MONTANA AND DAKOTA TROOPS.

Are Enthusiastically Greeted at Salem—Local Military Matters

The two battalions of North Dakota volunteers were enthusiastically received at Salem Sunday and the reception tendered the battalion of Montana troops this morning was none the less cordial. From the fact that it was not definitely known at what hour the troops would arrive here, the crowd at the depot was not so large as it would have been, had due announcement been made before. But nevertheless several hundred of Salem's citizens were at the depot to cheer the boys on their way.

The first section consisting of twelve cars and carrying the first battalion, North Dakota volunteers, numbering in all 400 men, reached Salem at 2:30 p. m., passing the Roseburg mail here. At the depot a stop of several minutes was made during which lunches and innumerable bouquets of choice flowers were given the boys who expressed their appreciation for the same and especially the flowers.

The troops were incidentally reminded that Oregon was noted for its "big red apples and handsome girls" and before the departure of the train the 400 men gave three rousing cheers for Oregon's happy combination. The "handsome girls" were strongly in evidence at the depot.

It was 9:30 o'clock in the evening when the second section of 10 cars transporting the second battalion of volunteers from the same state, reached Salem and notwithstanding the fact that a drenching rain was falling, the boys were given such a grand reception and send-off they will never forget. Though the supply of lunches had been exhausted hundreds of bouquets were presented the boys and the train departed amid a burst of enthusiasm.

All of the ladies of the Capital city are urged to attend a meeting at the W. C. T. U. rooms on Court street, at 2 p. m. Tuesday, when a local "emergency corps" will be organized. It is hoped there may be a large attendance.

Captain D. C. Minto and associate officers today tendered their services and those of their men to the government through Adjutant General B. Tuttle. Major J. C. Rutenick and the probable officers of a volunteer company soon to be organized by himself, have also made a formal tender of their services to Adjutant General Tuttle.

SOCIETY NOTE BOOK.

The College of Music of Willamette University under the direction of Prof. R. A. Heritage will close a successful year's work by a series of five delightful entertainments.

On Tuesday evening, May 31, will occur the closing recital of the teachers' certificate class, consisting of Misses Bessie Butler, Nannie Malvin, Anna D. Atwood, Edna Bunn and Jessie Munkers in Piano, and Miss Mollie Dohse, and Messrs Douglas Holt, J. Fred Emmett in voice.

On Wednesday evening, June 8, the graduating class in voice, consisting of Miss Anna D. Atwood, Miss Juanita Laufman, and Miss Etta M. French will give their closing recital. The evening's program will consist not only of delightful vocalizations by these young ladies, but it will be rendered doubly enjoyable by solos or duets on piano, flute, violin and cornet, by some of our best local and foreign talent.

On Friday evening, June 3, will be given the ballad cantata "No Song, No Supper," by music pupils from Chemawa, and on Tuesday evening, June 7, the rustic cantata, "Katie Dean," will be given by Director R. A. Heritage, Miss Ella Rineman, Mrs. Rose Babcock, Mrs. Esther McNary and Messrs. J. P. Emmett, H. H. Heritage and W. P. Babcock. Admission to all of these entertainments will be free, except the cantatas, to which a small charge will be made for expenses. Reserved seats for all five entertainments may now be had at Dearborn's book store.

Members of both classes will appear at the regular Commencement exercises of the college of music, Wednesday morning June 15 at the Methodist church. The occasion promises to be one of unusual interest. Lovers of music will no doubt show their appreciation of the efforts of the music pupils and their Director by full houses at all of these charming events.

MEMORIAL DAY AT SALEM

Is Fittingly Observed Here, Program for Tonight.

The First Congregational church was not sufficiently large to accommodate the immense throng that assembled Sunday morning to attend the annual memorial day services. The sermon was delivered by Rev. W. C. Kantner and it was an excellent one. The singing by the large choir under the leadership of Prof. W. S. Scobie, were of a patriotic nature and admirably rendered. A company of "Yew Park Zouaves" in command of Capt. W. P. Ross, attended the services and attracted not a little attention. The members of Sedgwick Post No. 10, G. A. R. and the W. R. C. attended the services in a body.

TODAY'S EXERCISES.

Memorial day dawned cloudy and several showers fell during the forenoon but in the afternoon it was pleasant to be out, although the streets were quite muddy. Throughout the forenoon the street cars were taxed to accommodate the large number of citizens who visited the several cemeteries, bearing beautiful floral pieces with which to decorate the grave of a departed relative or friend.

