Just What She Hoped For.

My little girl had a very bad scrofula trouble. Sores appeared in her ears, and her eyes were also affected. I decided to have her begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before the first bottle was gone the sores were less painful and after the use of a few more bottles they were cured."

AROUND THE EVENING LAMP.

Far Western Reflections Upon the Newest Books and Periodicals.

The holiday number of the Overland Monthly has a report of the Oregon Emergency corps and the Red Cross work conducted from Portland. The literary features are thoroughly Pacific, coastly and rich with illustrations. There is the third paper on the work of California artists—Amedee Joullin, who has developed Indian and Chinese subjects. His drawing seems to be poweful and his colorwork must be excellent, as many of his pictures are owned by wealthy people of the Bay City. Rossiter Johnson's whispering gallery continues to be interesting and original. The Overland for 1899 promises 1000 pages of western writing and 500 pictures all for $1. Surely western people ought to help support so good a bargain. To say nothing of keeping alive a distinct publication, devoted to the literature, climate, products and people of the coast.

The January Kindergarten magazine is the Kindergartener's own number—that is, devoted to the technical details of the teacher's daily work. It quotes Dr. Geo. Griffith, superintendent of the schools of Utica, N. Y., to this effect:—"In a short time, if not now, the city or village who, which does not have the kindergarten as an integral part of its system of free public schools will be considered behind the times."

Good Housekeeping is a monthly published by Geo. D. Chamberlain, Springfield, Mass., begins 1899 with a splendid table of contents composed of 29 topics. The price is only 10 cents a month. Send your name on a postal card and mention this paper and you will receive a free number which tells its own story much better than we can state it.

The Parkview Pub. Co., 3943 Market street, Phila., Pa., sends us a copy of "America's National Songs," 26 anthems and melodies set to music some of them to new music, fully harmonized for voice, piano or organ. This little book should be in every home and school. It is only when we call on a crowd to sing a national air that we realize how ignorant we are of music. "Ballads of the Occident" by George M. Vickers is by the same publishers and contains a lot of good poetry for common people. It is not the greatest in quality, but there are millions of Americans who will cheerfully grant to the author the praise that he composes well and reaches the hearts of the masses.

The American Queen, 78 80 Walker street, New York City, for January keeps up its high reputation for being a first class family monthly at 50 cents a year, or 5 cents a copy. A college course at home, in cookery and domestic arts is begun this year that certainly should interest all women and girls who favor dignifying house work above mere drudgery, and writing "Bachelor of Domestic Arts" after their names.

The Parisian Magazine for January is an excellent number, containing "The Ball Program" by Zola, illustrated. Some American Writers, Costumes of Women, illustrated. The Model, "Countess Potocka," an interesting biography, besides other attractive features. The Parisian will make a specialty of a series of illustrated articles on the Paris Exposition of 1900, beginning with this issue. Price 15 cents at all newsstands. Address, 853 Carnegie Hall, New York.

The Macmillan Company announces the publication in February, under the editorship of Frank M. Chapman, of the first number of a popular bimonthly magazine of ornithology to be known as Bird Lore.

This magazine will aim to fill a place similar to that held by the nature works of John Burroughs, Henry Van Dyke, Bradford Torrey, and Olive Thorne Miller in the domain of books. The authors just mentioned, and numerous other writers, known for their powers of observation and description, will be among its contributors.

The illustrations will be made from photographs of birds and their nests in nature.

The magazine will be the official organ of the Audubon Societies for the protection of birds and a department devoted to their work will be under the charge of Mrs. Mabel Osgood Wright.

