or 113 feet long on the Buena Vista and Salem road at expense of $250.00; also for the building of two certain bridges on the Snyder bottom road, said bridges to cost $1.35 per linear foot.

ATTEMPTED JAILBREAK.

Second Inside of Three Days at the Marion Courthouse.

Jailbreaks are so frequently attempted at the Marion county courthouse that it is only by miraculous good luck anyone remains in there for the courts to deal with. Four prisoners were out of their cells before midnight last night but none got away.

WHO THEY WERE. Ferris, the man who has been unsuccessful in setting fire to the jail and who conducted a sham hanging bee with himself for a subject, was the ringleader again last night. He and Bailey, the Yew Park wholesale house breaker and burglar, sawed off two bars at the bottom of their cell door. This also released Richardson and Miley in the connected cell.

At a little before midnight Jas. Roberts, the faithful nightwatch, reported a prisoner in the corridor.

Sheriff Wrightman and Deputy Cooper rushed in and secured Ferris in legs, covering him with cold steel gun barrels in the mean time. The other three had hustled back in their cells. Search revealed twenty different articles prepared to be used in cutting their way out, including as professional jail breaker's saw, two other saws, slingshots, knives, to sash weights, steel bars, bills, ropes and bolts. These must have been supplied from the outside. Ferris is undoubtedly highly connected with the profession outside the jail.

INJUNCTION PROGRESS

Judges on Government by That Method.

IS ODIOS TO THE JUDICIARY

Opinions of Most Eminent Legal Authorities.

The great public interest in the use of injunctions against strikers in labor disputes inspired the Chicago Times-Herald, which has uniformly defended such writs, to gather and print in its last Sunday issue a remarkably timely and significant collection of opinions on this question from about 30 judges, lawyers and laymen who are especially well known in the middle west. The questions which the men were invited to answer were as follows:—

1. What are your views on the power and practice of courts in issuing injunctions in labor disputes?
2. How is such power derived and is it misused?
3. Do injunctions interfere with the constitutional guarantee of trial by jury?

4. Should congress specially define and limit the power of courts in issuing injunctions?

Broadly speaking, one finds, on a perusal of the answers submitted, that only six unqualifiedly indorsed the recent extension of the injunction power to labor troubles, seven were, in the main, non-committal, while 15 were outspoken in their hostile criticism. The answers emanate from so-called political or politicians in a few cases and with these one need not be concerned, yet the most conservative citizens will admit that the answers coming from judges, men now actually on the bench, are deserving of their consideration. Fifteen judges returned replies, and we find that of these only two were unqualifiedly for what is now popularly known as "government by injunction," six were non-committal, while seven were more or less emphatic in denouncing or criticizing the recent extension of the injunction power. We fancy that the Times-Herald sent its question to the judges without knowing, except in special cases, what their views might be, and the large proportion, therefore, who did not hesitate to range themselves beside Mr. Altgeld, the creator of this issue in our politics, is surprising and highly significant.

The two judges who are unqualifiedly in support of this recent extension of the injunction power are Judge Peter S. Grosscup of the United States circuit court of Chicago and Judge Richard S. Tutthill, also of that city. Judge Grosscup was already on record in the Debs case in 1894, and his views are simply in accord with his position then. He admits that the application of the power to strikes is new, but "new conditions," he says, "have risen to which 'the law has been applying old remedies, and some very bad ones, too, into hysterics 'over government by injunctions.' He declares that the use of the injunction, where the wrong threatened would otherwise be irreparable, is "not only within the power, but within the duty of the tribunals."

"The power is a great one, and woe to him who through mere love of 'power misuses it, but woe also to him 'who through mere fear refuses it.' Judge Tutthill admits that the power is a very great one and should not be misused, but he is unaware that there has been any abuse of the power, and [Continued on third page.]
