SOME LIVELY WAR TALK.

Opinions advanced by Our Exchanges.

The course of the opposition papers, hunting some complaint against the administration in the conduct of the war, would be highly amusing, if it were not for the element of a treasonable design to give aid and comfort to the enemy...

In a recent article on education for women, Helen Watterston Moody says: "ten women shut in together will worry one hundred times as much as ten men shut in together..."

A speaker in a Democratic state convention struck the keynote which all citizens should go by in these days when our men on land and sea are keeping the flag proudly aloft...

The London Times gravely concludes that Admiral Dewey "has played a difficult game with conspicuous ability." That is singular...

BADLY POISONED

Much Suffering Experienced and Alleviated. DAYB CREEK, ORE.—"I was badly poisoned with poison oak last summer. I could not get rid of it, until I took bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla to me. I have found Hood's to be the best blood purifying agent ever tried. It gives me the pure blood."

WOMAN QUESTIONS.

[Discussed by the Philistine magazine, of East Aurora, New York.] Don't starve your soul and body lying in wait for social honors—they may never come—and if they do are not comparable in value to peace of mind.

Dialogue between two women counting home from their club: "My! but wasn't he deep, tho? "Yes, but he makes you think awfully—but—but do you understand him?" "Why, no, but let's never let on!"

The only thing that will ever remove that artificial idea that one kind of baptism is right and another wrong is social affinity. Women's Clubs are everywhere breaking down sectarian lines and lessening faith in "justification" and "original sin" simply because Presbyterian women find that Unitarian women are companionable...

In a recent article on education for women, Helen Watterston Moody says: "ten women shut in together will worry one hundred times as much as ten men shut in together..."

RELIGION AND HUMANITY.

[Edwert Hubbard in Philistine Magazine for August.] Write in your mind the dead and living in one fairy company, and altho you detect varying degrees of eccelence, for none do you hold contempt, of none are you jealous—none do you envy...

The old church is near the parting of the ways. In the trials that may be close at hand it will, I think, and it will cast aside local domination and be in truth a church universal, recognizing a real representation of national churches in all its councils...

I have called Claude Tiller one of the saints of humanity. Let me add a word to prove that the characterization is neither forced nor unworthy. A German traveler says of him truly that "usefulness was his virtue and human dignity his religion."

BEECHAM'S PILLS. Annual Sales over 6,000,000 Doses. FOR RELIGIOUS AND NERVOUS DISORDERS such as Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Giddiness, Fulness after meals, Headache, Dizziness, Drowsiness, Flushing of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Constipation, Roughness on the Skin, Cold Chills, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations.

PHILOSOPHIC PARAGRAPHS.

[Compiled for THE JOURNAL from the Philistine magazine, published at East Aurora, New York for the American Society of Philistines.] A fad which gives joy without headache, peace without stapor, and friends who are not rivals, is worth cultivating.

John P. Woodbury, of Boston, has lived his three score and ten, but his eye is as bright as a boy's, his complexion as fair as a baby's, and he carries with him the perfume of the morning and the liveliness of youth.

Life in this world is a collecting, and all the men and women in it are collectors. The only question is, what will you collect? Most men are intent on collecting dollars. Their waking hours are taken up with inventing plans, methods, and schemes whereby they may secure dollars from other men...

The shiftless man is always unfortunate. The world often mistakes training for talent. Willingness is an awful good substitute for skill.

When poor people call upon the Buffalo Organized Charity Association for assistance, the secretary has the inspector investigate the case and if found worthy the applicant is given an order on the American News company for a copy of "What to Eat."

The East Aurora Hook & Eye Baptists as yet have no meeting house of their own, holding services every Sunday at the residence of some member, but I have offered to deed them a lot and lead their subscription list if they will build a church; and we hope soon to have the denomination on a good financial footing.

I am fully persuaded that our best-selling sin, as a people, is neither intemperance nor uncharity, but, plain dishonesty. We are not frank and honest with ourselves nor with each other. The disposition to cheapen and adulterate—and get the start of our fellows is the universal habit of commerce and society.

