WOOLEN MILLS FLOURISH.

While there is paralysis in the cot been advancing. A Salem merchant says before the present year is over all woolen dress goods will advance thirty per cent. It is not certain that wages in woolen mills or the value of stock will ad-vance because only a long period of prosperity affects those things. But it may flourish until the wages of employes may be raised. We believe in in prosperity for manufacturer, stock and wage-earner on equal

IMPROVING (?) THE PARK.

We have begun to improve the park. God save the mark! A breaking plow has been run through Wilson ayenue. It is, or was, ten acres of natural turf lying between the Oregon state house and the Marion county court house in Salem city. In summer it was a trysting place for lovers and birds, a leafing place for people that the government has the sovereign constitutional power to make gold, sliver or paper legal tender money. We do not believe Mr. Ford agrees with Mr, Gage as to length of time we have had the gold standard, but that is a minor matter. The question now is, how can Republicans who have nitherto held birnetallic views adjust themselves to an organization and birds, a leafing place for people and birds, a loating place for people of leisure, a study room for tired uni yersity students, who nestled on the grass in the shade. It was a flower garden for city children, where could be gathered violets, camus and other lilies in their season, contstoot, dande lion, buttercups, wild roses, plants genet and flowering grasses. This loyely train of flowers from the matural turf are all turned under. The Scotch broom is scattered and will spread more rank than before. Weeds will ripen and blow their seeds all over the city. In the pond, on the lower many of the trees will die. The tennis ground, ball ground, cycle path, and lovers' walk are gone. We are to put down tile drain. We We are to put down tile drain. We are going to grade the whole park beautifully and put it above low water. We are going to put grayed drives and granite sand walks all through it. We are going to put cement walks all around it, and a curbing and plant it with ornamental shrubs and take out all that splendid variety of natural trees. All these things will be done and will give employment to laborers. For the present century however all improvements mentioned in this last paragraph will have to wait. We have began to improve. We have only got go so far as the breaking plow process. go so far as the breaking plow process It is true that was not necessary, and was about the last thing to do, done in good time.

Mr. Tilmon Ford is one of the most talented man in the Republican party. He is the peer of any lawyer in Oregon. He is a man of wealth and a big farmer. their frankness in avowing unequivically for the gold standard, the retirement of the greenbacks, silver certificates and treasury notes, the issuance of bonds therefor, the establishment of enough national banks to issue and lend the people all the money they can put up collaterals for. Besides the Gage policy goes far be-yond the financial platform on which McKinley was elected. That platform did not favor retirement of the green backs norfuther issue of gold bonds. It did not entirely renounce bimetallism as a principle. Mr. Gage goes so far as to declare that this country has been on the gold standard for sixty a printed circular that in the coming campaign in Oregon, they "do not ask nor expect the aid of persons of any political designation who may be bone, organ and selection of the coming to design the design that the coming the bone, organ and the company that the coming the control of the co

No Slates Are Wanted

Self-Seeking Candidates Are Sevely Criticised

By Editor Horace Mann in the Cottage Grove Messenger.

In the ensuing campaign in this state the people are to have a chance through the primaries and nomination conventions to express their wishes as to principles, policies and candidates. In the discharge of the duty of citizenship the people ought not to be embarrassed or harrassed by "slates" guttor up by applicance and "slates" gotton up by ambit'ous and mercenary men, who regard, under present conditions, a nomination equivalent to an election. The suc-cess of the Silver Reform forces does n t depend upon machine methods, but upon intelligent and patriotic actions in selecting the best and ablest men as condicates, taking into consideration their fitness, integrity and popularity with the people. He must have them if he would bear the strain of business competition and be successful.
