CURRENT EVENTS.

Emperor William's departure for the Holy Land has started a discussion as to the advisability of the establishment of a regency. The Freisinnige Zeitung says:

"When the emperor and king of Prussia leaves the country for any length of time, as in the present instance, a duly empowered person ought, in the meanwhile, to seize the reins of government."

It urges that the matter be brought before the Reichstag. A number of the leading liberal papers support the regency proposition, while several of the conservative papers scout this view. The constitution of the empire does not appear to provide for a regency. The presidency of the German Bund is vested in the king of Prussia, but nothing is said to legalize the transfer of this dignity to a regent of Prussia. In the meanwhile the emperor's brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, who would naturally be present is absent in China. The next person available would be Prince Frederick Leopold, son of the late Prince Charles of Prussia, eldest brother of Emperor William I, the grandfather of the present emperor.

The whole matter of the emperor's trip to the Holy Land will be thrashed over in the coming session of the Reichstag. In government circles the expression is heard that it is not fair to expect the emperor to bear the entire expense of the journey. It is said that the cost of his majesty's trip, exclusive of presents and liberal backshews, will amount to at least 5,000,000 marks. The costly gifts to the sultan of Turkey and to his harem, etc., also figure up from 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 marks. Therefore, it is suggested, as the voyage is expected to redound to Germany's greater glory and advantage, that parliament ought to grant a credit to cover the main expenses, more especially so as otherwise the emperor will have to run into debt. The conservatives answered the government's approaches favorably, but the centrists have replied with a flat negative.

The inadequate meat supply of Germany, owing to the barriers erected against foreign cattle, hogs and meat, continues. From Austria solely some 8000 head of cattle have been admitted and Russia supplied about 80,000 pigs. The imports are quite insufficient to cope with the requirements which the home supply fails to meet. Prices have risen steadily for months past, and they are now 20 per cent above those of 1897. The slaughtering of horses for food has greatly increased, especially in the large cities, and dog flesh is openly advertised. In the Chemnitz Nachrichten, "fat young dogs" form a standing advertisement.

The evacuation of Fashoda in Egypt by the French must take place if war between Great Britain and France is to be averted, as the Marquis of Salisbury has notified his colors to the mast and cannot recede from the position he has taken up, and in which he received the unanimous support of the country.

The speaker, the organ of the liberal party, refers plainly this week to the impossibility of relinquishing the British claims, and points out that, if it comes to war, it will not be merely for Fashoda, but for the maintenance of Great Britain's place in the world, plus her undoubted rights. The speaker adds:

"If we abandoned our claims, Englishmen would not only lose the respect of others, but would lose their own self-respect, and English statesmanship would be dragged in the mire."

These emphatic declarations of the English press and public men have already had a certain influence across the channel, and the inspired statements of the French press hostile to the importance of Fashoda and shift the ground to an undefined claim upon the province of Bah-el-Ghazal and a part on the Nile.

Sir Lepel Henry Griffin, a well-known writer on Indian subjects, addressed a meeting this week in England, on the subject of the suggested Anglo-American union. He said Colonel Hay, the former United States ambassador at London, wrote to him on leaving England, saying:

"I sometimes think that the only advantage we Yankees possess over you is that we have two native countries, while you have only one."

Colonel Hay appears also to have given his opinion of the suggested Washington memorial in England, expressing approval of the scheme, which he regarded as being in the highest degree magnanimous. He remarked that it was the first time any country had erected a memorial to the man who had beaten its people in arms, adding that the subscriptions must come exclusively from Englishmen, as, naturally, citizens of the United States could not participate in any way.

churchmen. In a series of charges to the clergy, delivered this week, the primate spoke in no uncertain voice. He caused a profound impression in high circles and deeply aggrieved the low church party.

The primate declared plainly that the doctrine of the real presence, as embodied practically in the doctrine of consubstantiation is permitted, though not expressly taught, by the church of England; that, although compulsory confession is absolutely illegal, voluntary confession is legal and no exorcism is justified in refusing to hear it, and he commended prayers for the dead, but forbade invocation of the saints or the virgin. He declared the elevation and the preservation of the sacrament and use of incense are not permissible, but he approved a certain revival of the ritual in conformity with the prescriptions of the prayer book.

Practically the primate sanctions all the doctrines and practices which the low churchmen have so vehemently condemned and the high churchmen are proportionately elated. Though they disagree with some points, most of the clergy will fall into line with the primate's charges or injunctions. Kenist, whose followers have been somewhat shaken by Truth's exposure of him, promises a demonstration in a thousand churches during the first Sunday in November.

In the Paris peace conference the Spanish commissioners have been urging the generally admitted principle, which imposes on conquerors the burdens belonging to the territory conquered either in their own behalf or that of their clients. They insist that it would be an extraordinary course to saddle Spain, already in so lamentable a financial position, with the Cuban debt while surrendering to the victor the security which it should be paid.

They remarked that if they had asked the United States for permission to raise interest out of the customs revenues, they would naturally have met with a refusal. How then, can they be asked to leave to the victor the pledge allowing payment of interest and yet retain the burden of the debt? They observed, however, that as Cuba is the key to the Gulf of Mexico, the United States will thus be able to pass the only barrier, which they had hitherto been unable to cross at will, and that is worth some sacrifice. Hence, the Spanish commissioners insist, in the name of recognized international law, that the debt should not rest solely on Spanish shoulders.

It is impossible to foretell the American reply, but it is not likely that Mr. Day and his colleagues will yield.

An idea is afloat—and said to be warmly advocated by the friends of peace and justice—that the interest should be reduced to 2 per cent, or even to 2 per cent, and jointly guaranteed by the Spanish and the future rulers of Cuba, each thus bearing only a very slight burden, and the bondholders being protected from loss on their investment. This last information does not emanate either Spaniards or Americans, but there is an intention of backing it so as to give it some chance of success.