At a swell and crush affair in Buffalo a short time ago the cake was being passed by Arlio's dusky sons. A certain sweet young lady, deeply engaged in conversation with a nice young man, glancing over the plate said, "I like the chocolate best—oh, yes, here's a piece!" But somehow it failed to cure. She wriggled it slightly—it surely was stuck—she wriggled it again. And then Eph said, "Beg your pardon, Miss, but dat's my thumb!"

Here is a little story that will interest those who are deep in child-study: Jimmy-boy, aged five, had been particularly noisy. The nurse duly reported the act to the boy's mother, part of whose theory was never to scold or reprove, but allow conscience to strike in and remorse and repentance to follow in due course.

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

Catarrh is one of the most obstinate diseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of. There is but one way to cure it, the disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhaled mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it.

Mr. B. P. MacAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes: "I could see no improvement whatever, though I was constantly treated with sprays, douches, washes, and inhaled remedies until I reached the surface, and each winter I was worse than the year previous."

Finally it was decided to try S. S. S., and after a few bottles were used, I noticed a perceptible improvement. Continuing the remedy, the disease was forced out of my system. I advise all who have this dreadful disease to abandon their local treatment and take S. S. S., a remedy that can reach the disease and cure it.

S. S. S. The Blood. Purely Vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no dangerous mineral. Books mailed free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

HUMOR NOT FOUND ELSEWHERE. [Compiled from the Philistine Magazine, published monthly by Elbert Hubbard, East Aurora, N. Y., for members of the ancient order of Philistines.] P. S.—In the matter of advice giving, it is far easier to continue when one is fairly under way than to stop.

Evolutionary material from the modern all-around British story the echo must have for its hero the titled gentleman, stern, haughty, and vain of family, wealth and honor; for its heroine either the moss-rose cheeked, blue-violet eyed daughter of a lodger-keeper, or the pretty, artless scion of a tradesman's obscure house, with the proper number of fox-hunting squires, dowager duchesses, and high-bred Lady Cecelias thrown in for ballast.

NOTES ON EDUCATION.

[By Albert Hubbard, Publisher of the Philistine Magazine.]

Boys educated at Classical schools, or by private tutors and in boarding schools, like children brought up in charitable institutions, are woefully handicapped in life's race. They are helpless as convicts thrust into the world after a long incarceration. The curriculum of dead languages, instead of science and the useful arts belongs to the Dark Ages.

Had I a thousand sons I'd never send them to Latin and Greek six years and four at college. The chances are they would be as tender and helpless as crayfish that have just sloughed their claws. All they could do would be to squander the money I am now piling up by publishing the Philistine.

The subject of travel there is one remark that is heard in America very often; and the man who makes it always prides himself on having said something very bright. Here is the most covered remark: Before I see Europe I want to see all of my own country. It sounds patriotic and fine doesn't it? But the man who remarks this remark has been cheated out of his trip to Europe, and his remark is only our grapes; but the people who listen often believe it wise.

Effectually yet gently, when constive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently overcome habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds, or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

How A Cooper Had a Rotten Bone Healed After 35 Years. CINCINNATI, Wash., April 9, 1898. Dr. J. E. Cook, Salem, Or: I received your letter and was glad to hear from you. You want to know how my leg is getting along. It is all right; the flesh is growing out over the shin bone and is turning white. It is not straight yet, but I think it will be as straight as the other leg when warm weather comes on. I can walk most of the time. The other doctors told me I could never be cured without amputing it and scraping the bone, but they are mistaken. It is getting well without cutting or scraping, so they do not know as much as they thought they did, but you are all right, for you have done just what you said you could do. I will answer any questions you ask about my leg. Very truly yours, A. COOPER.

Dr. Cook's office is at 301 Liberty Street, Salem. Extremely Weak

Deficient Blood Causes Loss of Appetite and Final Break Down—Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures. "I lost my appetite and about all I lived on was weak lemonade. My strength was all gone. I was so weak I could hardly cross the floor. At last I was taken very sick. One physician told me my medicine but it did not help me. I had pretty much lost all faith in medicines, but thought I would get one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and try it. After taking that bottle I was much better, and so I took two more bottles and after taking those I was all right and I wish all my suffering sisters would try it." MRS. A. EVANS, Wedderburn, Oregon.
