CITY COUNCIL TONIGHT.

Important Business to be Transacted by the New Administration.

The most important meeting of Salem's city council in years will be held this evening. The new council has now been in long enough to get its bearings, and as the saying goes, is "ready to do business." One novel feature and revelation will be a monthly report by the city recorder, showing all that has been done in his department. This report appears elsewhere in today's JOURNAL, and hereafter will be a regular feature of Recorder Judah's administration.

Tonight the subject of issuing 4 per cent bonds to fund the outstanding warrants will be brought up in the form of resolutions providing an election for the people to decide whether or not such bonds shall be issued. The matter of an occupation tax will also be considered and this process of increasing the city's revenues and at the same time regulating and protecting certain lines of business will not doubt be crystallized into a practical proposition. The intention of the members of the council so far as seen, seems to be to make this tax as far reaching as possible and still not allow it to become burdensome.

It is understood that several new ordinances will be introduced which will be of vital importance to the city, and it is more than probable that the subject of filling the vacancy on the police force will be taken up. The determination of the new council is to carry out and put into effect at the earliest possible date all the reforms promised, and they seem to be the class of men who keep their pledges.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

The Corvallis & Eastern Road Want $6,000.

By Associated Press to the Journal. The Corvallis & Eastern Railroad Company has sued the Portland General Electric Company for $6,000 damages, in the state circuit court, because of injuries to the steamer William M. Hoag, by running on a rock in the channel of the canal and locks at Oregon City, September 16, 1898.

The defendant, it is asserted, was the owner and in possession of and operating the canal and locks, and rejected toll from steamboats passing through. The company, it is alleged, was grossly careless in diverting from the canal and locks a large portion of the water for the purpose of generating power for machinery, and allowed large, sharp rocks to be in the channel of the canal. The volume of water, it is asserted, became too small to permit the steamer Hoag drawing 20 inches, to pass. It is stated that the defendant caused several openings 20 feet wide to be made in the east side of the canal to carry water to the mills, and for the purpose of running sawlogs, and allowed large rafts to hit up the channel and forced boats through a narrow portion of the channel.

The steambat Hoag, it is asserted, ran upon a rock, which tore a great hole in her bottom, and caused her to sink, and also damaged her hull and machinery.

This, it is said, caused $4000 damage, and loss of the use of the boat for six weeks, $3000 additional damages.

Late Saturday night the dwelling of R. E. Mason, at Bridgeport, was destroyed by fire. The loss is $1500; insurance, $800. The fire was of incendiary origin. Last fall Mr. Mason's barn was burned in the same manner, and both are attributed to some enemies, but the guilt cannot be fixed on anyone.

In the circuit court at Eugene when the case of E. D. Horner vs. J. B. Coleman was called, W. S. Bufford, attorney for plaintiff, filed a motion to dismiss the case. It was a case wherein suit was brought to recover $4000 on a note purported to have been issued to Alice Edmundson by Mr. Coleman and later purchased by the plaintiff. Coleman claims the note is a forgery, and when the case was dismissed this morning, Horner, together with George Weber, who claimed an interest in the note, left the courtroom. Warrants were at once issued for their arrest and Weber was caught near the city limits and Horner was captured at Irving. The charge against them is forgery. After Horner's arrest, the note in question was found concealed in his sock.

The following is a copy of an Oregon school boy's complaint to a board of Directors: "My sister, who is a school teacher, whips me every day. Ma and pa told her to whip me often than she did any other pupils so they would think she was not partial. I write to let you know this was too thin. She is an old maid and gets mad because she can't get married, and whenever she gets to feeling that way she larrups me. I hate to say such things about my sister, but it's so, and I write to inquire if you cannot stop her kicking me or get her a husband. Any old thing will do so it's a man."