The cemeteries never looked better than this year. The tall grass has all been mown and the cities of the dead have been placed in splendid condition, for which the sextons are deserving of much praise. The grave decorations this year equalled if not surpassed those of previous years. There is a great abundance of flowers this year and they are being liberally used.

The I. O. O. F. cemetery is in splendid shape and gives evidence of much hard work. Sunday several members of Central Lodge No. 18, K. of P., visited Rural cemetery and decorated the graves of the deceased members of their order buried there. Not only were the graves of the members decorated but also those of their families. Some of them had been long neglected. The graves were practically covered with flowers, a number of the floral pieces being symbolic of the order represented by the decorators. In keeping with the patriotic spirit of the order, a small flag was placed on each of the graves.

All state, county and municipal offices were closed today and no business whatever was transacted. Business men closed their places of business from 12 m. to 5 p. m. and all honored the dead.

THE PROCESSION

was led by the Second Regiment band of fourteen pieces. Then came the Yew Park Zouaves, followed by Sedgwick Post G. A. R. about one hundred strong. The Woman's Relief corps followed and took two cars chartered for their benefit.

Chemawa Indian school band and about two hundred students brought up the rear followed by a concourse of carriages and, both sidewalks filled with citizens a foot.

Memorial exercises will be held in the First Methodist church beginning at 8 p. m. this evening. The oration will be delivered by Rev. D. C. Barrett of Portland. The program will consist of drills, music by the Cardinal quartette and recitations.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has dissolved partnership. It is not yet settled which will succeed in the business, as Old Bill wants Anderson to pay the bill and Anderson wants Old Bill to pay them. The place is closed over Memorial day to settle the matter. Both are determined to have the place open tomorrow in the best shape.

A Price On His Head.

ST. THOMAS, D. W. I., May 30.—Mr. Emersohn, a German subject, traveling as the correspondent of a German newspaper, left St. Thomas Monday last, May 23 for Santa Cruz.

Wednesday, the 25th, he left Santa Cruz for Porto Rico. It is supposed the object of the trip was to observe conditions which some claim have been misrepresented by American journalists. It is learned that Thursday Mr. Emersohn was arrested at Cayaguas, Porto Rico, but subsequently escaped whereupon the alcalde of Cayaguas declared him a spy and placed a price on his head. According to the same advice the German consul is powerless to interfere. Unless the German authorities act promptly, Mr. Emersohn may be shot on sight.

It is HERE.—J. Silverstone, representing the Schiltz Brewing Co. at Portland, is in the city today, having just established an agency here for his famous beer. Robt. Mantell Co.

This is the time of romantic plays, and the public delight in those bold, dashing characters that swing through the historical stories of a century or two ago. Robt. B. Mantell, upon whom has fallen the mantle of Fechter and Wallace, has kept in the field of romance without intermission since the days in which he electrified America by his Loris Ipanoff, in "Fedora." Since that time he has been the great English exponent of French romance. There is a Gallic magnetism about him that lends a peculiar charm to such parts, and he is recognized today as the one man that can present them with full force and delicacy. His new play for this season is "A Secret Warrant," by W. A. Tremayne. This will be seen at the opera house, Wednesday night.

The author has taken that period of French history when a courtesan ruled the people and it was death to throw back the handkerchief she cast at the feet of one she favored. Mr. Mantell, as a captain of the king's guards, is selected by the regent's mistress for her dangerous fancy, and when the captain has another love, and scorns her, she pursues a letter de cachet, and pursues him as relentlessly in her hate as she had before with her affection. Mr. Mantell is an ideal soldier, and his enjoyment of the character can be discerned in every movement and every accent. He carries himself safely through many deadly perils at the point of his sword, and always with a superb manliness that stamps him as a hero.

ONLY ONE GIRL.—In the world for the average fellow. The same may be said of the cigar. The great majority of smokers will have none other than the 10 cent La Corona.

A little boy asked for a bottle of "get up in the morning as fast as you can," the druggist recognized the household name for "De Witt's Little Early Rise," and gave him a bottle of the little pills for constipation, "tickles the liver and stomach troubles, a man's drug store."

Late to bed and early to rise prepares a man for his home in the skies. Early to bed and a little Early Rise, the pill that makes life longer and better and wiser. Stone Drug Store.
