Pacific Coast Opinion.

San Francisco News Letter:

President McKinley's first annual message to congress is not in accord with the tone of his party organs in the press, nor with the utterances of the jingo leaders of either party. These self-appointed leaders of public opinion would do well to make a study of the of the president's message and try to imbibe its business like and peaceable spirit. By all means let them push on measures intended to promote peace, progress and prosperity, and make this "a business session," as has all along been promised. The president points the way in as simple and as straightforward a document as was ever addressed to the law-makers of the nation. It is for seizing every commercial advantage, and for eschewing every opening for international misunderstandings. He has known war, has been part of it, and comprehends its dangers, its awful carnage, its unsatisfactory settlement of disputes and its cost in blood and treasure. He is therefore not for war, nor for talk rendering it imminent. There is not a warlike phrase in all of his too wordy message. In not a line does he encourage the jingoism of too many of his friends. He is as far apart from the young war lord from Massachusetts, Senator Lodge, and from his assistant secretary of war, Roosevelt, as are the two poles of the earth asunder.

The trend of his mind is plainly seen. It moves in one direction with a steadfastness worthy of all admiration. He is for trade and commerce: for manufactures and production, for sound finances, reciprocity, and the extension of our trade relations all around the world. These are eminently practical affairs, that never stood in such need of being persistently pursued as now. Fortunate then is it, that we have at the head of the nation a simple honest man who sees his duty so clearly. The President is apparently pleased with the industrial improvement that has come over the country, is happy with his own part therein, and is at peace with himself and all the world.

Examiner: There is no better field in the United States for a new gas company than in San Francisco. The householders in this city are supplied with an inferior quality of gas, for which they are charged an exorbitant price. The companies that have a monopoly of the business collect $1.75 a thousand feet for the gas supplied, and the average householder is confident that they also collect for gas that they do not supply. The gas that goes through the burners is low in light-giving power, and is so greatly diluted with poisonous water gas that is highly dangerous to human life. It is responsible for scores of deaths every year. The unsatisfactory condition of the gas supply is made more irksome to the consumers by the incivility with which the company thinks itself privileged to treat the people who buy gas from it.

Spokane Spokesman Review: It has been said that Seattle's capture of the Klondike trade was a stroke of happy luck. It was not. For half a score of years Seattle has been on the outlook for the Alaskan trade. Its merchants had studied north country and in a modest way had established connections with the north. When the Klondike gold discoveries were made, the news came to Seattle. When returning Klondikers brought out their loads of gold, they went direct to Seattle, because Seattle had direct steamer connections with the Alaskan ports. Seattle has earned her Klondike luck, just as Spokane has earned the prosperity which has come to it from the developments of the Kootenai district in British Columbia.

Tacoma News: The great strike of the engineers in England, so long protracted, has apparently become a struggle of the trade unions for existence. It has been their custom to rally to one another's aid. This has been met at last by a combination of various classes of employers. The result is a contest that is very injurious to both sides. The employers are losing both money and business. The men are losing wages and eating up rapidly the union funds and the sums contributed. Both appear determined to fight it out, at whatever cost. If this desperate resolve continues the employers must win in the end. The men will be starved out and trade unionism in Britain will have received a crippling blow.

The employers' propositions admit the workmen's freedom to join unions, but do not promise not to give preference to non-unionists. They claim liberty to put men on piece work to work at machines, to learn new methods. They refuse to guarantee a standard rate to all workmen. They agree to pay the current rate to efficient men, but they are to judge of efficiency, and they may employ non-efficients at lower wages. They will employ as many apprentices as they please.

Tacoma Ledger, (Gold Rep.)—The difficulty with most people in understanding the money situation comes from the fact that they regard paper money as money, whereas it is not money. A paper note is simply a bill of exchange, payable to bearer. It is good for money somewhere if presented. The report of the comptroller of the currency for last year showed that the banks of this country have in circulation $4,000,000,000 of credit paper. A large part of this paper differs only from paper money in that it is payable at a certain time and place, and to a certain individual. It all performs the use of money, and performs it better than any kind of money, even gold itself, could possibly do. The government can issue no credits in this form. The banks must do it. They therefore keep in use, even in as dull times as the year 1896, paper of more than twice the value of all the money in circulation in the country. Only a small fraction of this is represented by the paper money they issue.

