Originality in Printing

Do you want to buy it, or the imitation? There is shoddy in printing as well as in clothing, and its user is subject to keen criticism. A business man travels within a limited sphere—but his printed matter goes broadcast where his personality can not soften adverse impressions. The kind of printing we do creates no unfavorable impressions. Try us with the next lot of bill heads or envelopes. CONOVER, the Printer at Dearborn's Bookstore.

THE M. W. OF A. The entertainment given last Monday evening was a success so far as entertainment was concerned. About one hundred invited guests were present. The good of Woodcraft was set forth by Mr. Murphy, of Kansas, and was presented in so forcible a manner that all could plainly see the advantages the M. W. of A. has over other orders, and which accounts for its unprecedented growth in the past. He plainly stated in a business like way the advantages the Modern Woodmen of America have over all other orders. He explained how this order has grown 50,000 the past year and will in the coming year gain nearly double that if it continues to grow as at present. After listening to some good music by the orchestra, the entire company went to the banquet hall and partook of refreshments, which were pronounced No. 1 by all. A special hour.
