THE STOVE WORKS CASE.

Some one has been terribly delinstate property and employed state prison labor to manufacture and sell stoves. What state official is respon-

The suits now brought to collect notes in the hands of the state treasurer indicate that upon that official devolved the duty of collecting that money. That he as state treasurer, or as a member of the state board charged with that duty, walted all these years and new brings suit against an insolvent company, is not good business for the state.

As a matter of fact, the whole conrespects, so far as protecting the public is concerned, is all of the same more than one thickness of cheese- corder's office: cloth would protect a sea-going battleship. THE JOURNAL makes no pretensions to the talents possessed by Mr. Roosevelt, but we do claim that we have consistently and persis ently advocated the adoption of the eleventh commandment as a part of the political code in Oregon public affairs. If Oregon had more public officials who would not only not steal themselves, but go a step farther and not help others to steal, taxes would not be half as high as they are.