Such items as this makes one feel ashamed for the ignoramus who penned it: It is reported on good authority that Ira Campbell, editor of the Eugene Guard, recently sent a gold bearing note to one of his patrons of this precinct, requesting him to sign the same and return, in payment for over-due subscription. The subscriber returned the note, without his signature, stating that he owed him the amount of the note, but that he had been a careful reader of his paper and had been converted to free silver and had conscientious scruples against signing a gold note, but would call and settle when convenient. He still receives the paper.—Correspondent Eugene Register.

Of course Editor Campbell does (or at least ought to) make all his notes for delinquent subscription is payable in gold. With the country practically on a gold basis any man who would draw a note in favor of himself payable in silver or anything but gold would be a fool. The man who would not make his note payable in gold would be a hero, tis true, but he, like the immortal John Brown and others would be called crazy. The law of nature is that every man should do the best for himself under existing circumstances. The gold men have placed a premium upon gold and until the laws are changed the sensible man will not only make his notes payable in gold but will put his property in gold—will get all the gold he can. It is the yellow metal which will enhance in value. A well known young man in Salem who is an ardent silver man says that so long as the gold standard is the standard of this nation he will buy no property, will own nothing but gold or gold notes and says he would not have a note payable in anything else but gold.

He says that he fervently believes it would be better for the great majority of the people if bimetallism were established but he cannot see how it would benefit the cause or the people generally for him to try to conduct business upon a basis different from that adopted by the nation under which he lives. Would his sacrificing his entire fortune to the gold owner's help the people generally one iota? Are not the gold men extremely selfish in asking that the silver men present themselves a living sacrifice to the greed of the gold men and in asking them to throw away all their property in order to carry out a scheme of money which they think is correct but which is not authorized by the laws of our nation? Of all the arguments advanced by the gold side it really seems that this selfish one of asking every silver man to present himself a living sacrifice at the gold standard alter is the most puerile.

VAN WYCK FOR BRYAN

Voted for Him and for Him at Present.

OPEN LETTER TO MR. SCOTT

From a Washington Man Able to Defend Himself.

A citizen of the state of Washington addresses Harvey Scott, of the Oregonian, an open letter in this issue which he has a perfect right to do from the standpoint of principle. Mr. Seaborg employs plain English, and is prepared to defend his assertions with the authorities he cites. The Tammany organization not only endorsed the National Democratic platform, but declared for municipal ownership of public franchises in its city campaign this year.

While Robert A. Van Wyck, if left to express his own private opinion might not be for free coinage, as a political factor he is a member of the national organization which boldly declared itself on the side of the producing classes and opposed to the trusts that are oppressing them,

Mr. Bryan as the leader of the people's Democracy undoubtedly had and has now and will have the support and backing of the Tammany organization. The declaration of that party now in control of Greater New York and in possession of the keys to national politics, in favor of municipal ownership, would seem to place Van Wyck and his administration in sympathy with the Bryan Democracy.

MR. SEABORG'S OPEN LETTER.

ILWACO, Wash., Dec. 10, 1897.

Editor Oregonian:

SIR:—Editorially, November 4, you state that Judge Robert A. Van Wyck, mayor-elect of Greater New York city, is a gold standard man.

And the Seattle Weekly Post-Intelligence of November 18, editorially echos it as follows: "But Van Wyck is known as a gold standard man." (Perhaps among the misinformed, and misinformation is the support and defense of gold standardism.)

You both editorially with "Weylerian, vision discern something of a gold victory in the election of Van Wyck.

