SALEM PEOPLE and OTHER PEOPLE

Readers at Salem and other Oregon towns are requested to send in items of personal and social news to appear in the Daily and Weekly Journal.

C. H. Burgraf was in Albany today.

J. D. McCully of Joseph, is visiting in the city.

H. Snook, the contractor, was a visitor in Albany today.

Watt Shipp is in the city, home from a visit at Prineville.

Hon. A. W. Crawford, the Roseburg attorney was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Geo. M. Irwin has returned from a visit with Portland friends.

Miss Ethel Calvert has returned from a visit with her sister Mrs. T. S. Kneeyes, of Portland.

Dr. Annie Jeffreys has returned from a holiday visit at Corvallis, Newport and Toledo.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gerhart have moved to San Jose, California, where they will reside in the future.

Just What She Hoped For.

My little girl had a very bad scrofula trouble. Sores appeared in her ears, and her eyes were also affected. I decided to have her begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before the first bottle was gone the sores were less painful and after the use of a few more bottles they were cured."

Mrs. Howard Pope, Alpha, Oregon.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c.

Children's Class.

On Saturday, the 7th day of January, at 10:30 a. m., Mrs. Willman will resume the elementary piano work at her studio over the First National bank. These lessons include technical and theoretical work, short biographies of noted musicians, and short programs by the pupils. The chief aim in this work is to have the pupil "think music" as well as to "read music." 25 cents per lesson each. At 2 p. m., same date, will occur the regular class practice by the larger pupils, and lecture readings by Mrs. Willman.

STAYTON.

Hugh Wilson, of Washington, is stopping in town with relatives.

Fred Jones, late of Southern Oregon, is visiting his sister, Mrs. F. R. Caspell.

Jos. Miller has purchased the half interest of Wm. Thomas in the Station Choir Co.

A. D. Gardner is somewhat broken down in health and unable to attend to his duties in business circles.

The Odd Fellows' hall is being remodeled. Some carpenter work and new paper will change the appearance.

Fred Rock will soon have his new store building completed where he will move his wares from the old building on Water street.

The Epworth League gave a library social at the residence of M. M. Balsey last Friday night. A good attendance and most pleasant time is reported.

Fair sized audiences listened to the addresses on Prohibition by Rev. Lane of Albany at the Methodist and Christian churches Wednesday and Thursday evening respectively, last week.

A. H. Smith and D. Gherkin returned from their mountain trip Tuesday, being compelled to abandon their work at the mines for the present on account of the deep snow.

The De Moss family is billed to appear at the M. E. church in this city January 11. This already popular company of musicians will no doubt attract a large audience if we are to judge by their record at other places.

A local society of the Anti-Saloon League has been organized here with a membership of 32. The meetings will be held weekly and joint debates will be a prominent feature on its weekly programs, wherein the advocate of both sides will be given a chance to show forth the merits of prohibition and anti-prohibition.

The supper served by the ladies of the M. E. church New Year's eve was well attended and taken advantage of in a manner reflecting much credit on the part of those who so daintily prepared it. After supper numerous games were played by the young folks until the midnight hour approached and the ringing of the bells ushered in the New Year.

Annual Election.

The Seventeenth and Chemeketa street Evangelical church held their regular annual election of officers in the classrooms after the preaching services last night. The result of the election was as follows:

C. T. Doty, was re-elected as trustee and also as class leader; exhorter, Major Dennis; organist, Miss Mabel Shupp; assistant organist, Miss Lena Royal.

An unanimous vote of thanks was given C. T. Doty for his services as Sunday school superintendent for the past two years and a half. Rev. N. Snupp acted as chairman of the evening.

Revival services are now being held at this church, which are growing in interest and the attendance and enthusiasm is growing. Good music is rendered at every meeting and all are invited to attend.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Cures the most stubborn coughs, colds and lung affections. Even incipient consumption has been successfully cured by this marvellous remedy. Sufferers will obtain relief after a few hours.

MANILA LETTER.

A Salem Boy Describes Life in the Philippine Islands.
(Written for the Capital Journal by Private Willard Learned, dated November 24, 1908.
Concluded From Wednesday.

All business closes up during the heat of the day from 11 till 3 o'clock, and every one lies down for a nap, or "siesta," as the Spaniards call it, and in the evening, if it is fair weather nearly every one goes out to the Lunetta for a walk or drive. The "Lunetta" is situated about half way between Malate and Old Manila, and it is a sort of park. It is oval in shape, and is about fifty yards wide, and a fourth of a mile long. In the center is a band stand, and our boys give concerts there two or three times a week, at those times the place is crowded with people. All along the entire length of the place, at convenient intervals, are marble seats, where one can sit down and dream of "home." It is close to the beach and the lights of Cavite can be seen from there, very plainly, and there is always a nice, cool refreshing sea breeze in the evening. It is the main pleasure resort of the city, and I am down there nearly every evening, weather permitting.

