WOODBURN'S CHARTER.

A Statement of the Position of Those Who Oppose It.

WOODBURN, March 12.—(TO THE EDITOR.)—Some of the citizens of Woodburn think it proper to make a brief but true and concise statement of the conditions relating to the Woodburn charter case about which so much has been said recently.

In the first place the old charter governing the city until the new charter was passed by the legislature, contains the following: Sec. 7, page 59, "This charter shall not be changed after its passage by the legislature except by consent of two-thirds of the citizens, both male and female, over 21 years of age, who shall have resided within the city of Woodburn for a period of 90 days next, immediately preceding the date of the taking of the said consent, which said consent shall be taken at a meeting or election called for that purpose, and the vote upon the proposed amendment shall be sent to the legislature with the proposed amendment, which said vote shall be certified by the clerk appointed or elected by the citizens to count and register the said vote."

"Passed by the house, January 22, 1895.

"CHARLES B. MOORES, "Speaker of the House.

"Passed by the senate, February 1, 1895.

"JOSEPH SIMON, "President of the Senate."

Now, when the old charter was prepared, a public meeting of the citizens of Woodburn was duly called, and after some discussion, it was adopted section by section. It was then sent to the legislature and passed both houses. Such a procedure was fair, and no one made any complaint, so far as we know.

The new, or amended charter, was not submitted to the citizens of Woodburn publicly in any way. There was no attempt whatever to conform to the above quoted provision of our charter; but, upon the other hand, it seems to us that the projectors of the amended, or new, charter studiously avoided such persons as they believed would be sure to oppose the charter as amended. It does not require any very high degree of intelligence to understand the import of such a procedure. In fact, the amended charter was in the legislature before any concerted action of the opposition was taken to prevent its passage.

The bill passed the senate in a few minutes, with but a single vote opposed, the senate not supporting there was any opposition against it. It was, however, intercepted in the house; and when a vote was taken the bill was lost, there being only 28 or 29 votes favoring its passage—31 votes being necessary.

A reconsideration was taken and the charter case was referred to a committee of three from the house, who gave opportunity to the friends on both sides to make their views known before said committee the question was decided.

After the committee had heard both sides as presented, they made a majority report against the proposed amended charter.

Now, it will be observed that when the amended charter passed the house finally it did so against the decision of the committee, who alone heard a plain statement of both sides of the question. The discussion before the committee showed beyond all question that the real issue was. Shall Woodburn have a licensed saloon?

Now, the old charter provides in section 2, pages 56 and 57, that no license for the sale of alcoholic liquors shall be granted without a petition of a majority of the citizens, both male and female, over 21 years of age.

The amended charter excludes the women and restricts, therefore, the right to petition or vote to the men only.

The projectors of the amended charter recognize the women of Woodburn as avowed enemies of the liquor traffic.

The new charter provides that an election shall be held within 10 days after its passage to decide whether the council shall grant a license for a saloon.

While there are probably three or four other provisions in the amended charter differing from those of the old yet it is clear that the principal object of the projectors of the amended charter is to make it easier to establish a saloon in Woodburn.

There has been no licensed saloon in Woodburn since the summer of 1890, and perhaps for some time before the above named date, and simply because there have always been too many opposers. Now, it would seem from what has appeared in the papers since this question began at the session of the legislature, that the friends of the amended charter number practically two to one of the opposers. Such, however, does not appear to be true, as indicated at our school meeting on Monday, the 6th inst.

Mr. J. H. Settlemier was put up for director by the supporters of the amended charter, and Charles Scott by the opposers, and as Mr. Settlemier received a majority of five votes over Mr. Scott they claim a victory for the amended charter. But the candidate for clerk, Mr. Branecar, on the amended charter side, was beaten by Alfred Austin, an opposer, by a majority of six votes.

Now, it is a fact that County Assessor Hobert was in Woodburn on the morning and day of our school election, and that what purported to be certificates of assessment bearing that same date were exhibited, and it has been ascertained from the assessment blanks there are 15 persons who voted basing their right upon the recent transferring of division of property and assessment thereon. Of course, we cannot now positively affirm that the projectors of the amended charter had Mr. Hobert come down and assess such persons as they knew would vote with them, but no one considers that it was done by the opposers. In fact, we know it was not. Nor do we know positively that these 15 new voters voted for Mr. Settlemier, but we do know that many of them have been active supporters of, or in some way closely related to them.

Now, according to the decision of State School Superintendent Ackerman, as published in The Oregonian recently, no one has a right to vote at a school meeting in this state, upon a property qualification, unless his or her name appears on the assessment roll of 1898. Deduct from Mr. Settlemier's vote 15 votes and where will his majority of five exist? But even as it is, it shows a strong opposition to the amended charter.

Our position briefly stated is as follows:

First—As citizens and legal voters of the city of Woodburn, we believe that we should have equal rights.

Second—That any proposed change in our charter should have been first publicly submitted to the citizens of Woodburn, and the question settled at home before presenting it to the legislature.

Third—That if such a course had been pursued, no one would have a moral right to complain, whatever the results might have been.

A Scheme of Education.

Cuban Young Idea Will Be Taught How to Shoot.

Establishment of Free Schools in the Province Recommended, Expense To Be Met With Revenue.

Santiago de Cuba. (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The report of a board appointed by Brigadier-General Wood to formulate a scheme for public education in the province of Santiago has been made public.

The problem of educating the Cuban and Spanish children has been handled at length and in a masterly way. The report is perfected by a detailed description of the existing educational system, and brings out the point that under Spanish rule Cuba was afforded the advantage of a system that compared well with any of those now in use by English-speaking races.

However, this system of education, "in the main worthy of admiration and imitation," to use the words of the board, and its practical results, controlled as it was, in all essentials by officials who were wholly alien to the country and quite free from all responsibility to the people whose interests were entrusted to them, was very thing to be desired. Doubtless many departures from the rules and methods prescribed, resulting in neglect, irregularities and general confusion, were due to the prolonged disturbances in the island. The indifference, caprice, neglect and incapacity of the governing authorities left the admirable provisions of the law without enforcement or application, the resources of the country were diverted to other ends and the result was a mere shadow of an educational establishment, totally inadequate in extent and highly inefficient in operation, so far at least as the primary and secondary schools were concerned. No such things as a free public school in the American meaning, exist or have existed in Cuba. So far as is known, there is not a single building nor a foot of land in this province owned by the people for school purposes, and not a single dollar of endowment for any educational institution. On these conclusions the board says:

"The immediate need, therefore, of the people of Cuba and especially of this province is a system of primary and secondary education, as these terms are understood in Cuba, or of primary, grammar and high schools, as schools are graded in the United States, supported entirely from the public funds and absolutely free to all children of school age; adequate in number and so distributed as to meet the needs of the entire population; administered with a view to the highest efficiency and the greatest economy, and following courses adapted to the changed conditions resulting from the extinction of Spanish sovereignty in the land.

"To bring this about the board recommends that first of all a census be taken of all the children in the province of school age. The schools must temporarily be supported by the general fund, but the board recommends that eventually they be supported by a special tax levied in each district. The schools are to be divided into kindergarten, elementary, municipal and superior primary schools. High schools, says the board, should not be established until the primary schools are in good working order.

"A single authority for entire island, and the duty of providing and maintaining such an institution, as well as normal schools, special schools for the deaf mutes and other schools and correctional institutions should be left to the general government of Cuba.

Local councils, with one provisional council, are suggested as the plan of government, the members of such councils to receive no salaries.