To have the men who have demonstrated their organizing ability by great business successes tell their secrets of organization, is the object of The Cosmopolitan. That he is succeeding, is proved in the January issue by the article from Charles R. Flint, who is regarded in New York as one of the three or four ablest organizers in America. He is president of the Rubber Trust and the head of the great merchantile house of Flint, Eddy & Co., which has its ramifications in almost every part of the world. In the same line is an article, also in the January Cosmopolitan, telling how Mr. Platt organized and conducted the campaign for the election of Roosevelt. It is by a gentleman who was actively engaged at the Republican headquarters during the campaign, and who gives a vivid picture of the perfection to which political organization has been carried in New York state by the most astute of managers.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for January is a royal holiday number, and sets a very high standard for the coming year. The feature par excellence is the complete story of the sinking of the Merrimac at the mouth of Santiago harbor. Portraits of Hobson and all his gallant crew are given, together with no less than thirty graphic illustrations, some of the latter being actual photographs taken on the spot. This same number contains the first of a series of articles by a celebrated war correspondent, recounting his exciting experiences while "Campaigning with Gomez:" in the wilds of Cuba; "In a Klondike Cabin," by Joaquin Miller, the Poet of the Sierras, who has recently returned from Alaska; the first part of a new California story by Bret Harte, entitled "Mr. Jack Hamlin's Mediation", "Women in Politics," by the Marquise Lanza; and a varied "Marginalia" department, including contributions by R. K. Munkittrick, James B. Cable, Charles H. Crandall, Isaac W. Eaton, and St. Julien Grimke.—Frank Leslie Publishing House, N. Y.

The New England Pub. Co., 3 Somerset St., Boston, Mass., announces that Current History for the third quarter of 1898 contains 256 pages of reading matter, illustrated with 84 portraits, 13 maps, and 2 full-page views. It is a handbook of information on all questions of the day—not an almanac, but a philosophic presentation of the essential facts of progress the world over, concise, clearly written, and conveniently arranged for reference purposes. With this, it combines the feature of a dictionary of general biography and a portrait gallery of national and international celebrities. Each number is full to overflowing with useful interesting information worthy of permanent preservation. Price $1.50 a year. Single number 40 cents. Samples 10 cents. Specimen pages free.

A Pretty Wedding.

There was a very pretty wedding took place in the parlors of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Conklin, No. 197 corner of Church and Center streets, on January 4, 1899, at 3 p. m., which was the occasion of uniting for life two of Marion county's most popular young people, the principals being Miss Francis Clay Ficklin, of Fruitland, and Mr. Chas. J. Ramsden, of Macleay. Rev. H. A. Ketchum, of the Presbyterian church, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Ficklin, of Fruitland, and is a cherished member of a large circle of friends in the Capital City, as well as in the community in which she lives, where her winning manners and womanly character have caused her to be loved by all.

The groom is a prosperous young farmer, of the Waldo Hills, in the neighborhood of Macleay, and is rated as one of Marion county's best and most enterprising young citizens and a man of unblemished and promising character and attainments. The happy young couple will go to housekeeping at once in a beautiful new home, which Mr Ramsden has recently prepared and furnished on his farm, where they will be at home to their friends after the 14th of the present month.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

A REMEDY FOR THE Effects of Tobacco.

THE excessive use of tobacco, especially by young men is always injurious and undoubtedly shortens life materially. Mr. Ed. C. Ebsen, compositor on the Contra-Costa News, Martinez, Cal., writes: "I have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and received much benefit from it. I was troubled with nervousness, dizzy spells and sleeplessness, caused by the use of tobacco and stimulants. I took Dr. Miles' Nervine with marvelously good results, allaying the dizziness, quieting the nerves, and enabling me to sleep and rest, proving in my case a very beneficial remedy." Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is especially adapted to restoring the nervous system to its normal condition under such circumstances. It soothes, heals and strengthens.

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address

MARION COURT HOUSE.

Winifred Pemberton filed her semi-annual account in the estate of Nancy E. Stevens, deceased, showing a balance on hand of $9.58.

Mrs. Darcas Chambers, widow of Mm. J. Chambers deceased, filed objections to the final account of E. J. Chambers, administrator of deceased's estate. She objects to a $14 item of costs in circuit court an appeal, which she claims in a personal charge against Mr. Chambers. She also objects to a bill of $715.46 alleged due for board and lodging furnished deceased just prior to his death, claiming no contract was entered into between the parties. Frank Turner and W. T. Slater are contestants attorneys.

Several new attachement suit's have been begun against Peter Reader, the saloon keeper, and he seems to be hopelessly involved financially.

He was not registered and hence is illegally in the country. He was taken to Portland by federal officers and will be given into the custody of the officers of an outgoing China steamer who will see that their charge is landed safely in the Oriental kingdom.