The natives of these islands are a small race of people, they have a reddish-brown skin, and a rather Mongolian cast of features; they are lazy and shiftless class as a whole, but there are some that are well educated and hold respectable positions in the banks, custom houses, and other places. They are nearly all more or less musical; but they play entirely by ear. The guitar is their main instrument, but they have several different kinds. The large string harp is used by many. The insurgents have a brass band, they can play several of the American airs now. They hear our bands play then imitate them. Their clothing is of various styles and material. The females wear a shirt of either cheap calico or gingham, and a waist made from the fibre of the pineapple leaves; it is very thin and resembles cheese cloth, but it is a much finer and durable goods. They wear trousers, made from any old thing from bamboo to soldiers' pants. They are generally nude from the waist up, but a jacket of white sheeting is worn to a great extent, especially among the better classes. They nearly all go barefooted and bareheaded; the younger children or "puckaninies," as the natives call them, don't wear clothes at all, but ran around the parental doors entirely nude. They don't begin to do clothing until about the age of 12. Both sexes smoke cigarettes from the cradle to the grave.

The mestizo women are the Creoles of this country. They are of native, Spanish and French blood, and as a rule, remarkably good looking and are very well dressed. Their skin is a sort of olive hue, as near as I can describe it. All the Spanish, natives and mestizos are devout Catholics, and they have some elegant churches. The church of San Ignacio inside the walled city, being the most beautiful and expensive of them all, it is a perfect gem of art, and is probably the most unique in the world. The interior is constructed entirely of the native timber, carved by master hands. The floor is a mosaic of different colored woods. Around the church are statues of Christ and the saints; all carved from wood and absolutely without a flaw. The rail of the high altar is adorned with wreaths of carved wood, and the delicacy of the work is something marvellous. Every petal of the flowers and every vein in the leaves, being faithfully copied. It took twelve years to complete the church, and all the work was done by natives, with native material, except the carving of the marble pillar bases, which were imported from Italy.

Another place of wonder to the American visitor, is El Pao Cemetery. There are two rings of masonry, some ten feet high and ten feet thick, in which are constructed niches, one above the other, three high, just large enough to admit a coffin, the corpse is placed inside the niche, which is then hermetically sealed with masonry, and the headstone or slab placed. For the use of this niche a rental of $35 is paid, which is good for five years, at the end of which time, unless the friends of the deceased wish to renew the lease, the niche is opened, and the remains, now nothing but bones, are removed and taken to their final resting-place. This is a large well or hollow in the wall, into which the skeletons are promiscuously dumped.

The inhabitants of Manila consume 150,000 packages of cigarettes daily and 200,000 cigars. Each cigarette package contains 20 cigarettes, so you can get a faint idea of the enormity of the manufacture of these articles alone. The main cigar factory here employs 10,000 natives to do its work from the raising of the tobacco until it is made into cigars.

Nalolos is the name of the city at other end of the railroad. It is 100 miles from here, and at present is Aguinaldo's headquarters. I have been unable to obtain any information regarding it, and I am anxious to go there and to get a view of the interior of the island.

Our quarters at Malate are fenced in by a stone wall four feet high and on top of that is a wooden picket fence four feet high, making an inclosure about two acres of land. At the east end of the enclosure are six buildings, each one is 40x150 feet, and are alongside of each other with a space of about thirty feet between the quarters inside, and running lengthwise, is a lattice work, it serves as the division between the two companies. The guards are set up on posts about three and one-half feet from the ground, thus giving free vent to the air underneath. At the west end of the enclosure, and running in opposite directions from the main guarders, are the buildings for the commissary, quartermaster, dispensary, guard house, and other necessary things, they are all roofed with corrugated, galvanized iron, and the tropical sun beats down on it, till it would fry eggs. In the rear of each one of the quarters is a wash room and shower-bath arrangements. The floor of the room is of concrete tiling. There is not any good arrangement for cooking purposes and all the Company cooks have a big tent and fly and do their cooking by camp fire. They have the improved Buzzcott Ovens, which enables to do baking to a certain extent, but it is not like a good range would be. There is some talk of building a kitchen and dining hall, but no headway has been made in that direction yet; I suppose we will have it in time provided we stay at these quarters.

There has been a rumor afloat that we were going to be transferred to another island, to do garrison duty, but I don't hardly think we will be moved. The steamers "Senator" and Valencia arrived here yesterday, all O. K. They brought a lot of mail to the men, and all mail is warmly welcomed by us. I assure you. Today is "Thanksgiving" and we are to have chicken, cranberry sauce, canned, and dried apple and peach pie, and washed potatoes. It will be a big treat for us. Christmas will be here soon, and all the regiments are preparing to remember their sick comrades to the hospital, on that day; we will make them as happy as we can. Many of the poor boys took sick soon after our arrival in Manila, the result of so much hardship and exposure, and they have not been out of the hospital yet, the poor fellows have had a dreary time of it, and we are going to endeavor to brighten things up for them a bit, on that day.

We have buried five men from Company C, and we have fifteen in the brigade hospitals. I have given up all hope of a discharge till spring. We are all heartily sick of this foreign land, and long to be back to the states again. The commissary and medical departments are doing their best, in their respective departments, to make it as pleasant as possible for us. We are getting some what acclimated, and don't feel the heat as much as we did on our first arrival here. We are all equipped with good suitable, light clothing, and and it is much more comfortable than the heavy, blue uniforms were.