MARION CIRCUIT COURT.

Entries Made in Department Number One.

In case of L. A. Lewis and A. L. Mills vs. H. P. McNary, W. T. and Geo. B. Gray, on motion at law, judgment for defendants.

State of Oregon vs. R. W. Witt indicted for having obscene writing in his possession, the jury returned a verdict of guilty. The defendant was also convicted of larceny from a dwelling, October 18, set for pronouncing sentence.

Through John Payne, counsel for plaintiff, suit of First Bank of Joseph vs. C. L. Humphries, an action for money was settled and dismissed.

The grand jury finished its investigations and have decided not to visit the state institutions as in the common custom. It is probable that no indictments will be returned against their regular indictment will be made.

Every thoughtful man whether he be an artist or a business man, a mechanic or a farmer, feels that he has a certain work to do in this world, and he wants to complete it. A brave man's principal fear is death because it compels him to leave his life-work unfinished. He fears sickness for the same reason. He feels that he might as well break his neck and done with, as to have his best working powers hampered and wasted away by disease.

To have the brain dulled and the body enfeebled by impure life-poisoned blood, is no better than a living death, with all its horrible accompaniments of dyspepsia, nervousness and melancholy.

The best thing in the world to restore clear-headed energetic vitality and working power is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It acts directly upon the liver and digestive organs, giving them power to manufacture rich, healthy blood free from all poisons and morbid impurities.

It fills the blood with the red life-giving elements which nourish every organ and build up the system, creating tissue with healthy flesh and solid muscular strength by feeding the brain and nerves with vital energy, it banishes neuralgia and nervous debility and sleeplessness.

It is better than salt extracts or oily emulsions. It is not a mere temporary stimulant but a genuine and lasting nutrient, easily assimilated by the weakest stomachs.

Each green box of Williamson's Callaway Co. No. 10, written "Before I commenced your treatment I could not take a drink of water without great suffering in my stomach. I could not eat. I was fast sinking. I had five different doctors and each one treated me with out doing me any good. At last I took four or five bottles of your Golden Medical Discovery, and my stomach suffered and I healed. Your medicine had saved this man. I would like to see you and advise these to write to you."

A JUST BILL.

Mr. Condon views THE JOURNAL editorial on the University appropriation through a false perspective:

"The fact is that Col. Hofer, who wrote that editorial, was before the ways and means committee to steer through a bill for $143 for supplying the sheet to the legislature of 1897, the holding up of which THE JOURNAL advocated, and that said bill was knocked out by such committee without a dissenting voice and only $28 allowed for copies supplied to the senate. This body blow at a robbery job so incensed Mr. Hofer that the foregoing editorial was inspired."

The person above referred to DID appear before the committee and DID ask that ALL the newspapers furnished to the holdup legislature, where bills were filed with the secretary of state should be paid for in full. The newspapers rendered a daily service and the claim is just. After working himself up over THE JOURNAL's editorial on the Eugene school, Mr. Condon admits the whole cheese and the general truth of all we said as follows:

"The truth is that the present management of the university is in such ill repute throughout the state that Lane county's representatives in the legislature would find it well nigh impossible to secure any great favor in legislation and the doctor's efforts should be highly appreciated."

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Gathered Friends Pay Tribute to the Memory of Two Worthwhile Pioneers.

A large congregation of acquaintances and friends congregated at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning to pay their last respects to the memory of Fabritus R. Smith, one of the church's most valiant defenders, and one of the members warmest friends.

After the opening lesson had been read from the scriptures, and the congregation had united in a hymn expressive of their sorrow at the loss of their departed friend, Dr. Parsons offered a prayer, strong in Christian sentiment praying that all might be led to see the beauty of the life just ended and to emulate the example of that old pioneer in Oregon's Christian development. Fabritus R. Smith.

The choir sang a beautiful anthem the spirit of which was in harmony with the exercises of the day.

Dr. Parsons then followed with the memorial address, outlining in clear and forceful manner the honor, the beauty and the usefulness of a life lived in direct touch with the church and its great leader Jesus Christ. He held Fabritus Smith up to the congregation as an example of a man who has done that, and cited his meek spirit, kindly disposition and the esteem and regard in which he was held wherever he was known.

After a closing hymn and the benediction had been said the audience dispersed deeply touched by the words that had been said and the evident veneration in which the departed Christian has been held.

The Y. M. C. A. gave a special memorial service at their four o'clock meeting yesterday in memory of Father P. H. Hatch, one of their firmest friends and most kindly helpers. F. A. Wiggins led the singing and a number of Father Hatch's most dearly loved hymns were sung; the old songs of his childhood and manhood, those he loved to hear the young men sing at the Sunday meetings which he always attended.

A few verses were read from 2 Timothy, 4th chapter, as expressing the sentiments of the old friend of the association and then the meeting was thrown open for expressions of remembrance by those who had known him. Many persons in the audience spoke words of praise, of kindly remembrance and of love for the departed pioneer in christian and civil life. One and all remembered the kindly smile, the brotherly grasp of his hand and the deep, sincere, christian piety that marked his daily life.

George Hatch, son of the deceased, by the request of Mr. Wiggins, gave a brief outline of his father's life. Rev. Hayes, of La Grande, was introduced to the audience and paid a glowing tribute to the memory of father Hatch and exhorted the young men to follow in his steps and profit by his example in fervid terms. His main thought was expressed in the sentence "study to show thyself approved of God," and he cited the life of Father Hatch, as an example of one who had persevered in that study and had triumphed.

From first to last the expressions of all bore evidence to the love and veneration of the entire community to the memory of that old pioneer of Oregon and her advancement by Father Hatch.