On the nomination of Judge Van Wyck the New York World, with gold standard arrogancy, stated that he was a gold standard man, to which he at once replied in a published interview:

"That the man who wrote it knew it to be false, that he was heart and soul for the Chicago platform."

On October 7 the city convention of Gold Democrats endorsed Seth Low, not Van Wyck, which fact alone should prove that Van Wyck was not a Gold Democrat.

From the commencement of Van Wyck's candidacy the fact that he was a supporter of Bryan was published in Journals and magazines. Still after election you dared to publish your false editorial of November 4.

The Literary Digest, of October 9, published by Funk & Wagnalls, of dictionary fame, stated that: "The regular Democratic city convention nominated Robert A. Van Wyck for mayor. He declares that he voted the regular Bryan ticket last fall."

The Chautauquan for November states that "Tammany Democrats have a supporter of Mr. Bryan in Judge Van Wyck, their candidate for mayor.

And the Review of Reviews of December, page 952 re-affirm this fact.

Most likely you, with your bigoted, superficial knowlege on the question, and your utter disregard for truth and veracity will state, that Doctors, Funk, Flood and Shaw have published untruths.

It would be in keeping with your continuing policy of branding as "false" that which is "true" that which you know to be "false."

The following editorials of Gold-Standard Republican papers, discloses that they are not so grossely ignorant as yourself, or that they dare not, with such boldness, falsify the truth.

The New York Sun stated, "that the transfer of the state from the Republican column to the radicalism of Bryanism was effected solely by the Greater New York election. * * * It portends a united Bryanite Democrat party in 1900. * * * It means the unconditional surrender of the New York Democracy to Bryanism

Still you in your editorial of No. vember 4, stated that "the silver sentiment, or vote of the city of New York is but a trifling factor."

And the P. I. in its editorial of November 18, echoes the same sentiment

I believe the Sun knows more about the situation than you do. Read its editorial over again.

The Chicago-Inter-Ocean stated: "Bryan may or may not be nominated again, but Bryanism is supreme. * * Gold Democracy is in the sewer, silver Democracy is on top."

The New York Tribune stated: "The conditions usual in an off year have given the free-silver crowd much encouragement."

You also state in same editorial: "Tammany voted down a proposal to declare for free-coinage of silver"

In this you are as usual either ignorantly or maliciously mistaken. Tammany endorsed free silver at Buffalo in 1896 and since that time has taken no action pro or con.

The November Chautauquan states, that the Tammany convention was silent on national questions, and the Review of Reviews states, "that Tammany ignored the Chicago platform," and such are the only statements truthful person can make.

City conventions do not make or unmake national platforms, and the "Chicago platform, and its free silver plank was not omitted this year in the New York election, but had its fullest and freest expression in the emphatic declarations of Democratic candidates, both Van Wyck and Parker, that they had "supported Mr. Bryan last fall."

Bearing on the point the December Review of Reviews states, that after Mr. George's death, "a great many plain Democrats, voters of Bryan affiliations, promptly decided that Tammany, after all was the only remaining Democratic standard, and to that standard they flocked. This was made the easier for them by the fact that Judge Van Wyck supported Mr Bryan last year."

But you dare maintain that the silver vote was trifling in New York. When against the opposition of the regular gold Democrats and Republicans, Judge Van Wyck received nearly one half of all the votes cast for the 7 candidates running for mayor, 2 of whom were Democrats also, Gleason and George, and this immense vote without the support of hardly any of the leading papers of that city?

By the way you did not give Judge Van Wyck as long an editorial as you did Mayor Taggart, but you crowded as many falsehoods and misrepresentations as it was possible in that amount of space.

Is that "Indiana Man" also responsible for this false editorial?

It is stated that his satanic majesty is the prince of falsifiers. What commission do you hold in his service? It must be some, as your editorials about Mayor Taggart and Judge Van Wyck (to say nothing about other deceiving ones,) fairly display your skill and perfection in falsification.

Most humbly your servant,

JNO. WALTER SEABORG.
