EDITORIAL REVIEW

Mayor Bishop desires that there be an effort made on the part of the press and citizens of Salem to entertain the national editorial association next July, on the occasion of its visit to Portland, Salem will be the one place where all the editors will want to come outside of Portland.

Western musical taste is strongest in one direction—a desire to get the money's worth by indiscriminately encouraging every number on the program.

Then there are generally present representatives of the different kinds of music and they vie with each other in absolute equality in bestowing honors, so the instrumentalists and vocalists get an equal amount of "thunders of applause" whether really deserved or not.

As a result of these concerns there can grow up in Salem a greater "concert" of action to make an art center, a great point will have been achieved. If the leading musical people now at Salem will labor along the lines of cooperation and organization for the establishing of a greater school of music in Salem, than now exists in Oregon or the northwest, they will render a service to civilization.

The Salem special election to vote on the question of funding the floating debt now drawing 8 per cent into 4 per cent call bonds occurs Thursday March 20. That there will be a little opposition to voting even such a bond issue is no one can doubt.

civilization. Whatever the really musical people of Salem can do to better these common faults of our common country, let us bid them God speed and lead a helping hand.

Supt. Gilbert, who is accused of being a stockholder in the morning paper, is justly censurable for withholding news from the press and the people.

This is, to say the least, not courtesy to the local press nor is it showing proper respect for the public at large, nor does it protect the Gilbert administration from suspicion and avoid unjust censure.

There might have been suspicious facts connected with an alleged attempt at suicide. The public draw all kinds of unjust and unfounded inferences, and it has been this policy of not giving the public the news about prison occurrences that has caused the press of the state to suspect all kinds of abuses that may never have existed.

Six o'clock closing as well as Sunday closing may be accepted as an accomplished fact in Salem, if our leading business men adhere to it.

The JOURNAL is not going to boast about its achievements, but for ten years it has existed on only nine hours a day labor and no paper on Sunday. It also observes the Christian and National holidays. It has been largely prosperous and believes other business men will all have the same experience.

To cure La Grippe, keep warm, especially at feet, and take Dr. Miles' Nervine. The Salem special election to vote on the question of funding the floating debt now drawing 8 per cent into 4 per cent call bonds occurs Thursday March 20.

GEO. E. SLY ACQUITTED!

Second Trial of Salem Growing Out of Shooting on One Dog. The trial of Geo. E. Sly, on the charge of shooting from the public highway, took place in Justice Johnson's court, Monday afternoon before a jury, consisting of W. P. Babcock, T. H. Barnes, John Lewis, Hiram Smith, R. Holman and E. H. McDougall.

The case was prosecuted by Deputy District Attorney Chas. McNary assisted by John Bayne, and the defense was conducted by Bigler and Richardson. A number of witnesses were examined and there was no conflict in the evidence except as to the reputation of the dog shot by Sly, one witness only testifying that this was good; others who answered on that point saying that the dog had a bad reputation for viciousness.

Sly's little boy told about being bitten on the hand last Tuesday and displayed the marks to the jury. Geo. E. Sly, the accused, told of the shooting. Did not go there that day, Thursday, for the purpose of shooting the dog, but when dog started for the fence he pulled his gun, and fired first when the animal was reaching over the fence; then shot twice more to put him out of his misery.

Bayne stated that the dog was half Great Dane and half St. Bernard. His size gave him the bad reputation. Boys threw rocks at the dog to such an extent that it was necessary to gather them up out of the yard every few days. Had received no complaint except an anonymous letter last fall.

The defense was that the accused had already been arrested and fined for this same act; that the shooting was justified; and that the act under which prosecution was had was unconstitutional.

Exposing the Graters. In the last issue of his Plaindealer, E. D. Stratford denounces that he is receiving pay as commissioner to Alaska. It has taken him over a month to get this, although he became instantly very indignant and accused The Review of every crime in the calendar when it first called attention to his job.

Wants Him Hung Quickly. Sunday's Oregonian: "The refinement of cruelty as distilled by the slow processes of the law in meeting out justice to criminals is seen in the case of Claude Branton, the Lane county murderer. The execution of this criminal is long overdue. Both justice and humanity are violated in keeping a human being upon a mental strain by delaying the execution of penalty until mind and body are wrecked. The safety of society demands that cold-blooded murderers should, upon proper conviction, be executed; the good name of civilization requires that execution should follow conviction promptly."

Oh, the Pain of Rheumatism! (Continued) A few years ago I was taken with inflammatory rheumatism, which became so intense that I was for weeks unable to walk. I tried several prominent physicians and took their treatments faithfully, but was unable to get the slightest relief. In fact, my condition seemed to grow worse, the disease spread over my entire body, and in November I tried S. S. S. Before allowing me to take it, however, my physician, who was a chemist, analyzed the remedy and pronounced it free of poisons or mercury. I did so much better that in two months I was enabled to walk, and in two months more I was enabled to do all my usual work. I have never since had a touch of rheumatism, though many times exposed to damp and cold weather.
