Everybody fears the army. Some of the people who suffered by the riot endeayor to excuse it. The officers were ostensibly avenging reflections made by the autonomist newspapers on the army. But in their attacks on La Discussion they struck a blow at autonomy as well as at an autonomy as well as at an autonomy newspaper.

From what the police have been able to learn, the crime seems to have been one of the most horrible character, and if all its details are true it stamps young Henderson as a degenerate of the worst type. He does not seem to realize the enormity of his crime. After his arrest he admitted a knowledge of the knife-thrust, but said it was due to the child accidentally running against an open knife.

A fact that has come out in connection with Henderson's crime is that his father, John D. Henderson was on trial in October, 1892, charged with killing a man named Nason. The killing was the outcome of a quarrel. Henderson was arraigned and pleaded guilty to manslaughter. He was remanded for sentence, but later it was shown that the death was largely accidental, and there was no murderous intent. More Rioting Means an End to Spanish Rule,

New York, Jan 18.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Havana says: The perpetuation of Spanish power in Cuba now depends on Blanco's ability to maintain order in Havana Until the government shows itself master of that city, no other question can be considered. Ministry opera-tions against the insurgents are forgotten. Progress with autonomy is a figment. The turmoil seems ended a figment. The turmoil seems ended for the present. The presence of 5000 or 6000 regular troops give promise that the calm will last long enough for a review of the prospect. A single week has given Havana a more vivid idea of what war is than all the events of three years of insurrection. The tact and forbearance with which the officers carried out their orders has brought the government temporarily through the crisis. When

Dr. Morton, the coronor's physician who examined the thrust above the heart, said that it caused the death of the boy. The police searched for the body during all of last night, and it was not until after daylight that it was found. Henderson will be given a hearing tomorrow.
